

SARVEPALLI RADHAKRISHNAN

M.A., D.LITT., F.B.A.

Dr. Radhakrishnan is Vice-President of India. Before being elected to this office in June, 1952, he had been India's Ambassador in Moscow for almost three years.

Dr. Radhakrishnan was born in 1888 and was educated at Madras Christian College. Before entering public life, he had achieved renown as a philosopher and as a professor of eastern religions in India, England and the United States. For the past twenty years he has also played a prominent part in such organizations as the International Committee in Intellectual Co-operation and since 1946 he has been one of the moving spirits of UNESCO, having led the Indian Delegation to almost every session of the General Conference of this organization. He was President of the 1952 session. Dr. Radhakrishnan is the author of several well-known books on eastern philosophy and religion.

-----