TROOPS PARADED WITHOUT RIFLES

Synificant Feature of An Inspection by Kaiser

Mutinous Spirit Is Rife

indenburg Was Booed; 400,000 of Kaiser's Battalions Who Fail ed at the Front; Reprisals Now Would Mean Much

The Pall Mall Gazette of last Friday printed an interview with a "distin-guished neutral" on the subject of the German mutiny. He says 't'hat Germany should expertence a mutiny in the navy comes as no surprise to anyone who has lived in Germany during the last six months. The only sensational feature of the mutiny is the confession of its having taken place. It shows the mutiny must have been of great dimensions, otherwise German authorities would certainly, as in previous mutinies, has suppressed the news. "Germany is not at the end of her resources. As a matter of fact the Germans are better off just now in food supplies than since the first eighteen months of the war. Occupation of the fertile Riga and Bukowina districts has abundantly made up the slump in supplies from neutral sources.

"Nevertheless the morale of the Germann is giving way. The Germann neutral sources are the control of the Germann in giving way.

mans is giving way. The German nation has no more illusions as to the final issue of the war. The German people lost faith in their leaders and are unable to bear the strain of war much longer. There is nothing left of that admirable 'potato bread spirit' which characterized the German people during e first two years of the war.

"This would not matter much if by the German people was meant the civ-lian population only, but in the last twelve months, especially since the entry of the United States in the war spirit of hopelessness has permeated the army and navy, and even the morale of the officers is giving way. Army deserters are more numerous than ever. Several thousands of military age managed to escape in 1917 to the adjoining neutral states in spite of frontiers needless expense in marketing will be avoided.

Potatoes furnish another line in which co-operation is made easy. This has been proved in at least one case in Sarnia township, where a group of farmers, under the direction of Harry Broughton, buy the same variety of seed co-operatively and sell a uniform quality of product in car lots in the same.

"Just before I left Germany the Kai-"Just before I left Germany the Kaiser visited the Flanders front to inspect the soldiers behind the fighting line, but on this occasion the soldiers were told to parade without rifles—the first time in the history of the Hohenzollerns.

The week before Hindenburg had been booed by the soldiers on the Russian front in such an unmistakable way that the inspection which had already begun was abruptly brought to a close.

"These incidents like the mutiny in

This is one line in which there might be an almost unlimited expansion of the co-operative system. The bacon hog, and all hogs should be of that type, is a standard article on which the proceeds of a sale due each contributor, to a car standard article on a weight basis. The work of collecting for car-lot shipments can be easily arranged over rural telephone lines, which now cover every part of Ontario. By co-operative selling standardization in production will be carried still higher, and a lot of needless expense in marketing will be avoided.
