FAVOR CIVIC MARKETS

Change in Financial System of Toronto Also Was Urged.

For the twentieth year the nominations in ward seven were presented over last night in Annette street public library by Municipal Clerk W. J. Conron. Judging from the little interest shown recently in the approaching campaign the crop of candidates was surprisingly large. MAXWELL DAVID ARMSTRONG, machine embroiderer, 78 Fern avenue, by Carl Cummings and Fred Bancroft; ALEXANDER CHISHOLM, shoe merchant, 22 Laws street, by John E. Weatherill and Thomas J. Sheppard; A.D. SAMUEL RYDING, steamfitter's supply, 1804 Dundas street, by Peter Laughton and R. G. Arney; WILLIAM HENRY WEIR, real estate agent, 60 High Park avenue, by Edward Wakefield and Peter Laughton; ALD. FRANK GEORGE IRONSIDE WHETTER, provision merchant, 22 Laws street, by Thomas J. Sheppard and Wallis T. Fisher.

BOARD OF EDUCATION. WILLIAM J. DALTON, gentleman, 1823 Deerpark road, by Thomas J. Sheppard and Chris Woodburn; RICHARD R. HOPKINS, M.D., 333 Pacific avenue, by Sam Ryding and W.T. Irvine; WILLIAM E. S. JAMES, clergyman, 1890 Davenport road, by Maxwell D. Armstrong and Carl Cummings; ALD. RYDING reviewed his three years in council and drew attention to the huge sewer system, the better water supply and pressure reduction in telephone rates, street paving and improvements. Blood-streets and line and several other measures passed by council during his term. Several questions asked by the ratepayers were satisfactorily answered.

Ald. Ryding claimed that in one year a member cannot gain a grasp on all the civic issues. During his year he voted as he thought on the right side for the greater questions which had arisen. In the reorganization of the ward he was in favor of the four department he cast a negative vote, and was in favor of a system of unit accounting for the public utilities. "What is your attitude on the civic market proposition?" he was asked. "I am in favor of it," replied the Alderman. "I am in favor of it," replied the Alderman. "I am in favor of it," replied the Alderman.

NO PUPS, NO MONEY LEADS TO LAWSUIT

Black Fox Breeder Disappointed in Results, Lost Suit.

At Osgoode Hall yesterday, Mr. Justice Middleton dismissed the action of William Baird of the Township of Ramsey, Lennox County, against Thomas Clark of St. Catharines for alleged breach of contract. The plaintiff, who is a director of the Silver Black Fox company, stated that he agreed to purchase from the defendant two black foxes on contract for $5000. The agreement was on the understanding that should good results not be obtained in the mating of the two foxes, a male and a female, with a male and a female of the plaintiff's, the defendant should exchange the male fox for a good silver black male. Mr. Baird claimed that this contract had been broken upon receipt of the foxes he attempted to mate in the manner contemplated and one pair was successfully mated and whelping resulted, but the young were destroyed and were never seen.
