SYNOD OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Synod of British Columbia met in St. Andrew's church, New Wsetminster, on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of May. The Rev. D. Campbell, B.A., the retiring moderator, preached a suitable opening sermon and received the thanks of the synod for efficient services for the past

The Rev. D. MacRae of St. Paul's church, Victoria, was unanimously ap-pointed moderator for the ensuing year -thus occupying this position for the second time-having been convener and first moderator of the synod of British Columbia and Alberta in 1892. The separation of Alberta and its eration into a new synod this year marks an important stage in the history and work of the synod, as well as a material change in membership.

The attendance was gratifyingly large, especially in view of the long distance that many of the members had to travel in order to reach the place of meeting.

The reports on the different departments of the church's work for the past year were on the whole of an encouraging character, indicating a bright out look. The revival of business activity and an increasing population will make the work of the current year still more The absence of litigation encouraging. or any burning questions made the meeting one of special interest and pleasure.

The meeting was preceded by a three days' conference, which proved deenly interesting and profitable to the success of which the presence and scholarly lectures of the Revs. Professors Jordan and Wicher, of San Francisco, contributed very largely.

To the Rev. George Dunlop Bayne, B.A., Ph.D.: We who are here assem-bled, members of Calvin Presbyterian Church, Pembroke, feel the occasion to be a solemn one, for, by it we are re-minded that the ties of Christian fellowship which have existed for nearly are broken and all but severed. vears

We feel constrained to extend to a few parting words in acknowledg-ment of the many obligations we are under to you. As a Christian teacher we are bound to own that you have courageously and without fear or favor, declared to us the whole counsel of God, and that so far as mortal man could you have therein done your whole duty: not the least valuable of your faithful and soul stirring admonitions vour fattatul and soul stirring admonitions you delivered to us yesterday, so full were they of a clear and logical unfolding of those things needful to sustain the Christian life and especially of the heliculpage, of the heliculpage, who helpfulness of the habit of prayer. As a pastor many can testify of your fidelity, but it has been when sickness and bereavement have invaded the home that you have proven your devotion to the welfare of your people, and there are those among us who, having been aided at such times by your sympaaided at such times by your sympa-thetic and kindly advice and prayers, will ever remember as they recall the past that the prayers of a righteous man have power with God and prevail.

Be assured that our prayers will be lifted up on your behalf to the throne of grace, that in your new field of labor you may long be spared to min-ister to a people zealous of good works, and Aaron and Hur-like, ready and willing to help you in your work of winning souls to God.

Me regret that in this impromptu address we are not able to say all that our hearts would dictate, but we trust that this will be to you an evidence, slight though it be, of our appreciation of your work amongst us: and we hope that in all your future labors you may find the sustaining power of the Holy Spirit ever with you, so that when Holy Spirit ever with you, so that when that day shall come when you with us shall stand before the bar of judgment it will be found that many stars have been added to your crown of rejoicing from both Pembroke and Sudbury. Our last prayer shall be, "May God grant that in your church and in the sacred sanctuary of your home, you shall
