BAD IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Police Commissioner Partridge made a statement today in which he said he had been at work since he assumed office formulating measures for the reform of the police of this city, but from the magnitude of the task he had been forced to proceed slowly. The commissioner declared that there was no doubt in his mind that former Chief of Police Devery still had a powerful influence over the force and that many in the department clung to Devery "with apparently an all-abiding faith." Mr. Partridge said he dared not trust the captain; some officers in whom he had supposed confidence had betrayed him.

The adjourned meeting of the Thistle Curing Rink Company, to have been held last evening, has been postponed until the 24th.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., APRIL 11, 1902.

ARBOR DAY.

Inspector Carter has appointed May 2nd to be observed as Arbor Day in the schools of his district. In Maine there is a provincial Arbor Day, proclaimed by the governor of the state. In his proclamation, setting apart May 1st for observance, Gov. Hill of that state gives these words of counsel to the people, and the Star commends them to the people of New Brunswick: "Let us devote this day to the improvement of our highways and public places and to beautifying our homes, that every portion of our state may be rendered more attractive. I especially recommend that the teachers and pupils of our public schools devote some portion of this day to the improvement of the grounds occupied by them, and to exercises appropriate thereto."

AN AMERICAN INSTANCE.

While some of the American papers are dilating upon the "outrages" perpetrated by British soldiers in South Africa, some American officers are on trial at Manila, charged with killing Filipino prisoners in cold blood. Tuesday's New York Herald contained the following report of the trial:

"Major Littleton W. T. Waller, of the Marine Corps, at today's session of the court martial by which he is being tried on the charge of executing natives of Samar without trial, testified in rebuttal of the evidence given yesterday by General Jacob H. Smith, who commanded the American troops in the island of Samar. The major said Gen. Smith instructed him to kill and burn, said that the more he killed and burned the better pleased the general would be, that it was no time to take prisoners and that he was to make Samar a howling wilderness. Major Waller asked Gen. Smith to define the age limit of killing, and the general replied, 'Everything over ten.' The major repeated this order to Captain David H. Porter, saying, 'We do not make war in that way on old men, women and children.' Captain David D. Porter, Captain Hiram I. Bearse and Lieut. Frank Helford, all of the Marine Corps, testified corroboratively."

Touching this matter the Herald's Washington correspondent makes the war department appear almost as an apologist for Gen. Smith. For although he says the war department will not defend the general, yet he adds: "Adjutant General Corbin said tonight that before judging Gen. Smith, consideration should be given to the character of the people with whom he had to deal, and the fact that the insurgents of Samar had been guilty of the most barbarous outrages upon the American troops. Gen. Smith concluded that the drastic measures were necessary to teach the Samar natives that order must be established and maintained."

That Gen. Smith conducted the campaign with severity appears in the following extract from one of his orders: "The policy to be pursued in this brigade from this time on will be to wage war in the sharpest and most decisive manner possible. This policy will apply to the island of Samar and to such other portions of the islands to which it may become necessary to apply, even though such territory is supposedly peaceful or is under civil government. . . . Every native, whether in arms or living in the pueblos or barrios, will be regarded and treated as an enemy until he has conclusively shown that he is a friend. Neutrality must not be tolerated on the part of any native. The time has now arrived when all natives who are not openly for us must be regarded as against us. In short, if not an active friend, he is an open enemy."

The lesson that our American neighbors should learn from all this is that no war is free from acts of cruelty, and that it is not fair to generalize and denounce a whole army or a whole nation because crime is perpetrated by some of its representatives. To the credit of the American army it must be said that an investigation is now in progress. To the credit of the British army let it also be said that when definite charges were made an enquiry was ordered (in the case of Hancock and Morant) and when the charges were proved summary justice was administered. Let us see if the Americans, whose press is so willing to talk about Kitchener's brutality, will punish the guilty in their own camp. Even the American papers have not yet charged that Kitchener placed the age limit of the living at ten years.

THE OLD HOME WEEK.

