THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN

ST. JOHN, N. B., MARCH 6, 1901.

DR. PUGSLEY AND THE ROTHESEY LIST.

Attorney General Pugsley seems to have taken the floor yesterday expressly for the purpose of discussing the Rothesey crime. His speech may have had some other purpose, but it leaves the impression that he does not propose to keep the genuine he is reported to have made to seek out and prosecute the criminals.

Dr. Pugsley has more to say against the Chief Justice and Judge Landry than against the forgers or perjurers who committed the "irregularities." The judges had repented the wrong, the attorney general could not have spoken more tenderly of the heifers and more angrily of the court.

The attorney general says that the circumstance has occasioned him deep sorrow, and there is no doubt that it has in the later developments. But he has done nothing to show that he has the slightest desire for the detection and punishment of the persons who committed the "unparalleled crime."

In reply to Mr. Hazen's statement that the attorney general took no steps to quash the bogus lists, Dr. Pugsley pleads that he was absent in Prince Edward Island when Mr. Hazen took action, and that though he could not go to Fredericton to the hearing, he advised the sheriff to retain Mr. Skinner to oppose the quashing of the whole list.

The attorney general says he could take no action at first because business took him to Prince Edward Island. It was not business as attorney general which took him there. He was defending the notorious East Queens election case, when private parties were seeking to redress at their own expense a great public wrong which the law officers of the crown, "if there are any," should have been the first to repair.

Still more inadequate is Dr. Pugsley's excuse for the failure to prosecute. He intimates that he cannot find the criminal. Has he ever sought him? Has he taken even the first and simplest step that would be taken if the crime were of another class? Dr. Pugsley goes so far as to say that Revisor Gilliland is free from suspicion. Yet he knows that the revisor took from his colleagues the genuine list, signed and attested, undertaking to send it to the secretary. He knows that the list was never sent to the secretary. He knows that when Mr. Gilliland was asked for the document he promised to mail it, and that shortly afterward the bogus list arrived at Hampton in a letter addressed to Mr. Gilliland's handwriting, but registered in the name of Mr. Milligan.

explanations and evasions, but everybody knows that with this start the attorney general could catch the criminals as easy as he could prepare an act of incorporation. If he does not proceed it will be because he does not wish to proceed, and if he does not wish to prosecute the public will understand the reason.

THE TWO PRICE BRIDGES.

It would have been wise for the provincial premier to admit that the two-price bridge policy had been abandoned because it was bad. To plead that it was abandoned because it was good, or that it was abandoned unwillingly because it could not be carried out, does not help the government. So far as can be gathered the Record Company declined to tender because, after all the two price encouragement given them, they are without proper equipment. In the end the government accepted tenders from outside, at prices which Mr. Tweedie fears are too low. That will certainly be a new fault with New Brunswick bridge contracts, but it is one from which the contractors will be the chief sufferers.

We are not surprised that a government which has been paying double prices should think one price too little, but it may be that the British Bridge Company knows its business better than the sympathetic and compassionate premier. The price quoted is not lower than the current cost of steel bridges in other provinces. On the whole, there is no occasion for Mr. Tweedie to apologize for these contracts. They condemn the old ones, but that is in their favor.

But what has become of the argument that the two-price system was intended to build up a great bridge industry in the province? After five or six years of these operations we find the company, some of whose members get the benefit of the jobs, declining to tender because they were without machinery. This is the unhappy result of the misappropriation of tens of thousands of public money.

DR. GEORGE M. DAWSON.

The unexpected announcement is made today of the death of Dr. George M. Dawson, head of the geological survey of Canada. The late director inherited from his father his taste and aptitude for scientific research and exploration, without sharing the disposition and faculty which made Sir William Dawson a pillar of theological orthodoxy. The younger Dr. Dawson did not concern himself with the theological bearing of his observations or those of other people. He did not discuss the questions to which his father gave so much thought, and none of his writings show that he was much interested in them. He concerned himself only with the scientific side of scientific subjects.

Dr. Dawson was a more effective director than his predecessor, Dr. Selwyn, because he was a practical man and kept the survey more in touch with the requirements of the country. But so far as could be seen his heart was never in the administration of the department as it had been in field exploration. The best of his work was done as an explorer in new fields, as he was expert in half a dozen departments of natural history, and was a man of indomitable energy.

The specialist, who is only a specialist in one small area of knowledge, has his place in a geological survey, but he is not fit to go out on an unknown region to bring back a report of the land. No one would have supposed that the frail appearing body of the little director was capable of the immense labors and great feats of endurance involved in his expeditions into the polar regions of the far north-west. But the records of his twenty years in the outside service of the survey speak for themselves.

FROM THE STAR. Premier Tweedie seems to say that he is getting bridges at one price, because the two price contractors have gone out of the business. Apparently they have retired with a competence.

The most pathetic incident in the Rothesey crime is the lament of the attorney general that he cannot find the criminal. It is painful to contemplate that tedious and fruitless two months' search. Surely the rascals will now take pity on the tired hunter and rush into his arms.

The Telegraph has gone on strike. It has published a condensed report of the New Brunswick speech from the throne.

A Scottish organization has published a protest against the King's assumption of the title of Edward VII. The North Britons say that the name recalls an invader of Scotland, and the murderer of Wallace. With equal propriety the English people might have objected to the title of William IV, on the ground that the first of the name invaded England and killed Harold. It is a happy thing that neither the King nor his subjects are responsible for all the proceedings of predecessors or "ancestors" of the same name.

