From Dr. Joyce's New Poem, "Blanid,"

My little blue doves were born,
Were born in the windy March,
Up in the tapering larch
That langhs in the light of morn:
O, so high o'er the meadow!
O, so high o'er the gien!
And they sit in the leafy shadow,
The Joy and delight of men,
Cooing, with voices flowing
In melody soft and sweet,
Their necks with the rainbow glowing,
And the pink on their silver feet.

My little doves lived together,
Unweeting of woe and pain.
Through the days of the winds and rain
And the sunny and fragrant weather;
And the lark sang o'er them in heaven,
And the linnet from banks of flowers,
And the robin chanted at even,
And the thrush in the morning hours
Carolled to cheer their wooing,
And the blackbird merry and bold
Answered their cooing, coolng
Out from the windy wold.

When the daisy its eye uncloses,
And the cowslip glistens with dew,
And the hyacinth pure and blue
And the lillies and the pearl-bright roses
Prink themselves in the splendor
Of the delicate white-foot Dawn,
'Mid the flowers and the fragrance tender
My little dove's heart was thawn
With love by the cooling, cooling
Of the gentle mate at her side,
And they married in midst of their wooli
My bridegroom and woodland bride!

NEWS FROM IRELAND.

DUBLIN.

A destructive fire occurred in Dublin on October 27th. Shortly after eight o'clock the extensive chandlery stores of Mr. Patrick O'Connor, South Glouceste street, were discovered to be on fire. The stores were filled with tallow, parafin, and other oils. Some of the barrels were saved, but a large number were burned. Three members of the fire brigade nar-rowly escaped being killed by the fall of the roof, one of them being actually knocked down by the debris.

On Oct. 31st, Mrs. Francis Robinson, the wife of a well-known music teacher in Dublin, committed suicide by throwing herself from the roof of the house, No. 3 Deper Fitzwilliam street, in which she lived with her husband. The deceased was long known in Dublin as a brilliant pianist, and clever composer for that instrument, and was highly esteemed in the best circles of society. She had been for many years subject to periodic attacks. for many years subject to periodic attacks of insanity, and it appears that she recently returned from Dr. Eustace's Asylum, and was believed to be quite well.

On Oct. 25th, a man named William Cowan was working in the hold of a vessel lying at the North Wall, Dublin, when a plank that had been used to cover the hatchway became accidentally displaced and fell on the back of his neck. He was removed to Jervis street Hospital, where he died the part right. where he died the next night.

CARLOW.

Sir Charles Burton, of Burton Hall, County Carlow, has promised to the tenants of his Graig-na-managh and June. In his dealing with his tenants Sir Charles Burton has ever eviced the greatest kindness and consideration. On becoming owner of this becoming owner of this property, about the year 1848, he gave a permanent re-duction of 20 per cent. to all his tenants, as he considered the rent charged by the previous proprietor as exorbitant, and on this reduced rent he is now going to give a further allowan e of 20 per cent.

a reduction of their rents, on account of the bad harvest. A reply was received stating that he would remit 25 per cent., which it was hoped would fairly divide the burthen. A gentleman holding property in Raheen, and residing near Clare, Kings County, J. H. Roe Esq., has most generously and without being solicited, given adatement to his tenants amounting to 25 per cent

QUEEN'S COUNTY.

On Oct. 27th, the house of a farme named Patrick Moran, situated at Kill arick, was attacked by a party of men. On Moran going to the door a shot was fired at him, without, however, taking effect. Another shot was then fired, and Moran was wounded in the arm, but not dangerously. The cause of the crime is not agrarian. Three men have been arrested and remanded.

MEATH.