(New York World.) The Massachusetts old home week, established by act of the Great and General Court, which will begin on Saturday, July 27, naturally is exciting a lively interest among the 25,335 natives of Massachusetts resident in New York city and the 45,457 in the state at large. The attendance of many of these sons and daughters, as well as a still larger number of descendants of the old May state, is assured, and the towns there are appointing committees and arranging programmes for the reception of the visitors, who will make the occasion a pleasant incident of their summer vacations.

DR. MORRIS HONORED.

Smoking Concert in His Honor by North End Salvage Corps.

It is always a pleasure to honor those to whom honor is due, but it is seldom that those testifying their appreciation of grand good work can get as much happiness out of the occasion as did those who assembled in the rooms of the north end Salvage Corps last evening to assist the members of that corps in doing honor to Dr. Morris, a fellow member, who by his heroism and self-sacrifice during the late smallpox epidemic had earned every word of the praise that was given him by every man who had the privilege of speaking last night.

The comfortable and handsomely fitted quarters were filled with those who gathered in response to the invitations issued. The members of the entertaining corps were conspicuous in their handsome uniforms of blue and gold as they strained every nerve to minister to the pleasure of their guests, among whom were His Worship Mayor Daniel, Deputy Mayor Colwell, Aldermen White, McGoldrick, Hillyard, Seaton, Armstrong, Christie, Macrae, McMullin, Maxwell, His Honor Judge Ritchie, Geo. Robertson, M. P., ex-Mayor Sears, John Kelly, Secretary Thos. Burns of the Board of Health, Capt. Clarke and members of No. 1 Salvage Corps, and many others in numbers sufficient to fill the capacious rooms to overflowing.

Capt. Hamm called the company to order, and in a brief speech explanatory of the purpose of the gathering, requested Mayor Daniel to take the chair. The guest of the evening, Dr. Morris, sat at his right. His worship read letters of regret at their unavoidable absence from Chairman Reynolds of the board of health, who expressed high appreciation of Dr. Morris' services. Alderman Robinson and others, who had been invited, then ordered the toast of the King, which was joyfully honored.

Secretary Thos. Burns of the board of health contributed a song, by request, after which Hon. R. J. Ritchie, in a neat and felicitous speech, proposed the Legislative Assembly, to which Geo. Robertson, M. P., made appropriate response. Jack Powers then gave one of his inimitable selections, and Dr. Hetherington proposed the City of St. John. As was appropriate, the mayor first responded in a happy speech, heartily received, followed by a brief address from Ald. Colwell and a taciturn speech from Ald. White, who paid a fine tribute to Dr. Morris' services while in the hospital, and his brave work during the epidemic. Dr. Christie following, expressed the thorough satisfaction of the board of health with the work of Dr. Morris and referred to the discourtesy to the doctor, Mayor Daniel and himself, given by Harry Doody, the toast to the guest of the evening was proposed by Captain Hamm, and elicited a characteristically modest response from Dr. Morris, who in a brief and gentlemanly speech thanked the corps for the honor done him, and, in deprecating his own work, spoke in the highest terms of the hospital nurses, upon whose work, he said, had fallen the brunt of the epidemic. He praised the board of health for the support they had given him, and gracefully renewed his allegiance to the Salvage Corps, from whose work he had necessarily been separated for so long a period. Dr. Morris' speech was received with three times three and the hearty united singing of He's a Jolly Good Fellow.

After a piano solo by H. V. McKinnon and a song by Chester McClaskey, John Kelly proposed a toast to the North End Salvage Corps. In responding, Capt. Hamm dwelt upon the value of the work of the men under his command, and in the necessity of the necessity of the most efficient fire alarm system in the north end.

Coughs, colds, soreness and other troubles, ailments are quickly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.

