J. Fraser Winslow appeared for Mr. Gould while W. P. Jones, K. C. and Peter J. Hughes, K. C. appeared for the directors. After Mr. Winslow advanced his arguments according to Mr. Jones' telegram, their lodgings, said they would reserve judgment but expressed themselves as strongly against Mr. Winslow's contention.

NEW CAR ROUTING FOR WEST SIDE
Suggestion Made by Power Company Manager at Conference Regarding Queen Square Tracks—Delegation at City Hall.
A conference attended by the city commissioners, a delegation from West St. John, and Percy W. Thomson, manager of the New Brunswick Power Company, was held in the mayor's office this morning regarding removal of the street car tracks from Queen square, West St. John. Mr. Thomson, after the delegation was heard, asked for a few days before giving a definite reply, as he expressed the desire to take the matter up further with the directors of the company.

The delegation, which was led by W. E. Scully, M.P.E., presented practically the same case as last week. Mr. Thomson said that in his opinion the tracks were removed from Queen square they would not be laid in any other street. He suggested, however, that the company might consider a change in the route of the whole west side system which would practically do away with the southern half of the Queen square loop. The plan would be for a ten minute service from the ferry up Rodney street, along Ludlow, Tower and Lancaster streets to Dufferin row or Clifton street and then along Lancaster avenue to the bridge. This would put the whole of the west side into one circuit instead of two as at present.

A CASE OVER STRENGTH OF BEER

William J. Lahey, charged with having sold, stronger than the law allows, for sale in his licensed beer shop, pleaded not guilty in the police court this morning. St. John Inspector Barrett testified that he visited the defendant's place of business in Brussels street yesterday and that there were seven or eight men in the front store. He said he picked up three bottles of beer in the front shop and tasted one and going into the back shop took a bottle of beer from a case there. He took two of the bottles to M. V. Padlock, provincial analyst, to be analyzed.
M. V. Padlock, told of the analysis, that he found one bottle contained 2.5 per cent proof spirit and the other 3.1. Cross-examined by the counsel for the defence, J. A. Barry, he said he was not sure which of the two bottles produced in evidence contained the stronger spirit as he had not marked them. Mr. Barry asked that an application be made to the health department at Ottawa to have the beer analyzed there, as it was so near the two per cent a mistake might easily have been made. This was granted and the case was postponed until Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, the defendant putting up a deposit for his appearance.
One man charged with drunkenness was remanded.
