The match is the result of a wager of $3000 to $2000 made by Monroe Salisbury, owner of the stallion, that his horse could beat the other.

NOBODY EXPECTED IT.

The General Impression in Kingston and Toronto was That Queen's Would Be Beaten, But They Were Not.

Partisans of visitors and vanquished were both surprised at the turn of affairs in Saturday's big Rugby match.

"We didn't know how good we were," said one of the Queen's men after the game, "or we might have taken back a barrel of money."

Queen's demanded 2 to 1 and Toronto backers would not give it. Kingston papers on Saturday looked at it this way:

News: The Queen's College boys are in fairly good condition, and will endeavor to give a good account of themselves. As was remarked by one of the boys as the train was pulling out, even if they don't win in Toronto they will try to keep the score down, and then "look out for fun" next Saturday.

It is noteworthy that Saturday's hard-fought battle was free from any display of ruffian temper. The Queen's players, themselves to their utmost and Referee Moran was not called on to even warn a player.

A meeting of the Junior and Intermediate Football Leagues will be held in room 11, James Building, corner King and Yonge streets, at 8 o'clock this evening.

High Sausage of New York city, a player in the football game of the Toronto players, was badly injured in a game at Elizabeth, N.J., Saturday afternoon.

Should Toronto be unable to make up the 25 points disadvantage next Saturday the Gazette will likely play their annual match with Hamilton on Thanksgiving Day.

There was some talk of defaulting in next Saturday's game, but this idea was dispelled at a meeting of the Toronto players and team committee after the match.

The Rugby Union Executive met Saturday evening at Keech's and appointed W. J. Moran referee for next Saturday's match in Kingston.

"Queen's played its best and Toronto its worst for five years," said one of the Toronto committee last night.

With the record of Stabner's defeat by Gaudaur at Austin, Texas, before them it is not easy to see how the English backers of Tom Sullivan, the New Zealand sculler, could find any inducement to send their man to America to our champion sculler.

It is conceded that Sullivan is not Stabner's equal, and in the light of subsequent events we can be sure that Stabner tried his hardest at Austin, for he needed the $1000 that went to the winner.

Sullivan won the championship of England last year, and he was only a year or two from being the champion of the world.