A man named Paddy Murray, aged between thirty and forty, was found hang-ing, on Oct. 30, in an out-house at the residence of Mrs. McCullough, Staleen. residence of Mrs. McCullough, Stateen.
He had been for years in the employment of the late Mr. McCullough, as a kind of confidential servant, useful about a household, and was retained in the employment of Mrs. McCuliough after Mr. McCuldeath. He had been an inmate of the Mullingar Lunatic Asylum for the past two years, and had been recently set at

On the night of Oct. 27th, the house of a man named McCann, herd to a Mr. Battersby, at a place called Emla, within a mile and a half of the village of Carlanstown, was attacked by a number of men. It appears McCann and the other inmates house were retiring to rest, when they heard some steps coming towards the house, and in a short time the latch was raised, but finding the door secure against them, the intruders commenced smashing and wrecking the windows. The woman of the house, on going towards the door, was struck in the face with some of the glass. Having demolished the windows, the attacking party made off, only three being observed by the occupants of the house. The police of Corlanstown have arrested two men on suspicion. No cause is assigned by the McCanns for the out

On Oct. 30th, Mr. James Kelse, one of the corners for the county Meath, held an inquest on the body of a young man named Matthew McLoughlin, lately employed as a porter in the employment of the Drogheda Steampacket Company. It appeared from the evidence that on the 15th the deceased was employed in the lower hold of the steamer stowing away bales of wool, which the porter on which had occurred previous to the death of the late Lord Leitrim, and the other for rent which had occurred after the death. CORK.

A woman named Mrs. Brown was interred on October 28th, at Fermoy, who had reached the patriarchal age of 102 years. The old lzdy retained her faculties to the last, and could recount several of the stirring scenes of the past century with wonderful accuracy to the four generations of relatives by whom she was surrounded.

The Mitchelstown correspondent of the ork Examiner says of the Buckley estates "Unmistakable evidence of the inability of the tenantry on the above estates to meet even the reduced rent is said to be apparent on visiting their holdings. Con-apparent on visiting their holdings. Consequently little or nothing is being received by Mr. Collier, the kindly English agent, who sits in the office here on Thursdays. I hear that his feelings are touched by the wretched tatters of some that have come to pay."

Thirty men, in five boats, recently boarded the trawlers in Bantry Bay. The boarders were armed with guns, knives, and hatchets, and threatened the captains and crews of the trawlers with death if they persisted in trawling, Resistance having been made on board the Eleanor, of Dingle, the boarders cut the rigging, and lashed the captain and crew to the mast, making them swear never to trawl again. The police arrested three of the culprits on Bantry quay. The fishermen tried to re-Bantry quay. The fishermen tried to rescue the prisoners, and stoned the police, who fixed bayonets, and threatened to

LIMERICK.

On October 26th, a countryman named Patrick Forde while returning home from Limerick, was waylaid and dreadfully assaulted at Blackboy Pike. It is stated that two men lay in ambush for Forde, who was knocked down on the road and beaten into insensibility. Only the slightest hopes are entertained of his recovery.

TIPPERARY.

At the Tipperary Quarter Session, now roceeding, the Cashel branch of the proceeding, the Cashel branch of the National Bank obtained 60 decrees for various sums, on bills which had been renewed from time to time chiefly against the farmers.

MAYO.

A large and influential meeting of the inhabitants of Kiltimagh was recently held in the Courthouse, Balla, presided over by the Rev. Father Leonard, P. P. for the purpose of toking immediate steps towards the organization of a tenant defence meeting, to be held in that town purpose of considering the depressed state of the country, and obtaining for of the country, and obtaining from their respective landlords a bene-ficial reduction in their present rents (which are entirely too high), to enable them to tide over their difficulties in this most trying season. After appointing a committee for carrying out their in-tentions, a vote of thanks was passed to tentions, a vote of tranks was passed to the chairman, and the meeting terminated. John Sidney, agent to the Marquis of Sligo, and his son, attended at the Mayo prison, Ca-tlebar, on October 29th, for the purpose of identifying the man Cooney, who is in custody charged with camulicity in the Mulrany. "autron" complicity in the Mulranny "outrage. It is stated that they failed completely to identify the prisoner.

LEITRIM.

Great interest prevailed at the Ballinamore (Leitrim) Sessions on October 25th, when a number of ejectments upon Lord Leitrim's estate were heard. The Lord Leitrim's estate were heard. cases were brought at the suit of the Hon. Colonel Clements, against over sixty of the tenants of the late Lord Leitrim. In each case the tenant was served with two processes, one for a gale of rent which had occurred previous to the death of the Decrees were obtained. Counsel for the tenants then applied that all cases be adjourned until next January. The adjournment was refused. refused.

