New Books.—The Messrs. Belford Bros., Toronto, are displaying laudable enterprise in the publication of standard Canadian, English and American books, and at rates to suit the economy of our people, at the same time that the style of binding, letter press, &c., would ornament any collection. Tom Sawyer, by Mark Twain, the great American humorist, is their latest contribution. This is a fair attempt at what is known as the great American novel. Among other books published by this firm, are Memoirs of Rev. Norman MacLeod; Life of William III, by "Historicus"; Mummies and Moslems, by Chas. Dudley Warner; Gabriel Courty, by Bret Harte; Old Times on the Mississippi, by Mark Twain; and Getting On in the World, by Prof. Matthews of Chicago, which last we noticed in a previous number.

—An interesting essay in favor of international arbitration has been issued by Don Arturo de Marcoartu, recently a member of the Spanish Cortes. Alluding to the assertion of the Emperor of Germany, just before the Turco-Servian campaign really opened, that the peace of Europe was as calm as that enjoyed during the twenty years preceding the reconstruction of the Germanic Empire, Marcoartu writes: "And yet cultivated and religious Europe arms and arrays more than 5,000,000 of soldiers, or as many in number as the whole population of Belgium, annually expends in war about £300,000,000 sterling, and if to this we add £350,000,000 interest on national debts, chiefly contracted for war purposes, we have an amount of more than £650,000,000 per year as the sum which Europe dedicates to her own extermination and destruction. The deaths occasioned by the different wars during the present century in Europe, Asia, Africa, and America, exceed in number the whole population of London. While it is impossible to estimate the cost of pauperism in Europe, it is well to remember that in England and Wales alone £150,000,000 have been expended under that head within the last twenty-five years."
