

FOR SALE—$45.00 per foot. Greenwood avenue, west side, just one block north of Gerrard street. Splendid site for store or house. Best lot on street. This is $10.00 below the market price. Act quickly. TANNER & GATES, Realty Brokers, Tanager-Gates Building, 25-27 Adelaide street west. Main 3552.

A SNAP—$1600.00. Glendale avenue. Eight large rooms, bath, billiard room, detached, side drive, billiard room, beautifully decorated. $1200.00 cash. Inspection by appointment. Must be sold quick. TANNER & GATES, Realty Brokers, Tanager-Gates Building, 25-27 Adelaide street west. Main 3552.

PROBS: Moderate e. and s.w. winds; fine and warmer today; showers tonight or Friday.

BRYAN RIDICULED BY NEWSPAPERS OF EUROPE

Paris Times Says Public Will Lose All Faith in Diplomacy if Secretary of State Continues to Give Lectures in Connection With Vaudeville Shows.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Toronto World and N. Y. World. PARIS, Sept. 10.—The Times' leading editorial on foreign affairs, edited and usually written by Andre Tardieu, one of the under-secretaries of the department of foreign affairs, and accepted generally by the European press as directly inspired utterances reflecting the opinions of foreign office heads, is devoted tonight to ridiculing Secretary of State Bryan for his appearance with a traveling vaudeville show.

The caption over the editorial is "The Bryan Sketch" and his part in the show is treated as vaudeville. The editorial says Mr. Bryan's enterprise is especially dangerous in this age, when the tendency of the public is to despise diplomacy as futile, or at least to refuse to take diplomats seriously.

"A few more samples of this kind and the public will lose all faith," it goes on. It is pointed out that Mr. Bryan's "antics" really call for an essay on American manners and morals, illustrating once again that in the United States a political career is esteemed as a most venerated profession, hence inferior men have been predominant in American politics throughout the last century, all citizens of marked ability and of pronounced intelligence following the path of politics, and the really good men going into business, from which position they use political means, but never hold office.

"That's why the United States Government so often appears to be a monstrous paradox," it continues. "When one has followed Mr. Bryan's career of political honor, one is less surprised to see him in a circus than in the ministry. The single inconceivable thing is that this talker about having got himself called to direct the nation's diplomacy."

FACE SLASHED IN FIGHT WITH NEGRO

Man Staggered Into General Hospital With Blood Running From Razor Wound.

His face slashed with razor wounds which he said had been inflicted by a negro in a fight, a man giving his name as John Smith staggered into the Toronto General Hospital late last night and had his wounds dressed. Smith gave his age as 23, and said he was born in Massachusetts. He is employed in the New York Restaurant in York street. Several stitches were required to get his face into shape again.

AMAZING EVIDENCE IS GIVEN AT TRIAL OF JEWEL THIEVES

Prisoners Who Stole Half Million Dollar Pearl Necklace, Acted With the Greatest Caution to Guard Against Being Surprised by the Police.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Toronto World and N. Y. World. LONDON, Sept. 10.—Amazing evidence more resembling fiction than fact was given today at the Bow street police court in the hearing of the charges against five men named Lockett, Grizzard, Silverman, Gutwirth and McCarthy of stealing and receiving the $555,000 pearl necklace, the property of Max Meyer, which was taken from the mails July 15 or 16 between London and Paris. The statement by the treasury counsel, R. D. Muir, bore out almost exactly the story published by The Paris Matin last week. Whether the pearls were stolen in France or in England is not yet clear. In answer to one of the prisoners, Gutwirth, most a relative of his wife named Brandstatter and in the course of a conversation asked him if he could introduce a purchaser for Meyer's necklace. Brandstatter, knowing of the reward of $50,000 offered for the recovery of the pearls, consulted his cousin named Quadratin and the two entered into negotiations by letter with Gutwirth, who had returned to London. Meetings afterwards took place with

WOMEN HURTING IN THE NEWS OF THE DAY

Mrs. Pankhurst's Headquarters Will Be in New York—Philadelphia Women Form Hairpin Club, and Miss Amy Lowell Smokes Cigars After Her Meals.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Toronto World and N. Y. World. LONDON, Sept. 10.—Joan Wickham, Mrs. Pankhurst's agent, will sail tomorrow on the Cedric for New York. Her headquarters are to be with the Political Equality Association in East 41st street, New York. Mrs. Pankhurst will leave Havre on Oct. 11 and is due to arrive in New York Oct. 13.

