DEATH WAS NOT DUE TO FOUL PLAY

Peter Gleason Came to His Death Either from Excessive Drinking or Bad Liquor—Inquest Tonight.

The residents of Fairville and Milford were not so much worked up over the death of Peter Gleason, who was found dead in Oliver Mallett's house, Milford on Monday, as they were on the day of the death.

These reports were largely due to the fact that a discolored mark had been found behind the left ear on Gleason's body.

Just what caused the mysterious mark will be publicly known until the evidence of the doctors who made the post mortem examination on the body is given in the inquest, which will be held in the Fairville court house this evening by Coroner Gulton.

BUSINESS IS BRISK AT THE CITY HOTEL

Approaching Winter Drives the "Weary Willy" to Seek Police Protection

Protectionists Arriving at Central in Increasing Numbers—All Tell the Usual Hard Luck Story.

Now that the cold weather is setting in central police station calls are becoming a regular boarding house for tramps. These men, who, in nearly every case, are most unclean in appearance, appear at the central and inform the policemen in charge of the stationroom that they are without funds to purchase a night's lodging.

The officer after taking their names, sees, and the country they hail from, escorts them to the basement where they are provided with a warm cell, a can of drinking water, and the side of a plank, or the stone floor to sleep on.

The cells at central station are in less demand during the summer months as far as tramps are concerned, as the wanderers prefer floors or barns to sleep in, but when the winter approaches they do not wish to take the chance of sleeping out in a field.

The different speakers were introduced by Mr. Cameron and included: Rev. W. W. Brewer of Exmouth street Methodist church; Rev. William Lawson of Zion church; Rev. A. J. Archibald of the Carleton Baptist church; Rev. G. F. Scoville of St. Jude's church; Rev. J. A. MacVicker, moderator of St. John's Presbyterian church; Rev. Herbert E. Thomas of the Carleton Methodist church; Rev. J. H. Archibald of St. George's Presbyterian church; Rev. James Ross, superintendent of missions for the Maritime Provinces; Rev. George A. Ross of the Fairville Methodist church.

DREDGING IN EAST HARBOR HAS STARTED

Large Dipper Dredge Commenced Yesterday—Working Under Difficulty—Job will Take Long Time.

Following the soundings taken by A. W. Gregory, of the public works department at Ottawa, an important step toward providing St. John with a harbor adequate to the growing trade of the port was taken yesterday when dredging operations started under the direction of E. J. Dineen, dredging superintendent who will have charge of the work.

The large dipper dredge, procured especially for the work, began operations at a point nearly opposite the harbor entrance. The heavy swell made the work difficult, and it is expected that the prevailing winds which strike the harbor at the point where the work is to be carried on for some time will make the operations particularly hard.

NEW PLANS FOR HARBOR

Commissioners Hear A.S. Armstrong's Plans for Improvements in Courtenay Bay and on the West Side.

Yesterday afternoon the city commissioners had a conference with J. Simeon Armstrong and gave him an opportunity to explain his plans for the development of the harbor facilities of St. John.

Mr. Armstrong thinks the wharf system on the west side should also be remodelled and he would not wholly close up the space between Partridge Island and Negro Point.

Mr. Armstrong proposed that the commissioners should try to induce the harbor to adopt his plans for harbor improvement here. The commissioners requested the master to write him at some length, but while admitting that the plans seemed to
