

THE BEECH WOODS

like a distant harp. It was the voice of the past coming down the vista of the years and bearing in its breath all the mystery of the woods and all the sadness too.