ARE YOU A HAIRPIN?

(Special to The Toronto World.) PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—Twenty women, all members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Army and Navy Union, tonight organized the "National Order of Hairpins," with Mrs. J. Russell Downs as president and Mrs. H. Judson as secretary and treasurer. The first bylaw formulated by the society is an ironclad one. It provides that all members must abandon garb and support their hose with hairpins. Failure to do this means exclusion.

The challenge adopted by the society is: "Are you a hairpin?" Then the fair member who is challenged must prove it by daintily lifting her skirt and exhibiting the emblem of the society on the stocking that is to take the place of the garter.

WOMAN SMOKES CIGARS.

(Special to The Toronto World.) BOSTON, Sept. 10.—That Miss Amy Lowell, poetess, sister of President Abbott Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University, made a regular habit of smoking an after dinner cigar on the deck of the Cunard Lapland, was the assertion made by her fellow-passengers on the vessel which arrived today from Liverpool. No attempt so conceal her penchant for cigars was made by Miss Lowell, these passengers say.

ASSEMBLY SCORES WEBBER'S ATTITUDE

Motion by Victoria's Premier Condemns Him as Being Disloyal.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—(C.A.P.)—The Melbourne correspondent of The Chronicle says that the Victoria Legislative Assembly carried a motion by Premier Wasta, emphatically condemning as disloyal the action of Webber, Mayor of Richmond, in taking the King's name off the toast list, on the ground that he himself was a Republican. The resolution reaffirmed the assembly's unwavering loyalty to monarchical institutions. In view of Webber's youth and inexperience to further action in the matter is deemed desirable.

FIND CARTER WHO DELIVERED TRUNK

Police Unearthing Important Evidence in the Rubenstein Murder Case.

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—Discovery of the baggages man who delivered the trunk at 344 Somerset street, the scene of the tragedy, was the most important development today in the quest for the murderer of Abe Rubenstein, alias Charles Robertson; the New York race track employee, whose dead body was found in the cellar of a vacant store here last evening. An empty trunk found beside the body bore evidence of having been used to convey the remains to the store. On Sept. 2 the Canadian Transfer Company sent a trunk off a train which arrived from the west over the Canadian Pacific Railway, with instructions to deliver it at 382 Somerset street. There being no such number, the transfer driver left it at 354. An effort is being made at Montreal to find the point from which the trunk was shipped. The police have the number of the cheque, and the C.P.R. records at headquarters in Montreal are being searched for the company's duplicate. The theory of the police is that Rubenstein, who disappeared on Aug. 25, may have been lured some distance outside Ottawa, and there murdered, his body being afterwards shipped to Ottawa with the intention to destroy it.

LIBERAL LEADS IN CUMBERLAND

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—First information of Cumberland by-election, north of here, shows that the Liberal in the contest was side-debated to King George in the constituency, D. A. Hall, Liberal, had 98 and W. C. McKay, Conservative, 17 votes. Returns from other polls will likely not be in for several days.

MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY AT POMPEII FOR CENTURIES

First Remains of Ancient City Port Have Been Unearthed Under Twenty Feet of Ashes, Lava and Sand, Quarter of a Mile From Present Shore.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Toronto and N. Y. World. ROME, Sept. 10.—The most important discovery at Pompeii for centuries is announced. It came thru the efforts of Lorenzo Cozza, the sculptor of Rome, who has been carrying on the work begun by his father. He has just unearthed the first remains of the ancient city port, situated 1250 metres from the actual seashore now, and 700 metres from the old city gate. It was known as Porta Marina. The City of Pompeii itself is half a mile further inland than at the time of its destruction, the coast line having advanced thru silting up thru the successive ages.

Mr. Cozza worked on the theory of this displacement of the coast line, and for years he has been experimenting on a prolongation of the street leading seaward from the Porta Marina. Recently he came upon solid blocks of granite at a depth of 23 feet, under successive layers of ashes, lava and sand. Excavations proved that he struck the original quay, whose stones still bear indentations caused by the action of waves. Much new light will be thrown upon the shipping customs of ancient Rome, and the eruption itself. Further important discoveries are awaited.