WATERFORD.

Dungaryan, or rather its able and accom Dungarvan, or rather its able and accomplished parish priest, Dr. Cleary, seems alive to the taunt of the Times, uttered some eight or ten years ago, that so illiterare were its people, it was the only large town in Ireland without a book shop; and, again, to statistics of the Royal Commission on Primary Education, in 1870, that Dungarvan was the worst educated town in Munster. Two large schools are now being built, not that the town had previously been without schools, but that the school accommodation but that the school accommodation afforded was felt wholly inadequate for the growing wants of the town.

DOWN.

Arrangements are being made for the opening of the Conlig Lead Mines, which have been closed for the last twelve years. The works lie between Bangor and Newtownards, and when in full operation employed about five hundred hands. The recent advance in the price of lead has induced a Mayo company to commence operations, and there is reason to believe that in a short time the mines will be at work. work.

ARMAGH.

The many friends of the late Most Rev. Dr. Crolly and Most Rev. Dr. Dixon will learn with pleasure that their lives and their labors have not been forgotten by the grateful people of the archdiocese of Armagh. Each of these two great and holy prelates presided worthily for many years over the spiritual destinies of the children of St. Patrick in the ancient and time-honored See of Armagh, and recently there has been erected to their memories in the new Cathedral of that city, a beautiful stained-glass window at a cost of £920.

ARE LOTTERIES SINFUL?

Our Protestant contemporaries are in Our Protestant contemporaries are in the habit, in dearth of other polemical contraband, to hold up the Catholic Church as the abbettor of vice in that she permits lotteries, raffles, and other chance devices at church fairs and festivals. Last week they piped in chorus, led by a sensational preacher of Boston, named Morgan, and preacher of Boston, named Morgan, and Archbishop Williams and his Cathedral Fair are the subjects for nasal torture. Fair are the subjects for nasal torture. This man Morgan has notified the Archbishop that in the event of a lottery being held by him in that city, he will prosecute him to the utmost limit of the law. It was a happy hit for the preacher and the Hub is a unit for the prosecution. Protestant editors have a tender conscience for their Catholic fellow-citizens, and are profuse in their condemnation of such lotteries as are set up at Catholic fairs. A charitable man or woman don ites string to the unquestionable respectability of the accused.

Gambling, as a calling, is vagrancy. Vagrancy and idleness are sinful. Gambling pursued for profit is unwise as well as sinful, but taking part in a game of chance, by chance and for recreation, is neither unwise nor sinful, provided the stake be not more than the player can afford to spend for recreation, and the money resulting from the hazard be honestly won. If one of these preachers were called upon to state the difference between the worst kind of gambling and the best kind of speculation, he would be unable to do so. They have no fixed principles of morality. Their code of morals is public opinion, and their theology private prejudice. It is well they do not all blunder in the same direction at one time, or they might upset the religious time, or they might upset the religious common sense of the world.—St. Louis Western Watchman.

DR. WILSON:
Dear Sir,—I pronounce the "Moliere Bath"
the King of Baths that I know anything about. Until I tried it I thought the Turkish Bath was the premium bath, but yours outranks it far in securing more copious perspiration at half the temperature, thus avoiding the suffocation and prostration felt in the Turkish, and all dangers to nervous patients, allowing pure air to breathe while the Turkish obliges one to inhale other people's vile exhalations. The repeating alternations of heat and co'd I consider the greatest single restorative next to electricity, both of which your bath applies in the best manner possible. Dr. C. H. REYNOLDS.

Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in adding my name to the Testimonials already given in favor of the Mollere Bath. My experience in its use has proven it very desirable above others which I have tried for Chronic Rheumatic. The pleasant condition of the system afterwards, without violent reaction, indicates its salutary influence. Without debilitating it seems to rest and recuperate the body. Altogether I deem it a very valuable agent for the health and refreshment of enfected persons. W.M. ROBINSON, London, Nov. 8th, 1879.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of foul-ing the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.
