Two Little Stories of Great Unhappiness Unraveled From Ellis Island's Red Tape

Somersville, Mass., July 28.—Mrs. Paul Barbara holds up her baby, Malio, as an horrible example of the red tape that makes Ellis Island and the operation of the immigration law a terrible experience for women and little children.

Malio probably will get well now, but for the three weeks he was held on Ellis Island with his mother his life was despaired of.

Immigration officials told the mother that she could not enter the United States, but that her baby could not. All that time Olympia and Donella, Mrs. Barbara's other two children, waited here. If their baby brother had died on Ellis Island, there would have been no question of their mother's return to them.

Mrs. Barbara was born in the United States. She went to Italy on a visit. Malio was born there. By the time she returned the Italian quota had been filled. And for that reason the wise old heads at Ellis Island said the mother could return, but that the baby was "excess quota."

MRS. PAUL BARBARA AND HER BOY, MALIO.

Westerly, R. I., July 28.—More than 20 years ago Sabatini Lombardo came to the U. S. to gain for his children educational advantages he could not find in Italy.

Five children were born in this country. He did the hardest sort of manual labor to provide for them and to send them all to school. He is proud of the fact that he helped to build the school at Westerly which his children attended.

Lombardo went to Italy for a visit. He returned to Ellis Island more than three weeks ago and has been held there because he could not read the 40 words required in the literacy test.

His family has been unofficially informed that Lombardo is to be released.

The fight for his release was led by his daughter, Rosa, 17, for whom he worked so hard to gain an education.

NEW YORK BUDGET OF $400,000,000

That is Outlook With Assessment Increase or Higher Taxes.

A 1925 city budget from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 larger than that of the current year, which aggregated $75,000,000, faces the New York City administration, according to initial departmental estimates received by Howard W. Buckley, director of the budget.

The Board of Education, says the New York Times, requests $12,000,000 which is $18,000,000 in excess of its appropriation for 1924. Virtually all the other city and county departments, if present indications are trustworthy, will ask for increased appropriations this fall, and some of them, will be increasing running into the millions.

A budget of $400,000,000 or more will mean another billion dollar increase, at least, in the next year's assessment on the city. It was pointed out. For the current year the total increase, compared with the assessment for 1923, was $1,000,000,000.

The thirty-seven city departments are now preparing tentatively their budget estimates in consultation with Budget Director Buckley. Some of the new budget promised to exceed the $400,000,000 figure. Despite Mayor Hylan's warnings, pleadings and real estate address effort by his department chiefs, that next year's budget must be kept within the 1924 figure of $375,000,000, and despite the urging by the Board of Finance, emphasizing the need of economy and retrenchment, the tentative estimates keep pouring into the Mayor's office, few of them making any effort at retrenchment and many suggesting inflation rather than curtailment of expenditure.

The Board of Education has completed its tentative budget estimates. It will ask for more than $112,000,000, an increase of $18,000,000 over the 1924 budget figure, if present plans be followed. With this single department alone demanding approximately a 15 per cent. increase in its allotment from the city purse, budget officials predict that increases ranging from 5 to 12 per cent. will be sought by many other departments.

Tax Exemption Threatened

In official circles the prospect of another enormous increase in the realty assessment, or, as an alternative, a substantial increase in the tax rate, is considered as sounding the death knell of the proposed new tax exemption ordinance. Although the old ordinance expired in April and the question of its re-enactment has been before the Board of Aldermen ever since, the board failed to take any action in the matter when it adjourned for the summer on July 11. It has been reported that the aldermen received authoritative "tips" that Mayor Hylan, under pressure from the officials of the realty board, had let it be known that he would refuse to sign a new tax exemption measure if one were laid before him.

For the year 1923 between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000 of real property was exempted from taxation as an ostensible spur to new housing construction. Not only did this represent a heavy loss in the receipts of the tax collector, but the mayor, in common with many others, is said to have been measured as an emergency expedient had failed utterly to benefit the home seeker and had benefited chiefly the speculative builder.

U. S. GIRL WEDS ITALIAN COUNT

Daughter of Former Governor of Illinois Marries in Rome.

