

Beyond the Layman.

Yesterday morning, in the most accidental way, I came to know that Judge Morris was correct. I at once called on His Honor after a pleasant conference we had decided not to withdraw it from publication.

In regard to the major matters, the fine of one dollar for first offence, ten dollars for second, and twenty dollars for third, are within twelve months, and the listing of which under a prohibition law is ipso facto disorderly conduct. His Honor informed me that he had only one solution of this tangle in beyond the layman. Possibly prosecution should be made under the nuisance law, as the court should take account that the fundamental law has changed from Home to present. Certainly there should be no discharge for first offences, and the court should be increasing penalties for continuous law-breaking. His Honor assures me that he will give careful attention to these suggestions.

Yours faithfully,
CHARLES H. JOHNSON.

Boosting Basket Ball.

A movement is now on foot for the organization of a Basket Ball League in the city and teams are now being organized and are getting in readiness for a series of games which will be played during the winter. Basket Ball is an excellent indoor game and should be popular during the cold months. The C.L.B. Cadets and the C.C.C. have organized their respective armoured, and the Methodist, Baptist and Wesleyan Field Colleges have also organized their teams. Those who possess the opinion that Basket Ball is merely a girl's game will find their idea an erroneous one if ever they engage in a real game.

Hospital Without Supplies.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
MARTIN, RUSSIA, Oct. 11.—(By Associated Press)—The lack of medicine in Russian hospitals becomes acute here. It is even worse than in the Volga. Tzaritsin has 10 hospitals, none of which has a sufficient stock of medicine. The daily food of the convalescents consists of one dish of hot soup, one-sixth of a pound of meat and three-quarters of a pound of bread. The Soviet government formerly supplied all medicines free to hospital patients and the general public, but it ceased doing so some months ago.

THIN AND HUNGRY.

Doctors and hospital attendants are thin and hungry despite the fact that Tzaritsin now is the best and cheapest centre in the entire Volga district. Here the public market is fully supplied. But as in other Volga cities, prices around the periphery of most of the hospitals are high. The market lies between the river and the railway station, at each of which may be seen from 5,000 to 10,000 refugees in various conditions of underfeeding. They are living in cold mud. Many refugees are arriving from points as far as Orenburg, where the crops are ruined. They are arriving to reach Tzaritsin and the Volga district, but the trains are irregular, due to bad railroads and to the "green army" bands. Some Bolshevik peasants who sometimes come to the city and otherwise interfere with the train, there is no business in Tzaritsin district now. Its army is idle. Members of the solid army are idle. Their pay and rations have been cut since the Russian civil war in the south has ended.

Slideways for Kiddies.

Now that the winter season is approaching the kiddies are looking for a fall of snow that they may get out with their slides and skates. As parents with small children are always anxious when they are sliding on the hills of the city, would it not be a good suggestion for the Municipal Commission to arrange to make several slides ways and small rinks in convenient parts of the city. One of these would be Bannerman Park. A nice rink and slideway (for kiddies) could be made there without great expense, and one of the present caretakers of the park could be employed to keep everything in order.

Wedding Bells.

MILLS—MCNEILL.

St. Thomas's church was the scene of a quiet but very pretty wedding last evening when Mr. Harvey McNeill was united in the Holy bonds of matrimony to Mildred, eldest daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Frederick Mills. The bride, who was given away by her father, was very prettily attired in a fawn coloured costume with hat to match and carried a beautiful bouquet of flowers. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Mills, while the groom was ably supported by his brother, Mr. S. J. McNeill. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Capt. Clayton. After the nuptial knot had been tied a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Beaumont Street, where a very enjoyable evening was spent. The presents received were many and beautiful. It was long after midnight when Mr. and Mrs. McNeill were motored to their home on Golf Avenue, where they will reside in future.

The True Badge of Citizenship.

"Red Michael," of Red Deer, Alberta, or Dr. Michael Clark, is an outstanding public man in Canada. He was the friend and colleague of Gladstone and Grey, when residing in England, fought for an extension of suffrage, and for home rule for Ireland, and in Canada has been the foremost exponent of Free Trade, as Cobden and Bright understood it. As a Laurier Liberal, he became a Progressive, co-operating with leader Crevier until recently, breaking away on the ground that the Agrarian, or Western farmer, movement, was a class or group heresy. He is now a Liberal candidate. Recently, in a speech at Yorkton, Saskatchewan, he made the following points:

"I broke with the Progressive Party when in my judgment they ceased to be progressive," declared Dr. Clark, in opening his campaign as Liberal candidate in the Federal constituency of Saskatchewan. One of the largest crowds in the political history of the town fanned his audience. Dr. Clark stated that within the last few months the Progressive movement took on an "illiberal, narrow, intolerant and purely class aspect." Within the last few months movement had degenerated into a narrow autocratic class movement. My views about certain class movements are not the growth of the past few months. On March 5, 1920, speaking in Parliament, I used this language: "With what has fallen from these gentlemen about any one class permanently ruling this country I am in absolute agreement. The only logical and effective method is to combine upon common policy, sincerely held, as making for the public good, for which all should combine." He had been dubbed a political chameleon by critics, but he reminded these that the chameleon merely changed the color of his skin, underneath he remained the same.

"Our outlook must be dictated by national considerations. We must support these policies we believe to be good, not only for our own class, but for all classes in Canada. Our outlook must be national. This is what influences me in appearing in this constituency as a Liberal candidate." In another portion of his address, Dr. Clark said: "The caste to which a man belongs is an accidental thing, citizenship is the fundamental thing. Just imagine running society on the principle of herding the inhabitants of a country or province into separate industrial principles. It is a retrograde step. "Fancy the men of history being remembered according to the class to which they belonged. Robert Burns was a farmer, but who thinks of the great bard of Scotland as a member of a class. Manhood and womanhood is the true badge of citizenship today."
