Pretty Miss Hobbs.

Out Saloons in Lively Fashion. Governor's Private Secretary, Town Under Martial Law, Between Trains. (Claps Mayor Councillors in Jail. Will Ash Saloon Fixtures Before Injunction Can be Obtained.

Perfield, Oregon, Jan. 3.—With saloons closed, an armed guard at entrance of each, and with Mayor Recorder Clarke and three men in jail, Copperfield was a martial law today. Miss Fern Governor West's pretty private secretary, had made good the town's promise that she would clean up the town betrays.

Miss Hobbs left town on the same train which she arrived, but during brief stay things happened. After the saloons were closed, the Mayor and Councilors were charged with violating the State laws. They are now in jail. Town Government was then over to Colonel Lawson, of the Penitentiary, five militiamen, two penitentiary guards.

Corries for the saloon keepers, are preparing injunctions to prevent the destruction of the saloon fixtures, but they will probably be destroyed before service can be rendered. The men found every man armed, and promptly confiscated all weapons.

Miss Hobbs will return if the situation does not improve. Residents of town recently asked the Governor to clean out the saloons.

For Sale a Motor Car.

Motor-car is to be had for a mere trifle in Philadelphia. Its last owner, Stewart Owens, a student at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, just died as the result of the car being run into a tree after narrowly missing collision with a telegraph pole. He was the seventh to be killed by the car. The first accident occurred in March, 1911, when the motor fell over an embankment and killed one of the occupants. In Jan. it swerved and plunged into a ditch, and its five occupants were killed. Now it has slain its sixth, and the present owner is said to be willing to dispose of it for a mere song.—Standard.

Dies at Great Age.

Farmer One Hundred and Five Years Old.

South Norwalk, Conn., January 7.—John Weeks, who for many years held the distinction of being the oldest man in the State, died at his home here today, at the age of 105 years and six months.

He was one of nineteen children of John and Sarah Weeks, and was born on a farm in the Bronx. A sister, Mrs. Phoebe Wills of Winton, now ninety-five, is the sole survivor of the family. The youngest to die was sixty-two. Mr. Weeks will be buried on Thursday in Woodlawn.

He lived on the Bronx farm until 1830, when he migrated to Tennessee and had a plantation there. At the outbreak of the war he returned to New York and served in the police department and later in the fire department, under Chief Kelsey. He retired years ago and came here to live.

Famous Streets.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE.
By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Straws." Pennsylvania Avenue was invented by a Frenchman, Major L'Enfant, but has since come to be more American than any other street in the nation.

It is not only the principal thoroughfare of Washington, D.C., but it is the principal way to fame, glory and political success. Half the politicians of this country dream at night of the day when they will march proudly up Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol of the United States and take a seat in Congress; while half the members of Congress dream of the day when they will be hauled back over the same street between cheering thousands to the White House.

Pennsylvania Avenue is not the longest street in the world, but it is so wide that the government wasn't able to see across the south side of it for almost a century and allowed it to grow up like an amateur's garden in July. It connects the Capitol with the White House and a good many times has been the only connection between the two. This stretch of Pennsylvania Avenue is only a mile-long and contains more statesmen, diplomats, army officers, politicians, tourists and public buildings per block than any other American street.

The famous part of Pennsylvania Avenue begins with magnificence at the Capitol and loops from splendor to decay many times before it reaches the White House. It has massive, palatial hotels where the new Congressman's salary is taken charge of by the bell boy on his arrival and twenty-five cent lodging houses. It has the 287 foot dome of the Capitol and the 300 foot tower of the postoffice and also a number of one story buildings built after the Pat Flaherty style of hodgepodge architecture. Visitors are shown the gratings in the sidewalk through which the slaves got air when they were being held for market and also the handsomely furnished rooms in the Capitol where the slaves of Aldrich and Cannon were once confined. The patriots of the Union Army marched up Pennsylvania Avenue in 1865, and every four years since the patriots of the winning party have marched down the Avenue to the White House in a solid body armed with indorsements from their Congressmen.

No American should be content until he has seen Pennsylvania Avenue; and no Congressman should be content until he has helped make it more decent seeing.

Household Notes

When a hot iron is needed, in a hurry, put a cake tin on the stove instead of one of the regular stove irons and set the iron on it.

Keep in the cellar a few onions which you allow to send up shoots. They are delicious in winter salads or to rub the salad bowl with.

Bread sauce should never be served stiff and sticky, but smooth and free from lumps. The sauce should not boil after adding the bread.

