

PRINCE SEES NEWSPAPER PRODUCED

Taken Through Offices of the London Times and Starts
Press—Times Great Interest

London, Jan. 19.—The Prince of Wales has just been initiated into the complexities of modern newspaper production by visiting the offices of The Times and following a piece of copy from editor's desk through the composing, proofreading and stereotyping rooms. Then he pressed the starting button of the article reproduced in print.

The first folded paper which came from the roaring machine was handed the royal visitor, who smiled as he saw on the front page a picture of himself with a caption stating that he had started the machinery which printed it. Throughout his inspection of the many departments of the great newspaper office, the prince kept up a rapid fire of questions which showed his keen interest in the art of newspaper making.

The difference between various kinds of automatic typesetting machines, the amount of time saved by their substitution for the old hand-setting method, why cylindrical moulds of the original type forms are placed on the presses instead of the flat cases of type themselves, the spread of the presses and the length of a roll of newspaper paper were among the points on which the prince was curious.

He marvelled at the ability of "make-up" men to read type upside down and failed to recognize a three-column "cut" of himself in the form he was endeavoring to read. In the composing room he picked up a slug of type as it came from a monotype machine, but found it too hot to hold.

John Walter, chairman of The Times, and Wickham Stead, editor, served as guides to the prince. The directors of the newspaper, several departmental heads and a small number of visitors invited for the occasion, were presented to him. With each he had a brief time, discussing individual avocations, business, sport and travel, in his usual simplicity of manner.

The prince is the second heir to the throne to visit Printing House Square. In 1893 the late King Edward, then Prince of Wales, made a similar inspection of The Times' plant.

PATIENT OF 98 OPERATED UPON

Francis Robidoux Under Successful Operation in Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal.

(Montreal Gazette).—Despite his ninety-eight years and the great strain which must be engendered by an operation, Francis Robidoux last night slept as soundly and as restfully as any patient in Notre Dame Hospital.

Robidoux, who in March will reach his ninety-ninth year, has for some years been an inmate of the Hospice St. Antoine de Bonsecours, an institution for the aged, conducted by the Grey Nuns at 331 St. Paul street east. At noon yesterday he had just expressed himself as being perfectly fit. Soon afterwards he suffered from a double hernia, and was conveyed to Notre Dame Hospital. Surgeons at the hospital reported that this was one of the most remarkable cases that they had ever had to deal with. When Robidoux was brought to the hospital it was seen that his condition was so serious that only an immediate operation would save his life. But because of his age, it was doubtful if he could undergo the operation, and there was considerable hesitancy on the part of the doctors before proceeding on this course.

It was finally decided to operate, an examination of the patient showing that he had possessed a wonderful constitution and physique despite his age. Dr. Bourgeois was called, and after the patient was made ready, Robidoux was taken to the operating table shortly after nine o'clock.

The operation proved successful. A few moments after the operation had been completed, Robidoux recovered consciousness, and said that he felt better. He soon went to sleep again and early this morning was reported to be sleeping quietly.

A Remarkable Case of Eczema.

"My hands broke out," says Mrs. Hector McDonald, of Oyster Ponds, N.S., "into a fiery irritable rash which the doctor called eczema. When his treatment failed to check the trouble I tried various salves and so-called blood-purifiers. But I got steadily worse and what were just isolated sores at first became one large mass of eczema. For over a year this went on, and you can imagine my suffering.

"Then I got Zam-Buk and I shall never forget how it soothed the dreadful fiery pain and itching. Even the first box of Zam-Buk effected wonderful improvement. Day by day the sores lessened and died away until, in time, the last sore healed. Zam-Buk banished every trace of disease."

CLOSING OF THE FARMERS' CONVENTION

Fredericton, Feb. 3.—The sentiment of the delegates at the concluding day's session of the United Farmers of New Brunswick, as expressed in a resolution adopted, was that the question of the lands, valued at $18,000,000, in this province owned by the New Brunswick Railway Company, should be investigated by the provincial government with the view of bringing this vast property into the possession of the people so that the lands could be opened up for settlement. The convention also advocated greater telephone facilities for farmers living in sparsely settled districts.

