LORD OF AIR AND OF SEA.

THE EMPEROR OF GERMANY HAS A DOUBLE AMBITION.

Zeppelin's Great Voyage—In the Air
for Four Hours Covering Distance of Hundred and Fifty Miles—
Prince Henry's Opinion of Airships in War.

Kiel, March 22.—Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Emperor William, gave an illustrated lecture before the Aero Club last Saturday concerning his five-hour voyage in the Zeppelin airship on Oct. 27 last. This is the first narrative of the personal experiences of the Prince to be made public. He expressed himself as skeptical of the usefulness of air craft in the present development for war purposes, owing to their inherent weaknesses and the lack of knowledge of air currents. The deafening noise of the motors and propellers would betray the presence of the craft to the enemy while it was yet long distance away. Flights at high altitudes are difficult because of the rarity of the atmosphere. The propeller does not have the same force, and there is scarcely enough oxygen to spark the motor.

The royal lecturer described his turn at the wheel, and concluded by saying: Although the steering tackle is not yet ideal, yet the great ship answered the helm as easily as a steam power.

After a picturesque description of the easy landing on the surface of the water, which was effected absolutely without shock, the Prince went on to draw conclusions from his experience.

"The question of reaching a certain point by means of a dirigible airship in favorable weather," he said, "may rightly be deemed to have been solved, and astonishment is aroused at the simple technical means employed. I am rather skeptical, however, whether airships can be considered as forming part of our present means of transport or whether they would be useful for war purposes. The air currents have not been made the subject of close research, while airships are not yet able to make much progress against even moderate winds. To overcome these difficulties more powerful motors and bigger airships are needed."

CARRIED TWENTY-SIX PERSONS.
New York, March 22.—A special cable to the New York American from Berlin says: Soaring like a mighty bird, Count Zeppelin's dirigible airship, the largest in the world, yesterday crossed a record for weight carried in its cruising the sky.

The huge dirigible ascended from its quarters at Lake Constance bearing Count Zeppelin, ten aeronauts of the German army, and fifteen soldiers. Never before in the brief history of aerostatics has an airship made a successful flight with a crew of 26 persons.

The comparatively great weight carried in the flight also convinced the military men that the dirigible could, with equal facility, carry an equal weight of explosives. The next test of efficiency will come when a demonstration will be made by Count Zeppelin firing explosives from his airship. The success of that test will establish, it is believed, the necessity of aerial navies.

The airship which made the record in 445 feet long, with a diameter of 91.2 feet. It has three motors, each of 145 horse-power, its speed is as high as 50 miles per hour. The airship is fitted with wireless, has powerful searchlights, and cost over $100,000. Kaiser Wilhelm was officially notified of the record trip and immediately telegraphed his delight at its success. Especially was the Kaiser pleased at the proof that the airship will inevitably be an important factor in the wars of the future.

As a result of the trip he will in all probability ask a large appropriation from the Reichstag to build an aerial navy which will surpass all others in existence. The idea of airships as transports for troops has long been the dream of Count Zeppelin, and he has been working to perfect his most recent airship so that its weight-bearing capacity would be increased to a degree unheard of in the history of aerostatics.

All Germany was interested to-day in the possibilities of an aerial navy.

RYAN MURDER CASE

PRISONER IS CHARGED WITH KILLING HIS BROTHER.

Alleged Forger Acquired—Assistant
Postmaster at Elk Lake Tried at Opening of the North Bay Assizes.

North Bay, Ont., March 22.—The High Court of Justice opened before Judge Latchford to-day. The case of Morris Ryan, charged with the murder of his brother, was put over until tomorrow on account of a material witness not being able to reach North Bay to-day.

The case of Edgar Cahill was taken up, the charge being a theft of a money order and the forgery of the payee's name at Elk Lake post office. The chief witnesses for the prosecution were Post Office Inspector Boldue, who swore that accused admitted to him that he cashed the order in question, and Almon Payne, handwriting expert, of Ottawa, who gave his opinion that the writing of the accused bore the same characteristics and were written by the same hand.

Judge Latchford charged in favor of the prisoner, and the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. Cahill is a young man, barely 20 years of age, and was assistant postmaster at Elk Lake. He was put in the box as witness and his straightforward evidence helped his case.

IN SISTER'S HOUSE.

Companion of Burglar Brother Nearly Kills Her.

