"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Dr. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

PREMIER OPENS FAIR

Asked Prince Louis of Battenberg to Press Button.

Hon. J. P. Whitney On the Resources of the Province—Prince Louis Delivers An Address of Imperialistic Flavor—Various Functions In Which His Serene Highness Participated—School Children's Day.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—In the presence of His Serene Highness, Prince Louis of Battenberg, and three hundred of his Jack Tars, and of Lord de Vesci, with the Irish Guards band, Hon. J. P. Whitney, Premier of Ontario, formally opened the Canadian National Exhibition at 2 o'clock yesterday. Several thousand citizens witnessed the ceremony.

The Premier's Address. The Premier received an address, and replied appropriately. The exhibition was part of the agricultural, industrial and educational life of the Province.

PREMIER WHITNEY.

It was being recognized more and more that knowledge must control in the two great occupations of the world, while the educational value could hardly be appraised in words. It became not now the duty to direct all possible effort towards the working out of these problems for the public benefit. The Premier's language was flowery as he touched upon the resources of the province. Ontario had attained the proud position of leading Province, and he was sure the visitors would carry away impressions of the industries whose operation they had seen, and appreciation of the loyal feeling. He would not conceive of a time coming when a different flag would be flying over Canada. The people had grown in the belief that they were part and parcel of the Empire, and the day was far past when Canadians would tamely submit to being spoken of as colonialists.

"I will ask the admirals if it would not now be the proper thing for me to 'belly talk.' It was a nautical reference of the Premier's that made the Prince smile. He then called upon the latter to press the button.

Prince Performs Ceremony. The Prince did after expressing proper sense of pleasure. There was expectant silence as he leaned forward with his finger upon the button. Then came from without the screech of a bodier—thence the 125546 6. 739 while Canada's National had entered upon its 27th year of its existence. Prince at First Luncheon.

The first directors' luncheon began at 1 o'clock. The directors' luncheon are of daily occurrence. The invited guests yesterday afternoon were—Prince Louis of Battenberg, His Honor Lieut.-Gov. W. Mortimer Clark and ladies of Government House, Premier J. P. Whitney, Mrs. Whitney, Lady Kirkpatrick, Viscount Dr. Vesci, captain of the Irish Guards band, Brigadier-General Otter, the aldermen and City Council, the directors of the Exhibition, the Toronto M. P.'s and M. P.'s, Chief Justices Meredith and Falconbridge, the Dominion and Ontario Cabinet Ministers, Lieut.-Col. Denison of Stanley Barracks, Rev. Prof. Clark, Hon. J. K. Kerr, Hon. George A. Cox, Charles Ritchie, K. C., Hon. L. M. Jones, Walter Barker, J. O. Allan, George E. Drummond of Montreal, H. H. Fudge, A. E. Ames, J. W. Flavell, D. M. Steves, D. B. Wilkie, Byron E. Walker, Judge Winchester, Lieut.-Col. Grassett, George H. Gooderham, Frederic Nicholls, Commander Hassell, Dr. W. R. White.

Prince Louis came to the grounds after spending a quiet morning, as Prince's morning go. He was the lion of the lunch, and was the recipient of an address presented by President McNaught for the Exhibition Association.

His Serene Highness Replies. The Prince thanked their directors for the "charming" address which he had read, and said it was a "delightful souvenir." He had noted with satisfaction the references to the navy, and he had found in his tour of Canada that there existed everywhere a very strong tie between the navy and the people of Canada. It was a great pleasure and satisfaction to be able to contribute in a small way towards the success of the exhibition, and he thanked his hosts for their great kindness in the entertainment of his men, who would spread far and wide through the service the tale of the splendid reception that had been theirs. Pleasure was expressed at the prospect of touring the grounds of a "wonderful and unique exhibition, which was typical of Canada and especially of the great Province of Ontario.

"I would now desire to raise my glass to the health and greater prosperity of Toronto," said Prince Louis, calling upon the officers of his squadron to honor the toast. They rose and, led by Commander Ellery, responded with three ringing cheers of the diad Dragoons, and to the popular idea of salutory heartiness.

