EXHIBITION BRINGS IN NEWSPAPERMEN

Weekly Publishers, Guests of Directors, Are Big Boosters for Fair.

The newspaper publishers were the guests yesterday of the Exhibition directors at their noon luncheon, and the turnout was so large that the dining was taxed to the limit.

'Press Day" has been allotted chiefly recognition of the help which the weekly papers of the country have alays given to the National Exhibition, and ninety per cent, of the pressishers of weeklies. Many of the editors from nearby towns and villages motored to the fair bringing their familles with them, and as th eweather was ideal, they fully enjoyed the out-

Speaking to The World. President R. Davis of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association, said that he had noticed continuous improvement n the National Exhibition. The splendisplay in the transportation nu.lding, he thought, was especially meritorious this year.

President R. Fleming, of the Exhibi-

who presided at the luncheon, extended the welcome to the visitors on behalf of the C. N. E. The annual visit of the editors he said, was always looked forward to with pleasure. Replying on behalf of the pressmen. E. Roy Sayles, president of the Candian Press Association, said the members of the asociation were always glad to assist the National Exhibition and work for its success. Entrance to the Exhibition he believed was, like the newspapers, sold at too low a price. Twenty-five cents was he admission fee at the start, and it had never been raised, notwithstanding the large sums that had been spent on the grounds. He assured the directors that the pressmen could al-ways be counted upon to co-operate in working for the success of the Na-

Cultivate National Spirit. Acton Burrow thanked the directors on behalf of the Canadian National Newspapers' and Periodicals' Association for their hospitality, and offered congratulations upon the steady growth of the Exhibition. The weekly and periodical press, he said, aimed o cultivate a national spirit without provincialism. They were trying to help in developing the country and filling the vacant spaces. Discrimination he felt should be exercised in bringing new peoples to Canada in favor of the Egnlish-speaking peoples. Quality, rather than quantity, should migration. R. W. Davis, president of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association was glad of a chance to says a word in appreciation of the hospitality and great work of the Canadian National bition. The weekly papers might not be fully understood in the larger cities, but their efforts were in the diection of promoting patriotism, and allaying unrest. There were no Bolsheviks among the weekly publishers. Next to the schools and the colleges he felt that the Exhibtion and the cational influences. They would con-tinue to help the fair because they all felt that the exhibition richly deserved their support

The gathering indulged in cheers in honor of but two personalities, that of the King and Joe Hay, publicity agent of the National Exhibition. Mr Hay, it appears has made himself exceedingly popular with the country publishers, which probably accounts in a measure for complimentary notices about the fair which begin to appear n the weekly papers a few weeks before the opening of the big event.

After the cheers subsided, Mr. Hay. bearing his blushing honors, headed for Six Thousand Fine Quality Birds in Exhibition Which Opened Yesterday.

Such excellent authorities in the poultry and pigeon fanciers' world, as A. E. Field-Marshall and J. S. Greenshields, yesterday afternoon described this year's Exhibition in poultry and pet stock as generally comparing favorably with that of any previous year, and in many respects far and 'The quality is excellent, and compares favorably with any other year's showing I have known," said Mr. Field-Marshall. "All classes were well filled. The birds average from $5 to $20, while some go as high as $100. There are 1500 pigeons showing this year, and the exhibit in pet stock outclasses all former years, both as to ality and quantity," said Mr. Greenshields. "The showing is better than that of last year. Some of the birds could not be bought for $300. There are a hundred more entries in this class of bird than last year produced. I may say that Canada holds the record in pigeons for America.