Montreal, March 22.—With a loaded revolver in his possession, Frederick M. Clark, 30 years of age, of Wellington street, who detectives had been looking for since Saturday week on a charge of housebreaking and attempting to murder his sister, was picked up in West Craig street to-night.

Clark and a companion broke into his brother's house, 947 Wellington street, Point St. Charles, a week ago Saturday, and when discovered in the basement by Miss Sarah Clark, they rained blows on her head with an iron bar until she fell bleeding and unconscious at their feet.

An Irish terrier and a collie attacked the two men and alarmed another sister, who when upstairs in bed. It was a few minutes after 7 o'clock in the morning, and when the girl upstairs raised a window and shouted for help, the men who were in the house fled out the back and made their escape. Before Miss Clark was felled by an iron bar, she recognized her brother and despite her appeal, "Oh, Fred, you would not, you would not kill your sister," she was struck down by his companion.

Deadly Consumption Starts From Catarrh

Thousands Think Catarrh is Cold,
Neglect It and Die.

Last year forty per cent. of all deaths were from consumption. These people all had catarrh in the first place, but neglected it.

Can't you realize the awful, horrible mistake of not curing catarrh now?

To thoroughly root out all taints of Catarrh, nothing can act so beneficially as "Catarrhazone," which is acknowledged by all doctors to be a specific for all forms of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, throat, nose and chest ailments.

The reason why Catarrhazone cures when other treatments fail are very simple. In the first place Catarrhazone reaches the true source of the disease. Very few, if any, of the ordinary cures can do this. Catarrhazone is carried along with the air you breathe through the mouth, throat and bronchial tubes. Its antiseptic vapor at once kills any germs that may be lurking in these air passages. No matter how remote these germs are, they can't possibly escape Catarrhazone; it goes everywhere the air you breathe goes, and no air cell or air passage can escape its healing influence. The strong point about Catarrhazone is its ability to go direct to the spot where the catarrh germ is working. Every breath through the inhaler means instant death to the microbes, and gives the sufferer relief from the gnawing, destructive action of these parasites. It must be remembered, also, that Catarrhazone is a marvellous healer. It soothes the inflamed membranes, patches up the little sore spots, and removes the sensitive, tender feeling from the nose and throat. Of course, the discharge of mucus stops at once. Catarrhazone prevents this entirely.

Another nasty system that quickly disappears is the dropping of vile discharge from the throat into the stomach. Catarrhazone clears out the nostrils so that you don't have to breathe through the mouth. Hawking and spitting stop because the discharge is cleared up. The blinding headache that is caused by nothing else than catarrh is also lifted from your burden, and life begins to look happy once more.

Complete treatment, including beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler and extra supply of liquid, costs $1.00, and is guaranteed to cure or your money back. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c, at all druggists, or by mail from The Catarrhazone Company, Kingston, Ont.

The Evening Bulletin made its first appearance on Monday at Prince Rupert.

"The Witching Hour," Augustus Thomas' famous four-act play in which the possibilities of telepathy are dealt with, was presented at the Grand last night before a large audience, by a well-balanced company. The verdict was favorable to the play and the players. The most pleasing feature of the performance was that the players were well cast and none was outclassed—it was a case of presenting an American play on the English plan.

The play is on original lines, and the central figure is Jacob Brookfield, who has amassed a fortune by placing his house at the disposal of men in high social position who desire to play poker—gamble. Unknown to himself, he is possessed of psychic power, which enables him to divine the cards his opponents hold, and which also gives him similar knowledge of the draws of the cards. It is not until Justice Prentice visits him that he begins to realize the influence that mental suggestion might exercise in the world, and it is a great deal later—after his nephew, propelled by an hereditary distaste of a jewel known as the "Griffin's Eye," has committed a murder—that he comes to recognize that he shares in a mystic power that should only be used in the attainment of objects of the highest good. Even if the plot were not too complex and subtle to admit of an extended synopsis, it would perhaps detract from the interest of the future auditor were an explanation given of how the tragic occurrence mentioned is finally brought to a happy end.

These two figures stand out prominently in all four acts. While the other characters are secondary to these, they were well portrayed. Mr. Howard Gould, in the role of the professional gambler, and Mr. Charles Marles, as a member of the Supreme Court, gave forceful and striking characterizations. Almost perfect was Mr. Marles' delineation of the aged jurist, whose love of other days, exhibiting delicate fragments of his mind, in his vision, floats through his study in the early morning hours, and at that crucial time, gives him the power to assist greatly in the deliverance of a young man from a felon's fate. Frederick Roberts was strong in the role of an Associate Judge, and Ed. See was a typical old sporting man of the southern school. He provided most of the comedy in the play.

