

Shipwrecked Crew Reaches Halifax.

Halifax, Feb. 24.—How Captain Joseph Legge and his crew of five had worked night and day and without much to eat for several days, to reach their vessel, the Mabel D. Hines, kept was related to the Mail this morning by Capt. Legge. "We would not have been able to have remained as long as we did," said Captain Legge to the Mail this morning. "The vessel was leaking badly and it was getting beyond our power to keep the water out."

The schooner was bound to Newfoundland, where she is owned by James Chalker and was valued at about $5,000. She was loaded with salt and was on a trip from Gibraltar to Newfoundland when she sprang a leak and had to be abandoned on Feb. 21st. The captain and crew were rescued by the Dutch-Hall liner, which was passing nearby, and were taken to New York, reaching there last Saturday.

The Mabel D. Hines sailed from Gibraltar on January 1st and good weather was experienced until the 12th, when a big storm arose and continued with unabated fury until the 21st. By that time the vessel had sprung a leak and water was pouring in much faster than the men were able to pump it out, working night and day.

"On the day before we were rescued, the water gained twenty-four inches in twelve hours," said Capt. Legge. "On the night of the 4th we sighted a steamer and signalled to her and some hours later she came alongside. The weather was too bad for us to leave our vessel and during that night we were forced to remain on our water-tight ship, the steamer standing alongside. In the morning we were rescued and before leaving the ship I set her on fire. The last we saw of the ship she was in flames." Capt. Legge said that he lost everything except the clothes he wore. He had valuable nautical instruments, all of which were lost.

It's a real tonic containing cod liver extract, extract of malt, wild cherry and hypophosphites—a splendid combination.

Your Boys and Girls.

The greatest need is that mothers should have the whole confidence of their children. At school the child, in due time, should learn the fundamentals of life from elementary biology, and at home, the mother should, on suitable occasions, frankly explain to her child its relationship to its parents, and she should surround that explanation with the strongest sentiment of love and respect.

Surely parents cannot believe that their children learn nothing of these things on the street and among their schoolmates. It cannot be said too frequently that the only way to ensure a clean and healthy mind in a child is through the complete frankness of the mother.
