OUR RETAIL ESTABLISHMENTS. THE EXTENSIVE CLOTHING HOUSE OF J. G. KENNEDY & CO.

It has been the aim of the Commercial Review, in the exhibits we have made of the various branches of industry with which our city abounds, to mention only those establishment that can be fairly called representatives of their trade. And while as a Orders from all parts of the Province carefull general rule we have taken only those which do executed, and delivered according to instruction a wholsale business, we have not overlooked those free of charge. in the retail trade which, from the magnitude of their operations, deserve especial mention. Within the last few years a great change has taken place in the clothing trade. Ready-made goods are now produced in as fine fabrics and as good styles and make as are the most of custom-made suits. In fact there are many of our best citizens who buy ready-made clothing entirely, and none of their acquaintances are aware that their stylish suit do not come from a fashionable tailor. Especially has this feature of the trade been apparent during the hard times and when economy was a necessity. The most extensive retail clothing house in this city is that of Messrs. J. G. Kennedy & Co, No. 31 St. Lawrence st. We had the pleasure of visiting this establishment a few days since, and we can safely assert that a larger finer or more stylish stock of clothing would be hard to find. The building occupied by them is four stories in height and is filled to repletion with every class of goods in the clothing line, comprising men's boys', and youths' ready-made clothing n every variety, Canadian and Scotch tweeds, cassimeres, doeskins, &c. On the first floor is the stock of over coats, suits, &c., in the latest styles and makes, and sold at prices to suit the most exacting. Indeed it would be difficult to find a customer who could not be suited in his department. The measuring and cuiting department is also on this floor. Here the finest custom-made clothing can be obtained at minimum prices. The 3rd and 4th floors are devoted to clothing of every description. They carry at all times a fine stock of tweeds, broadcloths, &c, &c, in beles. Their cloth-ing for excellence of quality and first class workman-ship and finish cannot be surpassed. We commend any of our readers who really want superior, well fitting, stylish, and durable custom or ready-made garments at bottom prices to pay this house a visit they are sure to be suited by going to this fine cetablishment .- Advt.

ate weight of the brains of fish to their bodies is as one in three thousand. The stupid thunny only marks one for his brain in three thousand seven hundred; the fairly astute pike, one in one thousand three hundred; but the carp's brains weigh one in five hundred, which is exactly the proportion between brains and body shown by that clever beast the elephant. Rightly dies Walton say, "The carp is accounted the water-fox for his cun-

It is described by recent visitors as a capital resort for sportsmen, game being abundant, and fish ready to rise to the fly. The most curious features of the swamp are the sweetness and wholesome character of the water, and the entire freedom of its few in habitants from malarious diseases. This purity is ascribed to the influence of the juniper tree, which certainly colours if it does not improve the water,

FLYING DUCY.—The other day a Custom-house officer at one of the gates of Paris in the full exercise of his powers was curiously " sold." A pigeon trainer, having in tow about a hundred feathered pupils, on arriving at the barriere was asked for the usual duty by the officer at the gate. The trainer asswered that there was nothing to pay. "Pay the duty, or leave the birds at the gate," was the officer's reply. The trainer disregarding the alternative quietly opened his cages and released the imprisoned pigeons. The birds, clated at regaining their liberty, soared high into the air and winged their way homeward, while the trainer coolly passed through the gate, leaving the officer stupefied with > greatest problems of this age is the mule. Al though volumes have been written on the mule, yet the accident statistics shows that be is as little un derstood as ever. How to mix kindness and firmness in the proportions, and then apply the concoction successfully to an energetic mule, is one of "those things no fellow can find out." The mule is deceiful and desperately wicked. It knows no north, no south, no west, no east, in the rigid impartiality with which it bestows its favours. In trying to solve the mule problem many very wise a demoralized heap in the opposite corner of the strange it is, that after all those years of ineffectual research, the true solution of this vexed question should be discovered by a small boy. This little fellow lives in Richard, Va., and while playing near a mule was, by means of that animal's method of rapid transit, suddenly landed in a neighboring field. When he recovered from the emotion caused himself into the mule's affections, taking care, however, always to keep at the correct and of the mule. Finally the innocent and unsuspicious quadruped was firmly tied to a tree, under whose shades were several hives of bees. The mule brought disaster recreation. The combat that ensued was dreadful to behold. The boy is not quite certain whether that it was the mule, because, when the owner came after the body, there was not a vestige of the hives to be seen, and the bees had all disappeared, while the remains of the mule still occupied the battle-

SQUIRRELS IN LAPLAND -Accounts are given of the ingenuity of the squirrels in Lapland which we find it difficult to believe, were they not credited by such men as Linnens, on whose authority the following is given. It seems that squirrels in that country are in the habit of emigrating in large parties, and that they sometimes travel hundreds of miles in this way. When they meet with broad rapid lakes in their journeys, they take a very extraordinary method of crossing them. They approach the banks, and perceiving the distance between them and the opposite shore, they return, as if by common consent, into the neighbouring forest each in search of a piece of bark or light wood, which answers the purpose of a boat to ferry them over. When the whole company are provided in this manner, they boldly commit their fleet to the waves, each squirrel sitting on his own boat, and fanning the air with his tail in order to drive himself across. In this orderly manner they set out ofteamboats, Locomotives, Plantations, &c., mounted in the most approved and substantial man-ner with their new Patented Yoke and other imand often cross lakes several miles broad, in this way. It occasionally happens, however, as may be proved Mountings, and varranted in every particular.

Y. supposed, that the mariners are not aware of the dangers of the voyage; for though, at the edge of the water, it is generally calm, in the middle it is always more rough. Sometimes the poor squirrels encounter such a gale before they get across the lake that nearly all their vessels are capsized and they are shipwrecked. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good, however; and the shipwreck, so disastrous to the squirrel family, is a matter of great rejoicing on the part of the Laplander on shore