Toronto Loves a Lord. The attraction in the grand stand in the afternoon was the presence of His Serene Highness Prince Louis, and the distinguished party which occupied a box in the centre of the stand. There was a vast assemblage, which sandwiched its attention between royalty and the specialty performance. His Serene Highness was apparently much pleased with what he saw, particularly the musical ride of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, and repeatedly he led the applause. The redcoats seemed to please him more than his own blue-jackets.

Prince Louis and Viscount Vesci took away with them medals and addresses from the Army and Navy Veterans, presented to them later in the afternoon.

The Civic Banquet. A pleasant and graceful function was the civic banquet given Prince Louis last evening at the exhibition grounds. "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" was the sentiment voiced in rousing, if not rhythmic, chorus by the banqueters.

Prince Louis' words came as a response to the Mayor's imperialistic allusion. He spoke of the naval commission formed some years ago at a time when there was "a very strong feeling as to the perilous position of the British Isles in case of war," when he had been asked by the Admiralty to give confidential evidence before the commission. Since that time there had been a marked increase in the proportion of breadstuffs imported from Canada, and the calculation was now made that in ten or twelve years it would be able to supply the whole of the breadstuffs required to feed the 40,000,000 of people in the old country. (Applause. He could not but be fascinated at the spectacle of a great fleet of grain vessels, guarded by ships flying the white ensign.

The Prince gave warm thanks for the hospitality extended. What had touched him particularly was the way in which little children on the street had smiled him a welcome.

After President McNaught had said a few words as to the disinterestedness of the fair management, in a work that was for the country's good alone, there was prompt adjournment to witness the evening performance before the grand stand.

Fleet Leaves September 2. Quebec, Aug. 30.—It was stated yesterday that it is almost certain that the second cruiser squadron which has been in port since the second week of August will leave for the gulf and New York on Saturday next, September 2.

Prince Louis will return from the west in time for the banquet which is to be tendered to him by the citizens of Quebec on Friday evening at the Garrison Club, and will leave with the fleet next day.

Mrs. Askum—Told you you were getting old, I suppose?

Mrs. Fairfax—Oh, no. She said I still looked quite young.

Washwoman—Yes, mum, but when a thing is torn in two or more pieces, mum, I count them as only one piece, mum.

Now, why not have a Pandora?

Now we have shown you that the Pandora is a good range,

—that it is easily managed,
—that its grates are easily taken out and replaced without expense,
—that you can cook on the top and bake in the oven equally well at the same time,
—that it is the only range with a single piece enamelled steel reservoir,
—that it has the best broiling door,

—that it has an absolutely reliable thermometer,
—that it is most economical, because it does its work with least coal.

Now, why don't you have a "Pandora" and be certain you have the best range?

CORTEOUS RETORT.

"It takes a woman to make the retort courteous," declared a lady the other day who had just returned from the whist club.

Ah, queried the lady, picking out basting threads, who knew that a sorry tale was coming.

"Yes, we were at the St. Louis club this morning, the Friday club, as we generally call it, when Mrs. C. came in. You know there has been some talk of her husband's having failed or something, and, as they still keep their house on the boulevard, we most of us conclude that the rumor of failure was not true, but Mrs. C. happened to be at the same table with her, and evidently she found it impossible to curb her curiosity.

By the way, Mrs. C., she said, one of my friends told me that you, what Mr. C. is doing now, as she had not seen much of him lately.

Now, isn't that funny, laughed Mrs. C., but there was a bitter note in the laugh that made us all attention, and I declare I held my breath in expectation of what would come next. Mr. C. and I were talking about that very thing this morning, and he said, if any one asks you what I am doing now, tell them, it is none of their dashed business, but she said it, the naughty word, right square out, and if you could have seen Mrs. S.'s face, you would know why we burst into such a laugh. Then Mrs. Rice, who is acting president, you know, Mrs. Bryan Nugent is away, rapped for silence. It is your turn, Mrs. S., said Mrs. C., as though nothing had happened, and you may not believe it, but it is the honest truth, Mrs. S. was so excited that she led from her short suit.

Heavens, you don't mean it, exclaimed the lady as she went on picking basting threads.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