PREMIER BOTHA TALKS PLAINLY

Has Not Championed British Empire More Than South Africa is His Reply to Opponents.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 10.—(C.A.P.)—Addressing a mass meeting at Standerton yesterday, General Botha challenged anyone to show that he stood more for the British Empire than for South Africa. He reminded his audience that he spoke and voted at the Imperial conference against Sir Joseph Ward's proposal for a great imperial parliament standing above all colonial parliaments. "I am not a 'Britisher' as 'ridiculous' as 'Natives' had argued that in building up this country, they occupied in South Africa, they should not take an attitude of hostility to the British Empire, and he affirmed that the Union would be doing an evil day's work if it took such a position without some justification. Union's Naval Policy. Regarding the navy, General Botha denied that it was his intention to get the Union's policy from England. All he proposed to do, he declared, was to consult the Imperial Government as to interests held at Simonstown, so that the present amicable position might be maintained.

FAMOUS DANCER REACHES AMERICA

Trusty Press Agents Were on Hand to Greet Lady Richardson.

(Special to The Toronto World.) NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson, dancer, shooter of big game and an advocate of the minimum amount of covering for the feet and the neck, arrived in New York on the Olympic today, she brought with her a young monkey. Her husband, Sir Edwin Austin Stewart-Richardson, was also on the ship. On the dock were the trusty press agents of Lady Constance, who had notified the newspapers of her coming and were there to see that those reporters who might have overstepped would miss any detail of her arrival or of her costumes. They were so careful to see that a single detail was missed that they included a description of a costume worn by Sir Edwin, which in the mimeographed slips was described as consisting of a "business suit of gray and a straw hat." This description did Sir Edwin Justice. He also wore shoes and a bored look. Lady Constance, in addition to the monkey, brought some forty pieces of baggage. Also she said she had a new dance, a snake charming one, and that she had charmed several Scottish snakes for practice.

WITNESS HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Steeves Accused of Being Accessory After Fact in Atkinson Case.

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—Another arrest was made tonight in the Atkinson murder case, when Provincial Constable Edwards took into custody Calvin Steeves, one of the chief witnesses in the case, on a warrant charging him with being an accessory after the fact. From his own evidence Steeves is the man who drove Frank Haynes, the man who drove the car, out to the scene of the crime twice after the tragedy. Steeves is now in the county jail awaiting a hearing.

CREED OF INDIANS PROVES DANGEROUS

Manitoba Redmen Allow Cattle to Die Thru Sheer Neglect.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—A serious condition of affairs amongst the Indians at Fairford, Manitoba, is reported by Rev. S. Lough, who represents the Baptist Union of Western Canada in that district, and who arrived in the city yesterday. Mr. Lough says that owing to the extent to which the tenets of the adherents of the apostolic faith have obtained amongst the Indians they have practically abandoned all industry and are neglecting their cattle and allowing them to die. In one case a man had ten head of cattle die from this cause.

URGENT VOTES FOR ULSTER WOMEN

Suffragettes Say Their Battle is Identical in Principle With That of Unionists in Ireland.

GOVERNMENT IN CLASH WITH COURTS

Thaw's Deportation Will Not Prevent Case Being Argued in Montreal on Monday Next and Constitutionality of Immigration Act Will Be Under Fire.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—Today's developments in the Thaw case will in no wise result in the postponement of the hearing on the recently issued writ of habeas corpus, slated to come up in the court of King's bench next Monday morning. The writ will be returned; those to whom it was issued will either produce the body of Thaw, as required by the court order, or they will advance reasons for their failure to do so for the consideration of their lordships. No matter whether their client is produced or not the fight will go on with a view to attacking the constitutionality of the immigration act under which he was deported from the country.

Conflict of Authority. In certain quarters—and not by any means ill-informed ones either—the whole situation is described as one involving a conflict between the judicial and the executive authorities. By these gentlemen, who comprise certain members of the legal profession enjoying the highest of reputations, but who, in view of the nebulous stage of proceedings are reluctant to be quoted, it is pointed out that according to the fundamental principle of law, parliament, once it has enacted legislation, becomes functio officio, in so far as that particular legislation is concerned. This, it is exclusively up to the judicial authority to interpret, apply and carry out such legislation. Any intervention on the part of parliament, a parliamentary official, minister or officer, thus becomes illegal in so far as the interpretation or application of the law is concerned.

