ADMONITION FOR THE GOVERNMENT

Kingston Standard Declares North Perth Defeat Very Significant.

VERY PLAIN SPEAKING

Says Duff and Pyne Must Be Removed to Strengthen

Party.

By a Staff Reporter. KINGSTON, Ont., July 11 .- The Daily Standard (Ind. Corservative) of this city is one of the Conservative papers of Ontario that refuse to accept with complacency the result in North Perth. In dard declares that the result is not without significance both for the Ontario and for the Dominion Governments. The newspaper declares pointedly that it is idle to disguise the fact that the result is decidedly disappointing or to escape the conclusion that it is a distinct blow to the government. Hidebound party newspapers, declares The Standard, may refuse to a sinug complacancy, but they will not be sincere. The Standard, while inclined to the opinion that the liquor question and the nickel export policy may have had some influence upon the result, says that in its opinion the trouble is deeper and beyond, and then makes the startling declaration that it is time for the removal of men like Hon. Dr. Pyne and Hon. Mr. Duff from the cabinet.

In Pr. Pyne and Hcn. Mr. Duff from the cabinet.

Must Listen to Friends.

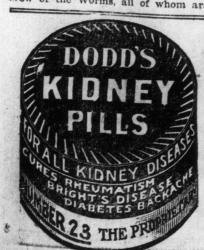

After paying a high tribute to Premier Hearst, personally, and to his general government. The Standards says: "It will be well for the provincial government to take the advice of its real friends instead of its smug, kowtowing friends and to make more than a casual examination of itself and of its own inner conditions. Perhaps if a strong man or two were injected into the cabinet in the stead of the one or two of the men now there, there might be a different story. Premier Hearst is a very able, a very clean and a very honorable man, and deserves all the support of the government, and if he will shake up his cabinet and replace weak men like Hcn. Dr. Pyne and Hon. Mr. Duff, by strong men, he would find his position decidedly strengthened. We, in eastern Ontario, for example, have not forgotten Dr. Pyne's spineless position on bi-lingualism when first that question was brought up, which of itself was enough to damn him, while as for Mr. Duff, he is too colorless a character to add strength to any administration." In conclusion The Standard pays a brief word or two of attention to the Citawa government, too, were to listen to some of which it says: "If the Ottawa government, too, were to listen to some of its candid friends instead of bending the ear so willingly to the sycophants and toadies who use governments only in the end to misuse them the Ottawa adear so willingly to the sycophants and toadies who use governments only in the end to misuse them, the Ottawa administration also would be in a stronger position than it is today. There is no Conservative but must admit that the Ottawa government also needs strengthening and at the moment is rather weaker than stronger than it was some months ago in the public esteem. The whited sepulchres in the party will of course shudder at this treasonable declaration, but it is the cold truth nevertheless."

captain of the 1917 Syracuse University crew and who rowed No. 4 in this year's victorious varsity eignt at Poughkeepsie, has left for Duluth, where he will row in the association singles of the national regatta on August 11, and will compete for the national sculling championship on August 12. He will also row in the doubles with Roy Kent, a Duluth oat Club carsman.

Osman did not intend to leave Syracuse for Duluth until the 1st of August, but he received a telegram from Ned Ten Eyck, the Duluth Boat Club coach, asking him if he would not come on at once and row with Kent, as Hoover, Keut's partner, is in the army. Osman, who is being instructed for the national races by Coach Jim Ten Eyck, were advised by the Orange coach to go to Duluth and help Ned out. The veteran Jim will go to Duluth the latter part of this month and will give his final instructions to Osman for the championship race. Until Coach Jim Ten Eyck goes west Osman will take long rows.

Coach Ten Eyck is confident that within the next few years Osman will be the greatest sculier in the world.

"Osman is young and needs experience, but he has all the requisities of a wonderful oarsman," said Ten Eyck today.

For the last ten days Osman and Ten Eyck have been rowing fifteen to eighteen miles daily on Onondaga Lake.

mistake of their lives by stopping these tours."

Bancroft might have gone further and declared that if it were not for his own initiative and enterprise in taking teams to Cuba, baseball would not be the national game of the island it is now. Bancroft and his players did good missionary work in turning the attention of the natives to baseball.