On objection of A. C. Fawcett, M.P.P. of Sackville, leader of the Farmers in the legislature, a resolution favoring the system of re-calling members was dropped. Mr. Fawcett also took exception to a resolution advocating the Farmers' representatives in the legislature be guided by the aims of the Farmers' movement, less the resolution was passed. Mr. Warnock, M.P.P. of Victoria county, also said he disliked having his hands tied.

The first business of the afternoon session was the nomination and election of the directors at large.

During a meeting of the legislative committee the chair was taken by Judson Cory.

The following were appointed: Directors at large: C. A. George, Upper Sackville; Kenneth Raymond, North York; Ernest Stairs, Southampton; R. K. Tracey, Centerville; D. A. Goggin, Eglar; directors: Mrs. Wm. T. Reid, Keswick; Mrs. Hazen Lutes, Berry Mills; and Mrs. Fred Coburn, Keswick.

It was apparent that Mr. Barnaby's address of Wednesday night had some effect, for today many women were present. William Irvine, provincial organizer, was the first speaker. His subject was "Looking Ahead."

From the outset the speaker commended the attention of the convention and showed himself possessed of a knowledge of his own and a wide range of subjects.

Mr. Irvine enlarged on the proposed plan of group representation and deplored the failures and shortcomings of the present representative system when fifty-one per cent of the people might rule and the forty-nine per cent be deprived of any voice whatever in government.

The first resolution taken up was that the provincial government be asked to make an investigation for the purpose of bringing back to the people's possession the New Brunswick Railway Company lands, in area. This land was now valued at $18,000,000. William Pirie, of Grand Falls, spoke of the necessity of these lands being opened up for settlement. It could once have been bought for seventy-five cents an acre.

The legislative committee reported a resolution providing the changing of section 5 of the articles submitted by farmers, labor and independent M. P.'s, so that it would read that the New Brunswick Telephone Company must extend its lines anywhere where there were two subscribers in two miles of a line.

As originally submitted it read in five words: "The province of New Brunswick."

Another resolution "that as this convention is an industrial group our representatives should work with those of other like groups; that no permanent political alliances should be made by the representatives but they should be guided by the aims of the farmers' movement," was introduced.

The last session opened at 8 p. m. with an entertainment by the G. W. V. A. The president was in the chair. Votes of thanks were passed to the G. W. V. A., the hosts and the local Y. M. C. A.

The second resolution was: "We view with alarm the tendency to frivolity, pleasure seeking, lack of reverence for sacred things, lack of respect for the aged and infirm, lack of appreciation for those old fashioned ways which build character and gave us conspicuous leaders; therefore resolved that the U. F. C. of New Brunswick can do much to remedy this state of affairs, by educating and instituting a social life which will be wholesome and put emphasis on things worth while." After a short discussion this was carried.

A resolution was submitted and passed to urge the government to provide a library which should be available for the people. It was held by some that this was very necessary. Another school of thought opined that they should not ask the government but be independent of it. Moreover, it was pointed out the U. N. B. library was at their disposal.

It was resolved that an extension library be instituted at the University of New Brunswick. Along with this was advised the carrying on of debating in the locals.

The final resolution dealt with the appointment by the provincial government of members of the municipal boards of health. It was pointed out that the counties were being assessed under the health act. Some said yes, some no. The members appointed by the province were paid while the municipal officials were not. Mr. Warnock, M.P.P., for Victoria, held that the act was a very good one in spite of a few irregularities. He held that the people paid whether the municipalities or province paid the tax and further he believed the convention was not in a place to talk much on this matter.

The board of directors of the Home for Incubables met yesterday afternoon with the president, Dr. Thomas Walker, in the chair. Only routine business was transacted.

