

- The full study will be published shortly. In addition to assessing and synthesising the available research on trade barriers and their overall effects, on trade flows, employment, structural adjustment and prices, it provides detailed case studies of the steel, textiles and clothing, automobile and consumer electronics industries.