Slap in Face. In the opinion of these latter, the interference of a parliamentary official in ordering the deportation of Thaw, whose body was ordered to be produced before the court of appeals in order that the latter might look into the reasons of his detention here, is tantamount to a slap in the face meted out to the judges of the court of King's bench.

Quite apart from all consideration of whether or not the fact that a habeas corpus had been issued in the case should have acted as a stay of further action, the Thaw counsel particularly object to the haste and despatch, which, they allege, was used by the acting minister of the interior, in rejecting the appeal—entered against the board of enquiry's finding, and forthwith ordering the deportation of Thaw.

ROGERS UPHOLDS DOHERTY. MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—Hon. Robert Rogers, when asked tonight whether, as a former minister of the interior, he would express an opinion on to-day's events in the Thaw case, remarked that he could say nothing further than express hearty approval of the action of Hon. C. J. Doherty in ordering Thaw's deportation. It was the only proper thing for the acting minister of the interior to do, to end the whole miserable case, and he was entirely within the law, said Mr. Rogers.

As to local attorneys who were making such an outcry about the violation of our guarantee of liberty, Mr. Rogers said he would advise them to relearn their law.

THAW UNDER GUARD IN ROOM OF HOTEL IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

EXTRAORDINARY FIGHT TO BEGIN

Thaw Makes Appeal

COLEBROOK, N.H., Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—Harry Thaw issued this statement tonight: "What occurred under the English flag this morning is something I can't discuss, but we believe good Canadians will do what is right. Now I have come to New Hampshire on my difficult way home to Pennsylvania. There is no honest legal charge against me, and we hope New Hampshire won't accept any substitute from the officials of New York. We hope citizens of New Hampshire who won't be bluffed will write the governor."

"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

"If the case is carried thru in the absence of Thaw, and the privy council rules that the court of King's bench was within its jurisdiction in granting the writ, this natural sequence would be a request from either the minister of the interior, who is responsible for deporting Thaw, or direct from the British foreign minister. This, of course, would be merely in the nature of a request, as a writ of habeas corpus, even upheld by the privy council, would leave no extra-territorial powers.

"Would Washington Act? "Would Washington be likely to comply with any such request?" the speaker was asked. "There is only a distant possibility of this, but what else could be done? If the courts rule that Thaw is to be produced before them, and the act which forbids interference on the part of the courts is ruled unconstitutional, which is quite possible should Thaw's counsel decide to continue, the only hope of getting Thaw back would be by way of a polite request to Washington to permit him to return, which the United States Government might, as a matter of courtesy, consent to."

WASHINGTON TO GIVE UP THAW? Note From Downing Street May Be Outcome of Serious International Complications.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

THAW UNDER GUARD IN ROOM OF HOTEL IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

EXTRAORDINARY FIGHT TO BEGIN

Thaw Makes Appeal

COLEBROOK, N.H., Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—Harry Thaw issued this statement tonight: "What occurred under the English flag this morning is something I can't discuss, but we believe good Canadians will do what is right. Now I have come to New Hampshire on my difficult way home to Pennsylvania. There is no honest legal charge against me, and we hope New Hampshire won't accept any substitute from the officials of New York. We hope citizens of New Hampshire who won't be bluffed will write the governor."

"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

"If the case is carried thru in the absence of Thaw, and the privy council rules that the court of King's bench was within its jurisdiction in granting the writ, this natural sequence would be a request from either the minister of the interior, who is responsible for deporting Thaw, or direct from the British foreign minister. This, of course, would be merely in the nature of a request, as a writ of habeas corpus, even upheld by the privy council, would leave no extra-territorial powers.

"Would Washington Act? "Would Washington be likely to comply with any such request?" the speaker was asked. "There is only a distant possibility of this, but what else could be done? If the courts rule that Thaw is to be produced before them, and the act which forbids interference on the part of the courts is ruled unconstitutional, which is quite possible should Thaw's counsel decide to continue, the only hope of getting Thaw back would be by way of a polite request to Washington to permit him to return, which the United States Government might, as a matter of courtesy, consent to."

WASHINGTON TO GIVE UP THAW? Note From Downing Street May Be Outcome of Serious International Complications.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

"If the case is carried thru in the absence of Thaw, and the privy council rules that the court of King's bench was within its jurisdiction in granting the writ, this natural sequence would be a request from either the minister of the interior, who is responsible for deporting Thaw, or direct from the British foreign minister. This, of course, would be merely in the nature of a request, as a writ of habeas corpus, even upheld by the privy council, would leave no extra-territorial powers.