Miss Alina Chester, Jack's sister; Miss Eleanor Barry, as mother of the condemned young man; and Miss Janet Dunbar, as Jack's niece, filled their roles gracefully, and Miss Barry did some fine emotional acting.

The popular play will be repeated at the Grand this evening, and is deserving of a large house.

TWO REAL THRILLERS.
"For Her Children's Sake," a very popular melodrama, comes to the Grand next Friday evening for one performance. The play is familiar to Hamilton theatregoers, and has always pleased its audience. Like all plays of this class, "For Her Children's Sake" is not without a novelty, having for a feature a circus performance.

At the Grand next Saturday matinee and night the attraction is the domestic melodrama, "Human Hearts," which will be presented by a good company. Its pathos is effective; its mirth irresistible, and its dramatic situations strong and stirring. It will be presented fully, both in its setting and in the action which will reveal with marked clearness and force its plot.

COLE AND JOHNSON.
Special care has been given the selection of the costumes of the dusky belles of the Cole and Johnson company, which comes to the Grand next Monday evening. The costumes are in keeping with their swarthy complexions and the management has spared no expense to provide the correct textures and proper effects. The production, it is said, will be the most elaborate and costly ever given by the company.

SHERLOCK HOLMES.
To the Editor of the Times:

Now that Mr. Selman has put on the play "The Sign of the Four," with marked success, would he, if time permits, give us one of these other stagings, say of Sherlock Holmes in the cast entitled "The Case of Miss Faulkner." Such a play I am sure would meet with success, being deeper in some ways than "The Sign of the Four," and introducing in the play the mystery and treacherous character, Prof. Moriarty.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH CONCERT.
The annual concert given by First Methodist Church choir will be held this evening in the church. The choir will render a programme of miscellaneous music and will be assisted by Mrs. Alfred Jury, Buffalo's leading soprano; C. Victor Hutchison, tenor, and W. H. Hewlett, Mrs. Bae. Goumond's great work "Gallia," will be sung by the choir and Mrs. Jury and C. Victor Hutchison will be heard with the choir in Goumond's "Sanctus," from the "Messe Solenne."

The Buffalo Express has the following to say of Mrs. Jury's work with the Choir: "The Sign of the Four," and introducing in the play the mystery and treacherous character, Prof. Moriarty.

UNION HORSE EXCHANGE.
Over 100 Horses Offered, Quality of Many Being Excellent.

There was good attendance and a lively interest taken in the regular Monday sale of horses at the Union Horse Exchange, West Toronto. Over 100 horses were offered and about 75 sold at about steady prices for the general run. There were some top notches in the sale, 12 in all, brought in by Groff & Auman, of Elmira, Waterloo County, Ont., the best seen on the market this winter. Three pairs of these averaged 1500 pounds each, and three pairs of Messrs. Groff & Auman's lot were sold at the following prices: $442.50, $432.50, $397.50 and $392.50, which is an average of $208 per horse. Mr. Smith reports the general run of sales as follows: Draughts, $180 to $195; general purpose, $130 to $165; expressers, $140 to $192.50; drivers, $100 to $150; serviceably sound, $30 to $85 each.

The annual sale of registered Canadian and imported fillies and mares will be held at these stables on Friday next. Over 50 entries for this sale are now on the books and it is expected that as many more will be made before the day of the sale.

Why Is Fat?

Is it because one is born with the tendency? Or is it due to "fatty trials," or is it due to just plain, hearty appetite? The doctors say not any one of these phrases the question correctly. They say fat is because the fat person's digestive organs, it seems, don't change the fatty foods eaten by stout persons into heat and energy, as they should. Instead the food fats pass on into the system unconsumed. Hence fat layers accumulate under the chin, abdomen, shoulder blades, etc.

Let that digestive defect be corrected and the formerly fat person goes back to his or her original shape. You can prove this on yourself. Seventy-five cents will secure from your druggist one of the large cases of Marmola Prescription Tablets recently licensed for sale by the Marmola Company, of Detroit, Mich. Take one of these tablets after each meal and at bedtime and the demonstration starts right there. Very soon you will experience a new sense of digestive comfort and a delightful feeling of increased energy, which should be followed in due season by a gradual, uniform decrease of your fat.

