Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, July 6—Friday's markets indicates there was a good demand for stocks on selling. The failure brought in a large amount of selling, which was well taken. At the same time call money rates eased off to four percent, and should remain at that rate or lower. What now seems most likely is an increase in activity and prices advancing again. Factors affecting the armket seem bullish and in addition seem more powerful than the fact that stocks are at a high level and that brokers loans are large.

Predictions are being made in the strock are at a high level and that brokers loans are large.

Brokers' Opinions

NEW YORK July 1—Clark Childs:—
"Looking over the general rail list, one must feel that a bigger market is to be seen in the general Southern and Southwest groups.

Horn & Weeks:—"We call attention to the three most promising independent steels, namely Gulf States, Sloss, Sheffield and Youngstown. We would hold them."

Block Maloney:—"Conditions are generally favorable and with business likely to expand during the balance of the year, we continue bullish and urge purchases now before the next big up-swing gets fully under way."
