The continental press is watching with some interest the appeal of the British East Africa Company for governmental assistance, in the matter of the railway to the interior, and doubts are entertained whether the taxpayers of "hypocritical" England will be inclined to support, with solid cash, the humanitarian views which were expressed in their name by the British plenipotentiaries at the anti-slavery conference of Brussels. To make a railway into the interior was recognized there as one of the most effective means of putting down slavery. All other successful enterprises, English or continental, peaceful or warlike, except the Niger company (for which nature has provided the means of transit in the numerous water ways of its sphere) have received Government help. The Eelgian Government has helped the Congo free state to a railway; the Cape Government is helping the British South Africa company to another; for what French settlements in Africa have oost, the French Government passes ready compensation. The Germans have already paid for their military establishment in East Africa more than the whole capital of the British East Africa company.

There being no endowments by which English Methodism can obtain fer its divinity students a proper university course, the number of university graduates is small, amounting in the case of the parent body to about one in twenty of the entire number, yet there is in the Wesleyan conference a growing dislike to American degrees, and fears are being expressed in leading circles, lest some of the English delegates to the Ecumenical conference should come back with cheap diplomas in their pockets. It is stated, this evening, that one reason why the Rev. E. Lloyd Jones, of Rhyla, went to Washington, was to enter a protest in the conference against the farce of giving "D.D.'s" to men who have never

The Rochdale statue of John Bright has been completed by Mr. Thornycroft, and will be in its place in front of the town hall, for unveiling, next Saturday. The figure, which is over nine feet high, is in bronze, and represents Mr. Bright in ordinery morning attire. He is in the act of speaking, with the right hand slightly outstretched, whilst the left holds some notes. The grand Leonine head is admirably modelled, the firmness of the face is well caught, and the natural action of the whole

$\frac{1}{2}$ week, over the Hanlan-McLean race, the failure of the citizens to raise more than $\frac{1}{2}$ 400 out of the $500, has brought the Terminal City into general ridicule. The appeals for cash are said to have been almost pathetic in some instances, but do their best, the full sun could not be raised.

The hatchery has received its complement of salmon ova, 6,500,000 in all. Fish were very plentiful in Harrison river, where the ova was secured, and double the number ould have been taken.

The Southern Railway extension to South Westminster will be completed, and the rails laid ready for trains by the end of the week. A daily steamer service with Victoria is looked for after the trains start running.

berger proceeded to deliver one of his savage attacks on the directing committee, along with a reference to the opposition. He was reading some long documents to support his case, when the chairman stopped him on the ground of irrelevancy. Thereupon Wildberger and the other opposition delegates proceeded to clear the hall, proclaiming that they could not expect fair treatment there. The majority cheered loudly as the opposition filed out, and a general satisfaction was expressed at their treatment.

An Unfortunate Acronaut.

London, Oct. 19.—A balloon which made an ascension on Saturday from the grounds of the Naval Exhibition, alighted in Maden. A large crowd gathered around when the balloon suddenly rose. Owing to an attempt of the aeronaut to change his anchor, he missed his hold, and the grapple went tearing through the crowd, injuring many and causing the wildest kind of panic. It to caught a lad and lifted him fifty feet in the air, whence he dropped to the earth and was picked up senseless. Two other persons were seriously injured, their fiesh being town by the grapple. When the aeronaut succeeded in effecting a landing the was mobbed by the enraged crowd, and with difficulty made his escape. His balloon was town to strips.

London, Oct. 19.—The storms which were everywhere renewed to-day, have eaused immense damage. The continuous rains had filled all the rivers to the brim, and the traditional deluge caused freshets.

San Francisco, Oct. 19.—George W. Wycks was found dead in his bed at the Pacific Union Club this afternoon. He had suisided by shooting himself in the head. Sickness prompted the deed. Deceased was a capitalist, 50 years of age.