The members of the Thistle Curing Club, which has just closed one of the most successful seasons in its history, dined together at the Park Hotel, last evening. There was large attendance of the members and the affair was a fitting close to so pleasant a season's sport. Mine host Charles Damery had an excellent repast prepared, which was thoroughly appreciated by the knights of the broom, who responded vigorously to the first page of the menu card: "We Daur ye tas the Pecht." J. A. Sinclair, president of the club, occupied the chair, and after ample justice had been done to the repast, the following toasts were honored: The King; Curling; the grand old game; was large by Dr. Murray MacLaren, and responded to by Andrew Malcolm and Thomas Finley. The Officers, proposed by A. W. Sharp; Brother Curriers; the Quebec Rinks, proposed by John H. Thomson, and responded to by A. B. Holly, J. Fred Shaw and others. New Members, proposed by D. R. Willett, responded to by A. Wilson and J. S. Gregory and others, and the Ladies. A number of musical numbers helped to enliven the evening.

RHODES FUNERAL.

Final Interment of the Nation Builder's Remains.

LONDON, April 10.—An impressive memorial service for Cecil Rhodes was held in St. Paul's cathedral this afternoon, coincident with the hour of the burial of his remains in the Matopos Hills. The cathedral was packed, and large, quiet crowds of people who were unable to secure admission gathered outside the railings.

King Edward was represented by General Gordon, his Majesty's groom in waiting, and Sir Wm. Carrington Carrington represented the Prince of Wales. Joseph H. Chamberlain, the United States ambassador, J. Pierpont Morgan, Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, were among those who paid their last tribute to the dead.

Preaching in the city temple today, Dr. Parker said he admired Mr. Rhodes' honesty in making no profession of religion in his will. Thirty or forty years must pass before Cecil Rhodes will be completely understood.

BULUWAYO, Matoposland, April 10.—Amid an immense throng the body of Cecil Rhodes was today committed to its rock tomb in the Matopos Hills, and the wreath sent by Queen Alexandra was laid upon it as it was lowered into the grave. The funeral party started from Fuller's hotel early this morning. The procession was five miles long as it wound through the hills and gorges. Every sort of conveyance was made use of; some were on foot, others were on horseback or on bicycles, while still others were in wagons and carriages. When the procession was a mile from the grave everybody dismounted and, cooling the soles of their feet, they hauled the coffin to the almost inaccessible summit of the kopje, where the chiefs and two thousand natives had assembled to witness the Christian interment rites, which they afterwards supplemented in their own fashion by the sacrifice of fifteen oxen to the shade of the great dead chief.

Thousands of white persons congregated around the wide-spread hill. The grave was enclosed by six boulders. The interment was extremely impressive. The Dead March, as it is called, was played by the band of the Matopos, and the natives stood like statues. Tears were in the eyes of many of the onlookers. The Bishop of Matabeleland, who conducted the interment service, said: "I consecrate this place forever; here he thought, here he lived and died for the empire."

When the coffin was lowered into the tomb chiselled in the solid rock, all those present sang Old Hundred, and Now the Laborer's Task is O'er.

The remainder of the funeral service was chanted and the band played the Dead March from Saul. The tomb was covered with wreaths.

At the close of the ceremony those present slowly inspected the spot where Mr. Rhodes lies buried and threw flowers upon his grave. Dr. Jameson, Col. H. H. Rhodes, and other mourners left Buluwayo tonight on a special train.

The scene around Cecil Rhodes' farm the night preceding his interment was most extraordinary. The whole population of Buluwayo seemed to be moving thence to camp, and as the darkness closed down the camp fires sparkled in all directions. Some natives tramped 100 miles in order to be present at the interment.

After the Bishop of Matabeleland had read the poem written for the occasion by Rudyard Kipling, Sekombo, the great Induna and orator of the Matabele, made a speech, in which he said: "Both Cecil Rhodes and Umtali, the founder of the Matabele nation, are buried on the Matopos Hills, and the Matabele now consider that the spirit of Umtali is with that of Cecil Rhodes."

DOMINION PARLIAMENT. OTTAWA, April 10.—Hon. Mr. Mullock today introduced a bill amending the post office act. The measure provides for relieving from civil service examination persons appointed as letter carriers, sorters, porters, etc. For these purposes departmental examinations will be substituted. The bill also provides that letter carriers who now reach the maximum salaries in five years may attain to it in half the time. It also proposes the appointment of an official to be called superintendent of city post offices. The postmaster general remarked that he proposes to appoint Mr. Ross, the present assistant postmaster of Toronto. It is understood that letter carriers, packers, etc., hereafter to be appointed will not be under the civil service act, and will receive a rate of pay per day instead of by the month.

