Most of the Monarchs of Europe Have Made Monarchs in Shrewd Speculation in Business Undertakings.

Monarchs are not above making money. And perhaps the King should be given first place among reigning Sovereigns for shrewd commercialism. He makes a strong point of cultivating the friendship of financial magnates, not only in his own, but in other countries as well.

The Kaiser has some very large holdings in the Hamburg-American Steamship Line. He is extensively interested in the German-Welt line enterprises of German West Africa. His connection with the West forests of Africa in the Congo, Cameroons and Gabon is a private estate. He carries on a large lumber business. His horse-breeding establishment in Western Germany brings him in a handsome revenue. He is the principal stakeholder in the municipal beer-brewery at Hanover. And he carries on an extensive manufacturing of pottery on his private estates at Cadien.

GATHERING GOLDEN GRAIN

Gustavus, the present ruler of the Swedes, is a total abstainer. On coming to the throne, he disposed of his late father's extensive brewing interests. He still retains many other profitable investments. He has money in mills and mines, and he seldom neglects to visit the mines of the Grand Hotel in Stockholm, in which he is by far the largest shareholder.

He is a successful speculative builder. In this way: When property in the slum districts of the Swedish metropolis is going dirt cheap, along comes the King and buys it. And soon on the sites of the dilapidated buildings rise handsome houses and thoroughfares which increase the value of the property many times over.

Few monarchs have shown themselves cleverer managers of a wife's property than the King of Denmark. By shrewd investments he has already multiplied its value many times. In a large number of his enterprises he is associated with his Royal Brother, King George of Greece, who possesses an immense fortune, which he uses in a great measure to undertake certain operations in American grain about thirty-five years ago, which the closing of Odessa and other Southern Russian seaports to the export of grain, owing to the war with Turkey, rendered extremely profitable.

From the sale of beer, the Prince Regent of Bavaria draws immense sums. His wealth is grim, dirty taverns in which the Royal Court has been sold for the last three centuries. You never see a waiter or waitress. You must attend to your own wants, whether you be prince or peasant. Indeed, when the Kaiser visited Munich, he and the Bavarian Princess took their place in the street, and awaited their turn for a stone mug, which they themselves rinsed out!

REASONABLE REQUEST

It was a cold night. The traveller inquired at the only hotel in the little town if he could be lodged for the night, and was informed that it was full up.

"But you must give me some sort of accommodation," said the stranger. "Surely you don't want me to sleep under the starry but chilly skies?"

"Well," said the proprietor, "the best we can do is to make you up a bed in the passage and curtain it off for you." And so it was arranged.

In the dark watches of the night the traveller awoke. A freezing draught chilled him, and the sheet which had been hung up as a partition was blowing merrily in the breeze. The traveller rose and shouted for the landlord.

"What is it?" queried a voice from the stairhead.

"Please," said the stranger, timidly, "may I have a paper of pins to lock my bedroom door with?"

THE SILENT JAP

The Japanese, alone of all races, utter no sound when engaged in combat. From this national trait springs the curious regulation which prevents Japanese regiments from possessing bands, bugles, or drums. Orders are given verbally, or by means of signals with the hand or sword. No trumpets sound the charge, no drums beat the tattoo, and no bugles wake the troops with their ringing calls.

A FAIR OFFER

It was a political meeting in the East during the last recess, and the M. P., an exceptionally popular man was addressing his constituents. The politician in question rejoiced in a luxuriant crop of hair. The audience was sympathetic for the most part, but there was one man in the front row of the audience who made numerous interruptions. He was a coal-heaver, apparently, and had recently been heaving coals.

"Get your hair cut!" he shouted, during a most pathetic passage in the candidate's speech. The well-known catch phrase seemed particularly applicable, so a good many of the audience laughed.

But the M.P. was equal to the occasion.

"I will make a bargain with the gentleman," he said. "I will get my hair cut if he will get his hair washed."

There were no more interruptions.

Brennan: "What's the matter with you?"

Winn: "Better enough. You know as well as I do I am going to get my hair cut to-day."

15 YEARS A DYSPEPTIC

Forced to Live on Stale Bread and Porridge.

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" CURED HIM

AVONDALE, N. B., October, 1911.

"I have been a great sufferer from Indigestion for fifteen years. I was forced to deny myself all such hearty foods as beans, meats, potatoes and could not drink tea or coffee. For the past two years, I lived on porridge, stale bread, etc. I had treatment from two doctors, and tried nearly every kind of medicine, but got worse.

"Finally, I saw a testimonial of 'Fruit-a-lives' and concluded to give them a trial. I took nearly four boxes of 'Fruit-a-lives' and they have made me feel like a new man. I can eat all kinds of hearty foods without suffering, and am no longer constipated."

LEMUEL A. W. BROWN.

Many people look on 'Fruit-a-lives' as a miraculous medicine. It has indeed, performed what have seemed like miraculous cures in hundreds of cases of chronic Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation and Biliousness.

'Fruit-a-lives' is the only medicine in the world made of fresh fruit juices and valuable tonics. See a box for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

ITALIANS NOT GAINING IN TRIPOLI

London, April 4.—The Italians have created an entirely false impression of the real situation in Tripoli, according to Geo. G. Abbott, the well known writer, who has spent the last four months in the Turkish headquarters in Tripoli and has just returned to London.

Mr. Abbott declares that the Italian troops dare not quit their fortified trenches since they missed the psychological moment after their capture of the city of Tripoli at the beginning of the war.

The Italian blunder in changing the status of the country on paper instead of occupying it by garrisons has given the Turkish troops and their Arab allies plenty of time to rally their forces. When Mr. Abbott left Tripoli on March 18 the Arabs were still flocking up in large numbers daily from the south and swearing never "to submit to the invaders."

Mr. Abbott found that the Italians' position was being weakened daily while the Turks and Arabs were continually becoming stronger. The latter are well supplied with money and food, he says, which have been contributed from all parts of the Mohammedan world. He continues: "Fever has proved more formidable to them than the Italian fire but for one sick Arab there are probably ten sick Italians."
