Finally two ushers persuaded both women to jointly disappear, while the other, behind the choir, had to be carried out bodily. Then the great audience turned to the platform, but Campbell-Bannerman had taken his seat, satisfied that they had had enough. They also seemed satisfied. The country will have to be satisfied. The country will have to be.

Remarks passed by scores of other-store customers here, on Saturday, as to the difference between this Sale and other so-called "clearing" sales, leads us to emphasize this difference today.

It's not a sale of antique and out-of-date styles and patterns, shipped from any factory for this particular event. It's not a sale of slow sellers and poor patterns from our own stock. It's not the picking from half a dozen lines, marking them cheap, and trying to impress you with the fact that the whole stock is at bargain prices. It's a genuine marking down of every colored suit and overcoat in the big stock to the prices quoted below. It's positively the only sale you'll hear of this season, where the fact is guaranteed. The windows will give you samples of the values.