"Would Washington Act? "Would Washington be likely to comply with any such request?" the speaker was asked. "There is only a distant possibility of this, but what else could be done? If the courts rule that Thaw is to be produced before them, and the act which forbids interference on the part of the courts is ruled unconstitutional, which is quite possible should Thaw's counsel decide to continue, the only hope of getting Thaw back would be by way of a polite request to Washington to permit him to return, which the United States Government might, as a matter of courtesy, consent to."

WASHINGTON TO GIVE UP THAW? Note From Downing Street May Be Outcome of Serious International Complications.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

"If the case is carried thru in the absence of Thaw, and the privy council rules that the court of King's bench was within its jurisdiction in granting the writ, this natural sequence would be a request from either the minister of the interior, who is responsible for deporting Thaw, or direct from the British foreign minister. This, of course, would be merely in the nature of a request, as a writ of habeas corpus, even upheld by the privy council, would leave no extra-territorial powers.

"Would Washington Act? "Would Washington be likely to comply with any such request?" the speaker was asked. "There is only a distant possibility of this, but what else could be done? If the courts rule that Thaw is to be produced before them, and the act which forbids interference on the part of the courts is ruled unconstitutional, which is quite possible should Thaw's counsel decide to continue, the only hope of getting Thaw back would be by way of a polite request to Washington to permit him to return, which the United States Government might, as a matter of courtesy, consent to."

WASHINGTON TO GIVE UP THAW? Note From Downing Street May Be Outcome of Serious International Complications.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

"If the case is carried thru in the absence of Thaw, and the privy council rules that the court of King's bench was within its jurisdiction in granting the writ, this natural sequence would be a request from either the minister of the interior, who is responsible for deporting Thaw, or direct from the British foreign minister. This, of course, would be merely in the nature of a request, as a writ of habeas corpus, even upheld by the privy council, would leave no extra-territorial powers.

"Would Washington Act? "Would Washington be likely to comply with any such request?" the speaker was asked. "There is only a distant possibility of this, but what else could be done? If the courts rule that Thaw is to be produced before them, and the act which forbids interference on the part of the courts is ruled unconstitutional, which is quite possible should Thaw's counsel decide to continue, the only hope of getting Thaw back would be by way of a polite request to Washington to permit him to return, which the United States Government might, as a matter of courtesy, consent to."

WASHINGTON TO GIVE UP THAW? Note From Downing Street May Be Outcome of Serious International Complications.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

THAW UNDER GUARD IN ROOM OF HOTEL IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

EXTRAORDINARY FIGHT TO BEGIN

Thaw Makes Appeal

COLEBROOK, N.H., Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—Harry Thaw issued this statement tonight: "What occurred under the English flag this morning is something I can't discuss, but we believe good Canadians will do what is right. Now I have come to New Hampshire on my difficult way home to Pennsylvania. There is no honest legal charge against me, and we hope New Hampshire won't accept any substitute from the officials of New York. We hope citizens of New Hampshire who won't be bluffed will write the governor."

"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

"If the case is carried thru in the absence of Thaw, and the privy council rules that the court of King's bench was within its jurisdiction in granting the writ, this natural sequence would be a request from either the minister of the interior, who is responsible for deporting Thaw, or direct from the British foreign minister. This, of course, would be merely in the nature of a request, as a writ of habeas corpus, even upheld by the privy council, would leave no extra-territorial powers.

"Would Washington Act? "Would Washington be likely to comply with any such request?" the speaker was asked. "There is only a distant possibility of this, but what else could be done? If the courts rule that Thaw is to be produced before them, and the act which forbids interference on the part of the courts is ruled unconstitutional, which is quite possible should Thaw's counsel decide to continue, the only hope of getting Thaw back would be by way of a polite request to Washington to permit him to return, which the United States Government might, as a matter of courtesy, consent to."

WASHINGTON TO GIVE UP THAW? Note From Downing Street May Be Outcome of Serious International Complications.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

"If the case is carried thru in the absence of Thaw, and the privy council rules that the court of King's bench was within its jurisdiction in granting the writ, this natural sequence would be a request from either the minister of the interior, who is responsible for deporting Thaw, or direct from the British foreign minister. This, of course, would be merely in the nature of a request, as a writ of habeas corpus, even upheld by the privy council, would leave no extra-territorial powers.