The bill respecting pensions to mounted police officers was read a second and third time.

Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill to amend the pilotage act was read a second time. This bill extends to steam vessels sailing between the maritime provinces or Quebec and Great Lakes of Ontario, the same exemptions that are now allowed to ships plying between St. Lawrence ports and those ports farther south.

NOTES. Senator Poirier this afternoon strongly pressed on the government the importance of proceeding as rapidly as possible with the erection of the geological museum.

The government has decided to grant a bounty of $150,000 to the product of the arsenic mines in Hastings, this amount to be spread over a period of several years at a certain amount per ton. The grant is conditional, however, upon a bounty from the Ontario government of $100,000. The Ontario grant promised is $50,000, but the promoters of the industry are confident that Premier Ross will double the amount.

The selection of officers for the fourth contingent has not yet been made, but a conference will probably be held tomorrow evening between the minister of militia, the major general and the deputy minister, at which probably a list will be prepared. Applications for commissions are being received by the minister by every mail. Among the officers mentioned for commissions are Col. Williams, R. C. D. Col. Lessard; Lieut. Col. Turner, D. S. O. (V. C.), and Lieut. Col. Bolanger of Quebec.

SONS OF ENGLAND. The fraternal meeting of Marlborough and Portland Lodges, Sons of England, was well attended and much enjoyed. Those who took part were J. H. Walker, chairman, speech; songs by Bros. Noakes and Scarcliff of Marlborough Lodge; instrumental duet by Bros. Scarcliff and Woodill of Salisbury Lodge; Brantford; reading by Bros. Lessard and Belyea; recitations by Bros. Brown and Mannel; songs by Bros. Sellen and Wetmore and Nobles; speeches by Bros. Woodworth, Sellen, Chambers and S. Jams. God Save the King closed the programme.

WEAR FIG LEAVES.

Chicago Woman, Physician Advocates Nature's Garb.

CHICAGO, April 10.—Dr. Sarah Hackett Stevenson told women of the Chicago club that Rousseau was right when he advocated the return of man to a state of nature.

"If I were to express myself on the whole subject of dress," said Dr. Stevenson, "I should say, give me an Indian blanket—for cold weather. 'Clothes are largely the cause of disease, the body demanding the natural stimulants of sun, wind and rain. The disadvantages of man began when he stood upright and placed his head in an unnatural position. If people who take the Kneipp cure by walking barefooted in the grass would go on all fours they would carry out the whole theory of the cure."

"Man as an animal is suffering degradation at the hands of civilization. The hair is disappearing from his head, his eyebrows and eyelashes are going, his nose is losing its function, his teeth are disappearing, his nervous system is weakening, and with this degradation physically has come moral decline."

THE CANADIAN MILITIA. Hon. Dr. Borden Hopes to See It Increased and Improved.

Discussing the militia estimates in parliament yesterday Hon. Dr. Borden said he hoped next year to increase the permanent force from 1,000 to 1,500. He feared that it would not be possible to extend the period of service in camp to twenty-one or twenty-eight days. The proposition of the general in command endorsed by Colonel Tisdale, to provide for a militia reserve, would, Dr. Borden hoped, be carried out before long. This would not cost much, and with the help of the rifle clubs would treble the number of trained militiamen. It was also intended to increase the number of men in practice. Dr. Borden thought these reforms could be obtained at a moderate additional cost. He proposed hereafter that no recruits would be received who had not been tested in rifle practice and that all would be excluded who were not willing to go seriously about the work of preparing themselves for effective service. He claimed that the medical corps was highly efficient, as was proved by recent events in South Africa, and on the return from England of Col. Biegar an army service corps would be organized. On the whole Canada would soon have a force capable of defending the country and of rendering efficient service toward the defence of the empire.