Rome, July 28.—Miss Felicitie Oglesby, daughter of the late Governor Richard J. Oglesby of Illinois, was married here last week to Count Alessandro Cenci Bolognetti of Rome. The religious ceremony took place in the private chapel of the famous Palazzo Cenci, renowned as the home of the ill-fated Beatrice Cenci, sixteenth century heroine.

Prince Civarolo, head of the Cenci Bolognetti family, was one of the witnesses at the civil marriage, performed in the Capitoline Hall.

The ceremony was celebrated by Mgr. Charles A. O'Hara, rector of the American College in Rome. The historical chapel was beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers sent by many friends. There were many splendid gifts, mostly of jewelry and including several magnificent ones from the Prince and Princess Civarolo.

The married couple, according to the Roman customs, visited St. Peter's, descended into the crypt and prayed at the tomb of the apostle.

The civil ceremony was celebrated by Signor Cremenoli, Royal Commissioner of Rome, who presented to the

THEY WAGE WAR ON PETTING PARTIES

Vigilantes Chase Lingering Lovers From Night Nooks in Ohio.

(Cleveland Press.) War—wild, vigorous, valiant war—continues to wage its violence upon the pesky petters in the hamlet of Bay Village, O.

Mayor Carroll Beck informed all men by these presents early Monday that the war would continue until not a solitary smacker broke the still night air of Bay Village.

The mayor himself declares that those same strong arms of the law that flashed their flashlights into every secluded nook of the village from the sunset hours of Saturday on through the early hours of Sunday, were finching until 83 good smackers and true had been lodged in the village jail, will continue to flash until even the fireflies of the village give up the contest.

Eight of 'em! The mayor deputized his vigilantes committee Saturday night. Eight red-blooded, virile, strong deputy marshals raced through the great open spaces where a man's man and a spooner's spooner, and flashed their beams into the faces of the 33 listers.

The same beaming, scintillating, trusty flashlights held in the brawny arms of the trusty eight will continue to flash nightly until the amorous learn that Bay Village is not the proper habitat for osculations and embraces.

Not a Joke! "This is no funny matter," the mayor himself said Monday.

The mayor proceeded to elucidate on the seriousness of the matter. It seems that for nearly three years his native city has been harassed by the amorous.

The beautiful sunsets over the lake were completely blotted out by heads close, close together!

The drowsy chirp of the cricket and tree food was drowned by the smack of loving lips.

Even the aroma of John Barleycorn mingled with the honey-scented hedges! And when they weren't spooning, they were speeding!

Hizzoner himself seen his duty and done it. But he's not unduly harsh, no, siree! Gotta Be Proper.

If they'll park their car by the side of the roadway over in a rut so that it doesn't stop legitimate traffic; if they'll leave the lights on and act like perfect little ladies and gentlemen, Hizzoner has nothing to say. He was young once himself. He doesn't mean to be harsh with the young folks.

pollen population of the younger generation! Hizzoner is the shiekish type. Aged around 45. Married. Doesn't know what a flapper is. It's no flapper problem, he affirms.

BOY STOLE IN STORE IN FREDERICTON

The display of wares at Woolworth's proved too much for a juvenile from Queensbury who was at that store Friday, says the Fredericton Mail. The boy, who was aged 12 years, appropriated two rings, a pipe, a pair of cuff links, a comb, a rubber ball. The store staff rounded him up and handed him over to the police. He appeared before the police court, sitting as a juvenile court, and was let go on condition that he return home and commit no more such offences.

A crowd of boys had a fine time at the Mill street siding on Saturday afternoon when a number of watermelons, which had reached the stage where they ought to be consumed at once, were given away by the owners and leary blessings were heaped on his head by the lucky fellows who participated in the treat.

Alcohol and resin are said to make a very good soldering paste.

THE DUNCANS IN COURT

brother, Harold, in court in Evanson, Ill. Rosetta's nose, broken in a run-in with Cicero (Ill.) police, following her brother's arrest for a traffic violation, still is bandaged and one eye still is discolored. The Duncans were all fined $1 and costs for disorderly conduct. They had carried their case to Evanson on a change of venue. Indications now are the Cicero policemen, especially Charles Waddock, known in court, also will have their day in court, for the Duncans have preferred charges against them.
