OVATION TO VICTORIA'S MINISTER-MEMBER

Electors Crowd Workmen Hall to Applaud the Candidate Who Does Things For City He Represents.

THE SONGHEES

RESERVE

"I challenge the Conservatives ask Harry Helmcken, a former member of the party, what I have done in the matter of the Songhees reserve. If Mr. Helmc-ken will say that I have not, during the twelve months since I put my hand to that plough, been in weekly communication with him and done everything possible to bring Chief Cooper and his band to consider the proposition I submitted to them on behalf of the government, I am willing to stand the censure of the people of Victoria. Machine is in the people of Victoria.

Helmcken is in a position to speak with authority, because he was the confidential agent be-tween us. He has every letter and telegram I sent him, and they are numbered by the score, and I have those he sent me. I say that if the Conservatives will ask him to get up and say I have failed I will abide by the result. But I know Mr. Helmcken will not do anything of the kind. Every step I have taken I am willing to give to the public o-morrow if he gives everything ne sent to me in reply."-Hon. William Templeman at the Young Liberal smoker last

A feeling of confidence in the result | The musical portion of the programm campaign, born of a just cause was well arranged and was splendidly rendered. The instrumental selections Young Liberal smoker in the were given by the Victoria Theatre J. W. hall last evening. Long orchestra. R. A. C. Grant sang a pa-s o'clock the body of the hall triotic song, "Song of Freedom," the the gallery were filled and the words written by W. J. Dowler and and the gallery were filled and the crowd overflowed out into the lobby and on the sidewalk. Hundreds were turned away being unable to gain admittance. It shows the enthusiasm of the crowd and the excellence of the oratorical and musical programme that at least two hundred men stood the conditions of the chorus of which was taken up lustily. R. Morrison sang "The Deathless Army" at the opening of the proceedings. Herbert opening of the proceedings. Herbert Kent rendered a campaign song which went to the air of "Red, White and Blue." Joseph Price sang what proved to be the favorite among the songs, the chorus in part running thus "Goodbye, Harry Barnard, goodbye, "For we won't do a thing to you." The songs and music will all be repeated at the Saturday evening meet-H. A. Munn, president of the club, was in the chair, with Hon. William Templeman on his right. Others on the platform were: Senator Riley, Dennis Murphy, R. L. Drury, Frank Higgins, W. C. Stewart, M. Hutchison, W. H. Langley, M. E. Ditchburn, James Bell, John Brown, W. Moore, J. R. Wescott. J. H. Young, Jno. A. Turner, J. L. Mo. Jopeld, A. J. Bechtel, H. The Chairman. "The only question we have to settle is whether we are going to let Laurier finish his work; let Templeman finish his work," were Chairman Munn's opening words, which were drowned out with cheers and cries of "We're going to do it." ion Clifford Sifton from addressing the electors of Winnipeg. Never have the despicable tactics of the Conservative heelers been more foully exemplified than in the disgraceful scenes enacted at last night's meeting. It was a scene to disgust any man with a modicum of British fair play in his mental make-up, that the managers of a great political party should resort to such means to prevent their opponent answering slanders and insinuations which have been spread broadcast against his character.

This "man" McLaglan collected around him the scourings and riffraff of the lowest dives and bar-rooms in the city and it is beyond the descrip-tive powers of the English language o adequately describe the aggrega-ion that almost filled the gallery and had odd seats in the balcony and par-tially filled the standing room at the rear of the pit. McLaglan's body guard ruffians had been thoroughly primed ith liquor before they started out nd not content with interrupting the eaker, hurled filthy epithets and obscenities at all who happened to come under their displeasure. The decent people who comprised five-sixths of the audience, Liberals and Conservatives alike, were inexpressibly shocked and disgusted with the whole performance. inally the police succeeded in locating McLaglan as the storm centre and was warned that if he did not deist he would be ejected. This calmed im down considerably, though his coligan followers still kept up their share of the uproar.
