CANADIANS IN FIERCE STRUGGLE

A prisoner said that the ground over which his battalion had advanced was thickly strewn with dead.

Division Wiped Out.

The Seventh Prussian division, which was in line when we attacked, no longer exists. Their losses during the several days prior to the assault were very serious. Our guns so steadily swept their positions that ration parties refused to go up and the men in the trenches remained unfed.

The total number of prisoners is considerably over 400 now. The counter-attacks ceased shortly after dark and our men slept on the ground they had won and maintained during eighteen hours of constant struggle against the best of Germany. The losses can still be spoken of as moderate, though the driving off of the counter-attacks is often more costly than the original action.

As an illustration of the confused nature of the struggle along this part of the battle front I may refer to the experience of a colonel of an Ontario battalion. He and an orderly were alone in a section of trench used as a battalion headquarters near the firing line, during one of the counter-attacks.

Manned in Time.

A watchful observer had seen a strong party of Germans using a communication trench on the flank and making their way to the rear of his battalion. He was warned that the enemy was near him and his supporting battalion. The colonel was calm. He was also quick. Two hours afterwards he told how he had to run for his life and send a messenger to his supporting battalion which attacked the adventurous enemy and wiped them out.

Who's Who and What's What in the Picture World and on the Stage---Favorites and What They Say and Do.

SOCIETY EXTRAS

Members of Loyalist Chapter I. O. D. E. to Act as "Supers" in Henry W. Savage Production of Everywoman.

The war has brought about many changed conditions and has opened many new avenues for women to earn money. This is true of societies as well as individuals, and in various ways entirely novel methods of raising funds for patriotic enterprises have been adopted.

The Loyalist Chapter, I. O. D. E., are going to take advantage of an opportunity given to them to act as supernumeraries in the big production of "Everywoman" which is to be given in St. John within a few weeks. "Supers," as they are usually called in theatre parlance, are the extra characters used in a play for ball room scenes or for the crowd in the streets. Nearly fifty will be needed for the ensemble of several scenes, and in the fifty will be included four small boys.

Many of the members of this particular chapter have had stage experience in the Revues given in the Imperial, and with the aid of the training at rehearsals with the company will no doubt do their part well, and by this means add a substantial sum to the funds of the chapter.

LYRIC.

"The Double Cross Mystery." In again out again Peter Hale, for he was left in jail in the last chapter and now he is at liberty. It is, of course, the masked stranger who assists the two who are so interested in Phillipa, and when both Peter and Annesley are free they soon find enough to do to keep them busy. They catch both Phillipa and Bentley and take them to the deserted castle, where after some persuasion they succeed in obtaining from Bentley a confession of his mercenary intentions as regards the heiress. On his release Bentley tries to double-cross his captors and is much surprised at the result. We leave Peter and the report, amazed at having let a girl with a double cross on her arm escape from them while in the auto the masked stranger smiles tauntingly at them.

A Christie Comedy with scenes taken at the sea shore giving many pictures of many pretty girls in bathing suits was well liked. For a return engagement at the Lyric you will find Cecil and St. John, Miss Cecil was formerly in St. John in the Jerry MacAuliffe company. She is known as the girl who pitched a game for the New York Giants.

In the act she gives a poker song very cleverly. Miss Bernice wears a charming costume of baby blue taffeta made with panels of the same material in gold. Later she appears in a dainty summer garb and sings swinging on a rose-roped swing. With Cecil they sing a summer-time song with a catchy refrain.

have determined that if Xabra is executed they will spread germs of the bubonic plague throughout New York. Rose Lee, secretary to the Governor of New York, goes to Chinatown for her weekly supply of opium, but is unable to procure her supply, due to new laws.

This is just the beginning of the story shown at the Unique, in the Secret Service series featuring Kingsley Benedict. The plot goes on to tell of a tube, containing culture of the bubonic plague which is to be thrown into the reservoir of New York city. Through York Norry, aided by Rose, in an exciting and startling manner the diabolical plan is defeated. Elsie Jane Wilson is the stenographer Rose Lee. There is plenty of action in the picture.

Lonesome Luke Messenger.—Action and action and action. Upsets and falls and chases, and all the accompanying happenings which goes to make up a typical comedy. Much of the occurrences take place in a girl's gymnasium where there is a stern old teacher. The comedy pleased the audience greatly.