Now Cuba is not only baseball mad, but it is sending scores of players each senson to the major and minor leagues. Instead of stopping baseball tours the sovereigns of the game ought to encourage trips to Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Peru and South American countries.

Basebell will help bring about a closer relationship between Uncle Sam and the Latin American countries. If some Bancroft had taken teams to Mexico thirty years ago and baseball had made as big headway there as in Cuba the chances are there would be no revolution in that country today.

Only the Baseball Stars Stay

NEW YORK, July 10.—How short is the life of the average big leaguer? Players come and players go, and nobody knows where or cares. In many small towns thruout the country there are men still living who were up in the big show years ago. Some only got a peep under the big league tent and did not stick a season, while others filled their little space in the big league box score from three to five years. Only the stars are able to stick in the big show much longer.

Just ten years ago Harold Chase, now

Just ten years ago Harold Chase, now putting up a grand game for Cincinnati, played the best ball of his career. He joined the Yankees in 1905 and soon dazzled the league with his first base play, but he hit only .249 that year. In his next year, 1906. Chase not only was a fielding marvel, but a batting star as well, hitting .323, his high water mark. Chase has had an adventurous career since then. Ten years after reaching his high water figures Chase is listed among the National League's .300 men.

Magee on the Wane.

Another old bird who was busting the ball ten years ago was Sherwood Magee, now of the Boston Braves and a player who now seems on the wane. Magee entered the National League in 1904. He has done some fancy clouting since then. Sherry until recently was hitting just a little over .200. It seems Stallings pulled quite a bone when he gave up George Whitted for Magee in the winter following the 1914 world's series, the series which made the Braves world's champions.

Frank Schulte is another player who

One of Terry's weak points has been his brittleness, and thruout his career he has been bunged up very easily. For a while Terry was used as infield substitute, but wherever they used him he always played a fine fielding game and always was a dangerous man at bat. Turner entered the American League in 1904.

were so. Some only got a peep under the big league tent and did not stick as eason, while others filled their little space in the big league box score from three to five years. Only the star much plays ten years in the fast set, is the big exception. Roy never reached stardom: he aways was just a plodder. He never hit 300, but when he did fair infielder, were timely so to the sensational inte outfield. He came into the American League with the Browns in 1906 and has remained in it ever since. Roy always gave his best, which is one of the reasons he still is in the league area that has been with a first division club, the Browns of 1908 finishing fourth. Yet we slingle Hartzell out considered a rare old bird, who still is good.

Wagner One of Them.

First there is old Hans Wagner, then considered a rare old bird, who still is acceptably filling the shortstop berth on the Pirates, and in his forty-third year is batting better than any season since 1912. Wagner entered the show with need with Barney Dreyfus to Pittsburg in 1900. Hans has worked for the little Pittsburg mogul during his entire big league career, the little Trojan crab, who, in apite fair and the still gas the ready in the considered the vital gas acceptably filling the shortstop berth on the Pirates, and in his forty-third year is batting ever the little Pittsburg mogul during his entire big league career, the little Trojan crab, who, in apite fair and season since 1912. He he play a srand same for Cincinnati, putting up a grand same for Cincinnati, putting up a grand same for Cincinnati, pu in 1901. Lately Mack has been experimenting with collegians at second, keeping Larry in reserve. He is the real vet of the big leagues. Larry joined the old Philadelphia Nationals in 1896, a year before Wagner went to Louisville.

Another old favorite who was recently retired from regular duty but who still packs quite a punch is old Sam Crawford, recently relegated to utility and pinchit duty. Sam started his big league career with the Cincinnati Reds in 1900. Charley Dooin, being carried by the Giants as third catcher, has been in the National League since 1902. Ten years ago he was one of the best catchers in the game.

Mike Mowrey, third baseman of the Brooklyns, is another one eligible to be mentioned in the ten-year discussion. Ten years ago, in 1906, Mowrey was an infield utility man with the Reds. After one year as a regular he put in two more years as a utility man before he was sworn into regular service. AMATEUR BASEBALL.

Frank Schulte is another player who still is capable of showing some of the stuff which made him famous ten years ago, when, like Evers, he started to blossom out into stardom on Chance's Cubs. Frank had been going back for several years, but under Tinker is again displaying some of his old skill with the mace. Schulte came into the National League in 1904 and has put in his entire big league career with the Cubs.