"Would Washington Act? "Would Washington be likely to comply with any such request?" the speaker was asked. "There is only a distant possibility of this, but what else could be done? If the courts rule that Thaw is to be produced before them, and the act which forbids interference on the part of the courts is ruled unconstitutional, which is quite possible should Thaw's counsel decide to continue, the only hope of getting Thaw back would be by way of a polite request to Washington to permit him to return, which the United States Government might, as a matter of courtesy, consent to."

WASHINGTON TO GIVE UP THAW? Note From Downing Street May Be Outcome of Serious International Complications.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

"If the case is carried thru in the absence of Thaw, and the privy council rules that the court of King's bench was within its jurisdiction in granting the writ, this natural sequence would be a request from either the minister of the interior, who is responsible for deporting Thaw, or direct from the British foreign minister. This, of course, would be merely in the nature of a request, as a writ of habeas corpus, even upheld by the privy council, would leave no extra-territorial powers.

"Would Washington Act? "Would Washington be likely to comply with any such request?" the speaker was asked. "There is only a distant possibility of this, but what else could be done? If the courts rule that Thaw is to be produced before them, and the act which forbids interference on the part of the courts is ruled unconstitutional, which is quite possible should Thaw's counsel decide to continue, the only hope of getting Thaw back would be by way of a polite request to Washington to permit him to return, which the United States Government might, as a matter of courtesy, consent to."

WASHINGTON TO GIVE UP THAW? Note From Downing Street May Be Outcome of Serious International Complications.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

"If the case is carried thru in the absence of Thaw, and the privy council rules that the court of King's bench was within its jurisdiction in granting the writ, this natural sequence would be a request from either the minister of the interior, who is responsible for deporting Thaw, or direct from the British foreign minister. This, of course, would be merely in the nature of a request, as a writ of habeas corpus, even upheld by the privy council, would leave no extra-territorial powers.

"Would Washington Act? "Would Washington be likely to comply with any such request?" the speaker was asked. "There is only a distant possibility of this, but what else could be done? If the courts rule that Thaw is to be produced before them, and the act which forbids interference on the part of the courts is ruled unconstitutional, which is quite possible should Thaw's counsel decide to continue, the only hope of getting Thaw back would be by way of a polite request to Washington to permit him to return, which the United States Government might, as a matter of courtesy, consent to."

WASHINGTON TO GIVE UP THAW? Note From Downing Street May Be Outcome of Serious International Complications.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—(Can. Press.)—"I believe it is now a case for Downing street," was the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Quebec bar, in regard to the present situation of the Thaw case. While not permitting his name to be made public, the speaker explained that, with Thaw in the hands of the United States authorities, the only possible ending of the case, were it to be made a test of both the immigration act and the power of the courts, would be a note from Downing street to Washington requesting that Thaw be permitted to return to Montreal to appear before the court on the writ of habeas corpus which commanded his delivery on Monday next.

ED
all near are of the produce, d fancy ds, also singlemohair 5.00
worsted that good price
15.00
22.00 extremely tweed in -breasted food
price 22.00
25.00
d cloth in it is cut price 25.00
SEITZ
ugh/Scott with yoke, with serge Trousers
5.00
ATS from all-velvet
Sleeves
5.00
at 25c sweat, we find most of them
pure silk neck-one-third their en ends; long, e designs, and the and 75c, and so sharp, each 25
WEAR, 89c.
of Men's Un-Stralian is an o the shirt for
-lined garments to be free from lined underwear
in either make.
50
ATS
man felt; colon value. Thru-50 and good-wearing rich colorings 1.50
amps portable Reading amber-green; a social bargain at 6.00
amps, in brushed amber or green complete with 10.00
mahogany stand-
curved glass, to match, each priced at 17.50
ina; some hand-
or Fruit Bowls,
Cups and Sauc-
Plate of var-
Mustard Pots,
25 eral sizes and open. Special 47
Beam-
The Robert
ngs. In many tern rugs have faithfully fol-lodec. Among ah, Khorassan,
ck are as fol-
75.00
85.00
85.00
ial Prices
30c
5c and 10c
5c and 10c
15c, 20c, 25c