Returned Wounded Soldier. After Stealing Friend's Money, Says German Gas Was Cause.

November to help with war work there for a few months. KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 21.—Patrick McDonald, a young man decorated with a button for service at the front, says that he suffered so much from German gas chat at times he is not responsible for his actions. He has been in hospital since being discharged. Isaac Kirkham, who keeps a boarding house, took him in and got him a position. In return McDonald stole $35 of Kirkham's money, and the police arrested him after he had purchased a railway ticket for Toronto. He was remanded, Magistrate Farrell stating that if his story was true he was a dangerous man to be running at large.

MAKES NEW RECORD.

Driving an American-made six-cy linder machine, Ralph Mulford estab-lished a new 24-hour world's motorcar record by covering 1819 miles on a New York speedway some time ago. His feat swept away the previous mileage record of S. F. Edge, an English sportsman, who in 1907, drove slightly more than 1581 miles in the same time on the Brooklands track. Mulford kept up an even speed from start to finish;

PLAYS, PICTURES

Splendid Numbers, Good Chorus and Lively Comedy Make Up Initial Performance.

Garbed in many attractive gowns Florence Bennett, assisted by Fred Irwin's Majestics, ushered in the regular burlesque season at the Gayety Theatre yesterday afternoon. The theatre has been newly decorated, and everything ran with a pleasing sway from the opening number to the ringing down of the curtain in the beautiful Hawaian number in the last act.

in the beautiful Hawaian number in the last act.

Paul Cunningham has a very good tenor voice and practically keeps the whole musical end of the show going. His rendering of the latest Hawaian song success with Miss Bennett and the large chorus was probably the best number offered.

In Frank De Mont the management have rounded up a real "nut" comedian. De Mont is not known to the local fans, but will be well remembered by those who see him this week. His comedy is well thought out, and to complete the funny side of the show he is supported by John Keit in eccentric step dancing and tumbling. There is no plot whatever to the show. The many different acts are given in vaudeville form and took well with the audience. May Penman is a winsome ingenue, who scores in more than half a dozen of the many ensembles.

more than hair a dozen of the many ensembles.

There are 25 evenly matched ponies in the chorus, who sing and dance with plenty of life. The costumes are neat and for the initial performance it looks as if Irwin has brought along one of his good productions.

ELABORATE COSTUMES GOOD CHORUS AT STAR

Largest Wardrobe of Any Show This Season—Twenty-Five Song Numbers.

As a booking agent Manager Pierce of the Star Theatre deserves much credit for bringing to Toronto such a clever chorus as the "Cherry Blossoms" that opened at this theatre yesterday afternoon. This chorus has the largest wardrobe of any show that has come in so for this season. The girls are all evenly matched and appear in each of the 25 chorus numbers wearing different costumes which are of the latest Parisian stage creation. The specialty in which each of the members of the chorus is given an opportunity of showing her individual talent was greeted with round after round of applause.

Lorraine Lilly, wife of the well-known local lacrosse player, is the leading woman of the company. She has a very pleasing personality and is given ample opportunity to show her ability. That funny Yiddisher, Joseph K. Wetson, has a laugh, together with his Hebrew parodies.

Frankie Niblox and Nellie Walker are also responsible for the success of several song and dance offerings.

THE GRAND OPENING.

The regular theatrical season at the Grand Opera House will open next Mon-The regular theatrical season at the Grand Opera House will open next Monday evening with Molly McIntyre and an all-British company in a new play by Eugene Magnus, entitled "Silent Sue." Local theatregoers will recall Molly McIntyre, the bewitching little lass who first charmed us with her delightful characterization of "Bunty" in "Bunty Pulls the Strings," and later as "Kitty McKay." This time it is not as a Scotch lass that the fair Molly is to charm us, for her new play is entirely English as regards its locale. The first act shows Miss McIntyre as "Silent Sue." brought up as a waif in the east end of London. From here circumstances transplant her to a London drawing room, and later to a Flith avenue mansion in New York, but all the time her environment, even from the London slums to her latter day surroundings in the United States metropolis, is essentially English, and there are none but English characters in the play. Naturally the chief interest in connection with the season's opening centres in the appearance of dainty little Molly McIntyre herself. We recall a refreshing glimpse of the heather, a breath of purity and sweetness, in the announcement of her coming, and the fact that she is to present a play entirely free from sex problems and public issues is another interesting feature of her engagement. This will be Miss McIntyre's initial appearance as a star, and it is due to her determination to appear first as, a star under the British flag that arrangements are made for her coming engagement in Toronto. The sale of seats opens the Grand Opera House box office on Thursday morning.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS AT THE HIPPODROME

Popular Picture Artist and Six Clean Acts Make Up Excellent Program.

This is farewell week at the Royal Alexandra for the Robins Players, and they have put on very nearly the most delightful offering in all their seventeen weeks. It is the amusing and original comedy which Margaret Anglin made such a success, "Beverly's Balance." It affords Miss Frances Nelison a capital opportunity and it proved to be one of her most charmingly natural assumptions. As the pseudo-correspondent in the Redlaw divorce suit, she acted with splendid animation, with a dash of novel half-practical sentiment which gave distinct character to the part. She infuses vitality into the piece from the first scene, and her desire to be waked up when she finds they have all been dreaming about Virginia instead of making a living in New York strikes a keynote with skill and feeling. The three of them were sitting there without a cent, she, her Aunt Maria, admirably and very cleverly played by Miss Helen Travers, and Watt Dinwiddie, her cousin, who is too much of a tame cat to give L'Estrange Millman his best opportunity, the honor and idealism were detrimental to At the Hippodrome Theatre this week "Flirting With Fate" is the new Triangle release that Douglas Fairbanks appears in, and the rollicking Douglas certainly takes his part well Disappointed in love, Augy, as he is known in the picture, hires a professional assassin to shoot him when he honor and idealism were detrimental to his professional career. Jack Amory has the part of an Irish janitor, and his emollient manner is as perfect as everything else he has done. The young millionaire who is trying to arrange a divorce to oblige his wife is a tit-bit for Jerome Renner, and he has done nothing better in this engagement. A very charming scene occurs between him and Miss Neilson in the second act, where "Bobble" implores him to get on a desert island and understand that there is only one somebody in all the world for anybody. Miss Vivian Laidlaw has a brief appearance, but some bright lines in this act, to which she does full justice as Mrs. Isadore Insky. H. Webb Chamberlain and Thomas E. Jackson are also on the bill. There is a rumor that it is to be au revoir and not good-bye, and the present of a return of this excellent. is not looking. But suddenly matters turn—the hero comes into a great for-tune, his sweethcart calls him back and then begins the thrilling series o attempts to escape the assassin, who n the mentime has been converted by the Salvation Army, unknown to th excited Augy. The climax, after the wedding, is a scream, and adds another triumph to the clever productions of the popular Fairbanks

Six real good vaudeville acts accom pany the picture and make up an all-round bill. It would be hard to pick a header from the list, but special men-tion ought to be made of Don Alfonso Zelaya, a marvelous pianist, whore time on the stage appeared short judging from the applause. He is really as artist. "Fired From Yale" is a mos laughable skit, played by a well-bal-anced trio, and Creighton Bros. and Belmont, "the rube minstrels," kept the audience in excellent humor. Black and McCone, Johnston and Crane, and the Lelands, were others on the bill, who provided amusement that was highly appreciated.
