

OBLIGATION—

explanation of the theistic proof based on, 396.
 solution of the problem presented by moral, 399.
 man finds himself under, 399.
 leads out and up to God as transcendent, 401.

ONTOLOGY, of theism, 249.

the task undertaken by theism in relation to, 251.
 theistic import of, 433.

ONTOLOGICAL, proof for the existence of God, 260.

general estimate of the proof known as the, 287.

ORDER, chance cannot explain cosmic, 356.

immanent, 357.
 implies intelligence, 358.
 limits of the theistic proof from, 359.
 is moral as well as physical, 392.
 theistic postulate solves the problem of both kinds of, 393.

PALEY, allusion to his service to natural theology, 52.

apologetical method of, 69.
 and theism, 116.
 and the theistic proof from design, 361.

PANTHEISM, and oriental theosophy, 117.

is attractive to some minds, 119.
 a statement of, 558.
 the history of, 559.
 in Hindoo theosophy, 559.
 in Greek philosophy, 559.
 in modern times, 560.
 in the philosophy of Spinoza, 560.
 in the Hegelian philosophy, 560.
 a general description of, 561.
 is always monist, 561.
 derives finite things from a monistic ground, 561.
 discovers the principle of the derivation of finite things in the monistic ground, 563.
 and the idea of God, 563.
 the four historic types of, 564.
 the Hindoo, 564.
 the Greek, 565.
 Spinoza's, 566.
 Hegel's, 566.
 criticism of, 569.
 defective on philosophical grounds, 570.

PANTHEISM—

does not after all give a unitary principle, 572.
 fails to explain finite things, 573.
 gives no proper place for the facts of consciousness, 573.
 gives no good basis for personality, 574.
 theism far better than, 574.
 defective on moral grounds, 575.
 destroys the basis for moral distinctions, 575.
 robs God as the monistic ground of freedom, 576.
 leaves no freedom in the creature, 576.
 would have had moral results, 578.
 fails utterly on religious grounds, 578.
 gives a defective idea of God, 578. assumes a wrong relation between God and man, 579.
 affords no proper philosophical ground for the facts of Christianity, 580.

PASCAL, 51.

PATTON, and Hegel's theism, 214.
 on the origin of theistic belief, 246.
 on the ontotheistic reasoning of Anselm, 283.

PELT, reference to, 65.PESSIMISM, some discussion of, 581.

statement of, 586.
 history of, 587.
 and Hindooism, 587.
 modern types of, 588.
 and pantheism, 588.

PFLEIDERER, reference to, 67.

and fetichism, 152.
 and naturism, 159.
 and the theistic proofs, 276.

PHILOSOPHY, of religion, 115.

of the infinite, 180.
 the common sense, 289.
 of the unconditioned, 290.
 of the infinite and absolute, 291.
 of knowledge, 306.
 of causation, 317.
 of cosmic order, 350.
 of history, 404.
 of positivism, 511.

PLACE, of apologetics in the theological sciences, 63.PLANCK, allusion to his views on place of apologetics, 52.*PLATO, reference to, 93.

and theism, 116.
 and the theory of knowledge, 306.