LeRoy, Talma and Bosco at the Grand.

A small audience witnessed the excellent performance of magic given at the Grand last night by LeRoy, Talma and Bosco. It is regrettable that these clever people should receive so little encouragement in their efforts to present a clean and entertaining show. These three magicians showed themselves fully as expert in their various lines as any who have ever appeared in a local theater. Mile. Talma made an especial hit with her marvelous exhibition of palming with coins. Equally mystifying were the illusions with which the performance concluded, notably that of the "spirit materializations." The one-act romance, "The Feast of the Angels," as presented by Miss Pearl Charlton Seward, Mr. Ernest Howard, and Mr. Herbert Barrington, proved to lack body. . The Busche-Devere Company gave some musical novelties.

"A TRIP TO COONTOWN." Something new in musical comedy is promised for tomorrow night at the Grand, when Cole & Johnson present their big colored show, "A Trip to Coontown." The company has made a big hit everywhere, and its thirty or more artists are the very best in their respective specialties. "A Trip to Coontown" is said to be the best color-"A Trip to ed organization now before the public Some of the fairest daughters of their race will comprise the chorus. 'WHEN WE WERE TWENTY-ONE" "When We Were I wenty-One," which will be seen at the Grand Saturday afternoon and evening, gathers its interest from the comradeship which exists between four men in middle life. There had been five in the little circle of close friends, but one died, and the others devote themselves to the care and training of his son, a young scapegrace known as the Imp, who has barely reached the age of 21. The Imp has secretly contracted a marriage with an adventuress, and his guardian, Dick Carewe, and the others, seek to save him from the consequence of his indiscreet act.

A COMPOSITOR INTERVIEWED

The Nature of His Work Does Not Permit Him to Take Enough Exercise to Keep Himself in a Healthy Condition.

Celery King, He Finds From Its Mild. Potent Treatment, Is Just What He Wants.

"You must understand in the first place," said a compositor of one of the big Toronto dailies, "my work—that of setting type—allows me little chance for exercise, and is too confining for anybody who is the least subject to indigestion or dyspepsia. That has been my trouble for years, and I attribute the recent noticeable improvement in my condition to the occasional use of Celery King. I first heard of it through a fellow-compositor, who, on hearing my tale of woe one day, told me about Celery King, and told me that he would guarantee that it would act on the liver. I took it under protest, but was very much surprised with the result. It was gentle, but effective and since then I have noticed an entire change in the working of my system, and I think that Celery King is the best remedy for liver and stom-ach troubles this side of anywhere. It is really in my case a substitute for exercise. Remeber Celery King, the 25 cent

Property in News.

Chicago, Oct. 29. - An important principle of law was established yesterday when the United States court of appeals handed down an opinion to the effect that the Western Union Telegraph Company has a right of property in the news which it gathers, and that such right does not cease when the news is published on the tickers rented to its patrons. In laying down this new principle the court of appeals affirms two decisions of the lower court, and for-ever enjoins the National Telegraph News Company, the Illinois Commission Company and other defendants from using the quotations in question.

HUGGED TO DEATH BY BEAR. Hot Springs, Ark., Oct. 29.—At Harper Hollow, a resort near here, which, among other attractions, includes a zoo, a black bear fatally injured Robert Tatum, an 8-year-old boy. The lad was passing the animal, which was chained, but came too close, and before the horrified spectators could interfere the brute had the boy hugged to his breast. An interesting part of the instruction is that special value is attached to the ear. No two ears are alike. Therefore that organ is chosen as the base of the system employed. Close attention is also given to noses. Each policeman gets an album containing a thousand photographs, full face and profile, of persons expelled from Paris. To facilitate the research these portraits are grouped methodically according to height, ears and noses. It is believe that when the police become familiar with Bertillon's system, recognition of criminals will be greatly facilitated.