Steel articles should be dusted daily and once a week polished alternately with fine emery paper and emery powder mixed with oil or paraffin. A delicious icing is made with 1½ pounds icing sugar, three whites of eggs and the juice of a lemon. Blend thoroughly and beat hard for half an hour.

The cellar is the foundation, in a sense, of the household health. See that it is kept clean, aired and dry. Walls should be lime-washed twice a year.

Benares brass may be kept in good condition simply washing once a month in warm soapsuds with borax in it. Use a brush if very dirty. If hung in the water for a coating inside the teakettle it may be removed with vinegar or sulphuric acid. Be careful to wash the kettle afterward.

Cut short pieces of white passe-partout paper and type or print on the names of jellies, preserves, etc. Being already gummed, they will save trouble.

If you are afraid of draughts, have screens covered with coarse muslin to fit into your windows just like ordinary fly screens and use them at night.

A matter of vital consideration in a successful home is the color of the rooms. It should be simple and restful always, because home is a place of refuge.

Barley is not used as extensively as it should be. It is excellent in soups and delicious as a cereal, but in the latter case it needs long cooking in a double boiler.

A great deal of fire expense may be removed from aluminum cooking utensils by oxalic acid crystals—four tablespoonfuls to a gallon of water. Let boil in the dishes for five minutes, then wash them and rinse carefully.

For apple tuff, stew four large apples till tender, pass through a sieve, add sugar to taste, a little spice and the whites of two eggs. Whisk the whole till fluffy and pile high in a glass dish or serve in jelly glasses.

DO NOT INVEST

Until you have seen what our travellers can now offer you.

Our various travellers and local representatives are now out on their January itinerancy, and within the next few weeks will have covered every important centre in the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

We bespeak for them a hearing from the investing public. The prestige of this Investment House justifies that. Your own best interests demand it.

It would be idle for us to say that they have a desirable assortment of the better class securities to present for your approval on the outright and instalment plans of payment. We know that the public expect much of us. Therefore in selecting our January list of investment offerings we have endeavored to maintain the conservative traditions for which this House has been noted since its founding in 1873.

If desired, a special appointment can be arranged with the nearest representative in your district by communicating with our Halifax Office. But no obligation to purchase is thus entailed.

A Splendid Bill

AT THE NICKEL THEATRE.

The programme given at the Nickel Theatre last evening was one of the finest for some time, and in spite of the storm there was a large attendance. The feature film was Sir Jas. M. Barrie's famous play "The Little Minister" which is in three reels. It was splendidly acted by the Vitagraph actors with all star caste. Mr. Rudolph L. Koch sang the popular tenor solo, "Let me like a Soldier Fall," in a manner which delighted everyone. The programme will be repeated this evening and all Nickel patrons should make an effort to attend or they will miss one of the best shows. To-morrow there will be a holiday programme.

Another Plea for Our Firemen.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—In last evening's edition of your paper I made an appeal to the citizens to show greater interest in our Fire Brigade, believing as I do that it is only by public sentiment asserting itself in this matter, that we can hope to arouse the Powers that be to a sense of their duty. To-night I make an appeal to every honest legislator who sits in the House of Assembly, now in session, to do his part in securing decent wages for these men. It is nothing short of a disgrace in this age to dole out a miserable salary of thirty-eight dollars a month to men who risk their lives in the faithful discharge of their duty to the public. No more popular movement could be made than to increase the salaries to fifty dollars per month especially at this time when rents and coal are high and the cost of keeping a family correspondingly hard. I will watch this matter closely and intend to use every means that lies in my power to secure an increase of pay for the firemen, for it is an injustice to expect them to eke out a miserable existence with the pay that they now receive, and at the same time look for efficient service from them. Let no time be lost in granting this request on behalf of our gallant firemen, for I firmly believe that were a public meeting called to deal with this question, the taxpayers of the city would certainly agree that an increase of salary is entirely justifiable. With your permission, Mr. Editor, I will return to this subject again, if the matter is not attended to at an early date.

Yours sincerely,

VOLUNTEER.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.
Gentlemen,—Last winter I received great benefit from the use of MINARD'S LINIMENT in a severe attack of LaGrippe, and I have frequently proved it to be very effective in cases of inflammation.

Stormy On Coast.

Vessels coming on the coast during Sunday night's storm must have had a trying experience. Two of our vessels are now due from Pernambuco, and if they were out trying to make the land they no doubt ran south, as it was impossible to hold the land during such a storm.
