NORTHWEST MOUNTED POLICE ALLEVIATED
MUCH SUFFERING*New Settlers, Who Lost Crop, Supplied With Food and Fuel Last Winter.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—That the work of the Northwest Mounted Police during the last year has served to alleviate materially the hardships of new immigrants settling on the prairies is clearly shown in the annual report of Commissioner Fred White, just issued.

"There is," says the report, "a phase of our duties which appeals very strongly to the new controller who has taken up land on the open prairie and is trying to make a home for himself. 'Should there be a failure of crop in the first year, the settler is in a bad way. This occurred last year in the southeastern portion of Alberta, and the southwestern portion of Saskatchewan, and much suffering for want of food and fuel would have resulted had not the department of immigration supplied what was required. This force co-operates with that department and undertook to visit all settlers over that large area, inquire into their wants and to supply them.'"

"Labor Leaders and Temperance"

The most recent party in the House of Commons are the labor men. This used not to be the case in the old days. Today labor men can be seen in a row at the bar, with glasses of water beside them. Carthage is a temperance; Ramsay MacDonald, the present labor leader, is a teetotaler; Thomas Burt, the first labor member of the House of Commons, and still the most universally respected, is a teetotaler and no one might go through the list—T. P. O'Connor in London Public Opinion.

THE FISH OF ONTARIO.

Canada Monthly.—Judge Stevens was fishing in the Manitowish waters, and just after dinner became involved in an argument with his boat companion. The debate lasted some minutes, and during that time the judge had his baited hook dipping in the air over his shoulder.

The guide took a hand.

"Judge," said he tempestuously, "drop your line in the water. There are no fish around here."

MR. MONK HAS AN UNCOMFORTABLE TIME

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—In the House of Commons today, Mr. Monk was given a grilling.

There was more talk about dismissal. Mr. Chisholm asked Hon. Mr. Monk why he had dismissed Capt. Peter Decoste of the Dredge Cape Breton, without complaint, having been made by a member of parliament and without investigation.

Mr. Monk replied that he did not have the papers in this case at hand, but said that having seen the Liberal's dismissal of employees of the Lachine canal in 1888 he had determined to act humanely. He was certain that this dismissal had not been made without cause.

Mr. Sinclair said that if Mr. Monk lived up to the principles he professed in the house there would be no difficulty, but in cabinet he had acted with the greatest cruelty and inhumanity. Roderick Sutcliffe, caretaker of the public building at Canoe, had been dismissed on twelve hours notice in severe weather. He had been told to get out as soon as the notice was given him. The furniture of the house who had been appointed to the place had been handed up to the building.

"There was no complaint by a member in that case, for I am the member; there was no investigation which was expressed to which he has not replied. I asked for it on the floor of parliament. The prisoners of the minister could not be better and the practices of the minister could be more inhuman."

Mr. Sinclair—"Yes, there was. I asked for investigation in a letter which I addressed to the minister some months ago to which he has not replied. I asked for it on the floor of parliament. The prisoners of the minister could not be better and the practices of the minister could be more inhuman."

Mr. Monk—"No investigation was asked for."

CITY'S BOOM TIME

Real Estate Men Meet—Financial Post Sees Advance St. John is Making

St. John real estate men gave another proof yesterday of their confidence in the forward movement and the future of the city.

At the invitation of James Stratton about a dozen citizens actively interested in real estate met at his office in the afternoon. D. P. Pigeon was elected chairman and Hugh Bruce secretary.

Mr. Stratton pointed out that there was not in existence a satisfactory or complete map of St. John. There was urgent need of a map which would include not only the lots in the city but in the area around Lancaster, out to South Bay, to Coldbrook, and around St. John East almost to Red Head.

After a general discussion, in which much was said about the activity in real estate, which must rapidly increase, it was decided to endeavor to have a map prepared to order, to be ready if possible by the first of April.

The plan is to have a map which would sell at fifty cents per copy, and it was felt that the city council and board of trade would each desire to purchase a considerable number of copies. The real estate men present undertook to purchase 800 copies, and others are yet to be heard from.

A committee consisting of L. P. D. Riley, Mr. Stratton, and Mr. Bruce, was appointed to deal with the matter and report back to a meeting next Monday, the intention being to avoid any loss of time.

There was also an interesting talk on the need of legal provision such as would make it obligatory in dividing up properties to provide for streets and back lanes, in accordance with a general plan approved by the municipal authorities. Mr. Stratton pointed out how necessary the provision for extensive harbor improvements in Carleton and the calling for tenders for the improvement of the east harbor with the construction of wharves and a dry-dock.

The construction of the Valley Railway, which will direct the traffic of the Transcontinental to this port is also regarded as important. The effect is shown in the steadily increasing real estate values, the multiplication of dealers and the investment of capital from the west and from the east.

Reports of the building work in Canadian cities and towns last year place St. John in the twenty-sixth place; it is twenty-third in the matter of increase over 1910, and twenty-second in percentage of increase. It is considerably in advance of the latter.

Some of the causes are found more definitely in the purchase of the land at the head of Courtney Bay by the C. T. P. R., the purchase of properties at West St. John, and at the head of the harbor by the C. P. R., the provision for extensive harbor improvements in Carleton and the calling for tenders for the improvement of the east harbor with the construction of wharves and a dry-dock.

The left border of the address is in maple leaves while the right is in oak leaves with acorns, typifying Canada's relationship with Great Britain. The top is surmounted with the royal coat of arms through which passes the silver covenant chain which is symbolized of the agreement between the Six Nations and the British crown. Holding one end of the chain is a British general while at the other end is an Indian chief. At the sides are the top of cross flags, the crest of the province of Ontario, and the dominion coat of arms. At the bottom six Indian topees are to be found, emblematic of the Six Nations' council. Between each paragraph are cross flags, the type of peace and tomahawks.

The duke was made an Indian chief at the old Mohawk church near Brantford in 1800 and rejoices in the name of Kah-rah-kon-tye, which, in English signifies "Flying Sun."

When the ceremony took place forty-three years ago, Chief John Smoke Johnson, a veteran of the wars of 1812-13 and his son, Chief G. H. M. Johnson, former government interpreter, were the officiating directors and now the grandson and nephew of these warlike old chiefs are preparing the handsome memorial for his Royal Highness. The address will be presented in person by a deputation.

INDIANS' WELCOME TO GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Duke of Connaught Has Long Been a Chief and His Name is Ka-rah-kon-tye

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—In the very near future, H. R. H., the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, will be the recipient of an address of welcome from the Six Nations tribe of Indians, living in Haldimand county, of which he is a full-fledged chief with the right to sit in the council of the tribe along with his brother rulers.

The address is the handwork of Chief William D. Loft, of the Six Nations tribe. It was executed according to instructions furnished by Chief Elliott of the same band.

SOUTHAMPTON CALL PORT

Montreal, Jan. 13.—In connection with news from London that the Allan Line had decided to have their Canadian steamers call at a port in the English channel, it was suggested that St. John's Allan line might be a port of call. The plans were still indefinite. Southampton had been suggested as a port of call. St. John's Allan line said that he did not think this port had been decided upon. He did not know whether the plans would be settled in time for the steamers to call at the new port next season or not.

WAS TROUBLED WITH

Weakness

and

Palpitation

OF THE HEART.

Through one cause or another a large majority of people are troubled, more or less, with some form of heart trouble. Little attention is paid to the slight weakness of the heart, but when it starts to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beats fast for a time, then so slow as to seem almost to stop, then