During the demonstration period you eat and drink as formerly, remember. The tablets need no help from either dieting or exercising, nevertheless the daily loss should approximate ten to sixteen ounces a day.

Now, WHY is it you get thin? Why is it the fat just seems to slip away, leaving your flesh smooth, firm and wrinkleless? Simply because Marmola corrects that digestive defect, thereby stopping further fat accumulation and enabling the body forces to harmlessly dissolve what has already gathered.

CHARLTON S. S.

Annual Entertainment of the School Held Last Night.

The concert in connection with the 34th anniversary of the Sunday school, held in Charlton Avenue Methodist Church last evening, was well attended, and immensely enjoyed by all. The entire programme was under the charge of the Carey brothers, and the entertainment they provided showed that they were worthy of the confidence placed in them. Songs were rendered by these talented young men, and much appreciated by the audience. The moving pictures were of the kind that pleased all, some being amusing, some instructive, and all interesting. The Superintendent, Mr. J. H. Turner, occupied the chair.

When the Nerves get out of Tune

And nervous prostrations or partial paralysis brings you to a bed of helplessness. You can remember the case described here and revitalize the wasted nervous system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is so easy to neglect derangements of the nerves until something serious happens. We say happens because many persons do not think they are really sick until they are laid low by nervous prostration or some form of paralysis.

They look the headache, the nervous indigestion, the irritability and nervousness, the loss of sleep and energy and ambition. They forget that for weeks or months life has been more or less of a drag.

Then went the nervous collapse comes it takes patient and persistent treatment to get you on your feet again. The nerve cells must be gradually built up and a little more energy added to the system each day than is expended. Get in the sunshine, breathe the fresh air, rest and use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and you will get well. But you must be patient and persistent.

Mr. Wm. Graham, Atwood, Ont., writes: "My wife had been ill for some time with nervous prostration and two of the best doctors we could get failed to help her. She gradually became worse and worse, could not sleep and lost energy and interest in life. She was giving up in despair when a friend advised a treat of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

"From the first box of this preparation my wife used we noticed improvement and now she is completely cured and as well as she ever was, eats well, sleeps well and feels fully restored. I am satisfied that my wife owes her life to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food." 50c a box of boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Ed. Manson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE NAVAL SCARE.
Premier Asquith Makes Explanation in the House.

Britain Still Leads in the Matter of Armaments.

London, March 22.—In the House of Commons to-day, replying to a question whether, without detriment to the public interest, he could say upon what occasion Great Britain had approached Germany with regard to a material reduction on naval expenditures, Prime Minister Asquith said that the matter during last year had more than once formed the subject of informal communications between the two Governments, with a view, on the part of Great Britain, of ascertaining whether such proposals would be entertained by Germany.

The Government had not formulated any proposals to Germany, because it had been given to understand that the German naval programme had been fixed by law and was in no way dependent upon anything Great Britain might do. Prime Minister Asquith also made a statement in vindication of the Government's naval programme, with reference to which Mr. Arthur Balfour last Friday gave notice of a motion of censure on Government. Mr. Asquith said that not only was there no friction, but no unfriendliness between England and Germany, but a mutual sense existed of what was due to the independence of two great peoples and a mutual feeling that each must have regard to its own interests in matters of national defence. He condemned the mischievous legends to which currency had been given as the most unscrupulous misrepresentation of the actual situation he had ever experienced.

COMPARATIVE STRENGTH OF NAVIES.
Mr. Asquith then submitted the facts of the case, which, he said, were that England's first Dreadnought had cruised 30,000 miles, and great value was attached to the experience thus gained. But it was a mistake to multiply stereotyped reproductions of the new type in early years. At the end of this year England would have seven Dreadnoughts in commission. He anticipated that Germany then would have two. In 1912 England would have 40 first-class battleships, with a total displacement of 385,000 tons, exclusive of Dreadnoughts. Germany would have 20 first-class battleships, with a total displacement of 241,000 tons. England would have 35 cruisers and Germany 8. It was essential that these facts should be known since they referred to the finest fleet that had ever ridden the waters. In the meantime he appealed to the House, in the interests of the nation, that whatever party might be in power the first care would be to maintain intact and unassailable the supremacy upon which Great Britain's freedom depends.

The Central News understands that the Government and Opposition whips have decided that Mr. Balfour's motion of censure of the Government shall be discussed next Monday.