BREACH OF PROMISE ALLEGED AGAINST KINGDON GOULD

New York Attorney Seeks
Authority for Examination
Before Trial—Dates Back
Four Years.

New York, Feb. 3.—A court proceeding known as an "examination before trial" in which Kingdon Gould, son of George Jay Gould, will be a witness, may take place on Saturday, following an ex parte order heard before Supreme Court Justice Edward R. Finch.

No papers were filed to indicate the merits of the pending suit. It was brought out, however, that the action was one of breach of promise. The plaintiff in the case is Elsa Blum of Arkville, N. Y., who on June 4, 1917, obtained a divorce from Dr. Richard Blum.

Mr. Gould's name was brought into the case when he and his attorney, Kenneth Schless, appeared before Justice Finch in chambers on an order to show cause why Mr. Gould should not submit to an examination before trial. Mr. Schless opposed the order.

To get the relief sought it was necessary for Mrs. Blum's attorney, Norman P. J. Schless, to incorporate in his moving papers the summons and complaint in the suit, which the attorney said Justice Finch had deliberately retained from filing so as to "avoid publicity."

Mr. Schless did not file the declaration of the case during the time the divorce from Dr. Blum, but that less than a month after the divorce proceedings Mr. Gould married Miss Annunziata Camilla Maria Lucini, an artist. The date of Mr. Gould's marriage was given by Mr. Schless as July 2, 1917.

The attorney did not tell the court why his client had not prosecuted the divorce until four years after Mr. Gould's marriage.

Kingdon Gould was present during the argument. He took no part in the hearing. His attorney, however, made a general denial of all the allegations set up by the petitioner's counsel with reference to any promise made by Mr. Gould before or after she had obtained her divorce. He asked that the order be vacated.

Upon the completion of the argument Justice Finch directed that both sides prepare briefs and submit them in order that he may take a decision on Saturday morning, the time, originally set for Mr. Gould's examination.

Following the court's ruling, Mr. Schless put all the papers involved in the case before his portfolio. No papers were filed. When asked when he would file the summons and complaint, Mr. Schless replied:

"Maybe it never will be filed. I have been trying to avoid publicity. I knew the Goulds would not want any publicity in this matter and Mrs. Blum comes from a very fine family and of course was equally desirous of avoiding publicity."

Thousands Are Nervous Wrecks Cross, Crabbed and Care-worn From Weak, Thin Watery Blood without ever suspecting the real cause of their trouble—Iron-starvation.

A New York Physician says that MORE THAN ONE-HALF THE POPULATION OF AMERICA PERISHES BEFORE MIDDLE AGE and that one of the chief contributory causes of this terrible waste of human life is the devastating weakness brought on by lack of iron in the blood.

THERE ARE 30,000,000,000 RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES IN YOUR BLOOD AND EACH ONE MUST HAVE IRON.

An enormous number of people who ought to be strong, vigorous and in the prime of life suffer from weakness, nervousness, paleness, aching back, disturbed digestion, shortness of breath, a general "run-down" condition, melancholy, bad memory, etc., when the real cause of all their suffering is IRON STARVATION OF THE BLOOD.

The proof of this is shown by the fact that when organic iron is supplied to their blood, that all their multitude of symptoms often quickly disappear and the very men and women who were formerly so complaining now become strong, healthy and vigorous, with even dispositions and a sunny, cheerful nature.

Nature puts plenty of iron in the husks of grains and the skin and peels of vegetables and fruits to enrich your blood, but modern methods of cooking throw all these things away—hence the alarming increase, in recent years, in anemia and iron starvation of the blood, with all its attendant ills.

If you are not willing to go back to nature then you should eat more such iron-containing vegetables as spinach and carrots and reinforce them by taking a little organic iron from time to time. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron and is therefore entirely different thing from organic iron. Organic iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. It may be had from your druggist under the name of Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such a highly condensed form that one dose of it is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It's like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat.

Over 4,000,000 people "annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood and revitalize your worn-out, exhausted nerves. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. At all druggists.