Some Nova Scotia Liberals are now pressing for the repeal of the provision which disfranchises federal employees, now that the employees are appointed by Liberals; the disqualification is found to be inconvenient, especially as the discharged conservatives are restored to the franchise. But it is pleasant to notice that the two chief party organs maintain their consistency. The Grit Chronicle insists that the principle which was right when the Tories were in power must be right still, even though it does harm to the party. The Tory Herald contends that the principle was always wrong and is so still, even though it is now beneficial to the conservatives.

The fact is that the disfranchisement was first imposed by the anti-confederate provincial legislature because that house was hostile to everything Canadian, and could only strike the dominion through federal officials.

The premier has found a precedent for the recent Coetigan resolution in the Transvaal resolution adopted by the House of Commons in 1899. There was no suggestion to the imperial authorities in the Transvaal resolutions. The House of Commons simply expressed "sympathy with the efforts of the imperial authorities to obtain for the subjects of her Majesty who have taken up their abode in the Transvaal, such measure of justice and political recognition as may be found necessary to secure them in the full possession of equal rights and liberties."

The St. John people have on many occasions shown their admiration of eminent and deserving men. But their greeting to the two wounded New Brunswick boys, who returned yesterday from South Africa, was heartier than any they ever gave to statesman or prince.

The speech from the throne says that the general prosperity of the time "has been shared by this province. There is reason to fear that the share which has reached the New Brunswick is scarcely equal to the demand.

The chief justice and Judge Landry will please refrain from further remarks on the persons who forged the bogus list. Their reflections are displeasing to the attorney general.

How would it be for Dr. Pugsley to offer a reward for information which will lead to the discovery of the Rothesey ballot forger?

Le Patre understands that Mr. Creadman, the new solicitor of the C. P. R., has a salary of $30,000 a year.

The forger of the Rothesey list is not believed to be in deadly terror of Attorney General Pugsley.

D. P. CHISHOLM DEAD.

Took Carbolic Acid Sunday Morning by Mistake. The death occurred under exceptionally painful circumstances, Monday afternoon, of D. P. Chisholm, a well known citizen of St. John for many years.

On Sunday morning Mr. Chisholm, who was a sufferer from indigestion, arose early, and as his breakfast was nearly ready he prepared himself a glass of milk and beaten eggs. Going to a closet, he saw a bottle which he supposed to contain a tonic he had been using, and from which he poured a spoonful or two into the glass of milk. As soon as he had taken it he realized his mistake and gave the alarm. Mrs. Chisholm once came down stairs, and knowing the bottle to have contained carbolic acid, sent immediately for a physician. Dr. Inches was soon in attendance and administered antidotes with such favorable results that evening Mr. Chisholm, rallied, and with some assistance was able to walk upstairs to his room. Early Monday he appeared in about the same condition, but about 4 o'clock in the afternoon he seemed suddenly to collapse. The doctor was again summoned, but before he arrived death had ensued. It is one of the symptoms of carbolic acid poisoning that if the amount taken is not so large as to be immediately fatal, the patient will often rally for a time, only to suffer a fatal collapse a short time later.

Mr. Chisholm came to St. John from Pictou county, N. S., about thirty years ago, and since that time has occupied a prominent place among the teaching profession of this city. He was at one time principal of the Leinster street school, and has taught in various capacities in several others. For the last seven years he has been employed in the School Trustees' office. He was married about fifteen years ago to Mrs. James Scovill, who survives him. Two brothers of the deceased are living in Boston, where one of them occupies a prominent position in the Geo. F. Blake Manufacturing Co. Mr. Chisholm was 59 years of age.

WE FREELY ACKNOWLEDGE that much of our present standing and reputation is owing to the character and ability of the students of whom it has been our good fortune to have had the training. This year's class is no exception, but is fully up to the standard of former years. Business and professional men in want of bookkeepers and stenographers are invited to call upon us or write us. No recommendation will be made unless we are sure of giving satisfaction. No better time for entering than just now.

DR. GEO. M. DAWSON DEAD.

Was One of the Cleverest Scientists in the Dominion.

Son of the Late Sir William Dawson, and Was Born in Nova Scotia Fifty-One Years Ago.

OTTAWA, March 5.—Dr. George M. Dawson, C. M. G., F. R. S. E., director of geological survey of Canada, died Saturday night of capillary bronchitis, after a short illness. Deceased was 51 years of age. He was one of the cleverest scientists in Canada and his services have been of the greatest value to the country.

Dr. Dawson was the eldest son of the late Sir William Dawson, and was born at his father's early home in Scotou, N. B. He was educated at Montreal, studying at McGill under his father, who had become president of that university. He took a full three years' course at the Royal School of Mines, London, where he graduated at the head of his class, having won all the best medals and scholarships awarded to him. In London masters was Professor Huxley. After a short service on the staff of Morrin College, he was appointed geologist and botanist on the Boundary commission which traced the frontier between Canada and the United States from the Lake of the Woods to the Rocky Mountains. His maps, plates and reports of the geology of that region were published in 1875. In the same year he joined the staff of the geological survey on which he served as explorer assistant director, and director more than a quarter of a century.

His work on the geological survey has been chiefly in British Columbia and the Northwest Territories, and in the discharge of his official duty he has explored a large portion of the western country, including a boat journey of 1,800 miles, with one portage of 60 miles, from the basin of the Laird River to that of the Yukon.

One of the most important of his public services was in connection with the Behring Sea arbitration. As one of the British commissioners he spent the summer of 1892 in the Behring Sea region for the purpose of enquiring into the conditions and facts of seal life. The report of the commissioners constituted the case of Her Majesty's government on this branch of the subject, and was of great service. For his services on this occasion he received the thanks of his excellency the governor general in council, and the C. M. G. from Her Majesty. In addition to his official reports he was the author of a large number of notes and papers on geology, geography and ethnological subjects. He received the degree of LL. D. from Queen's University in 1891. In the same year he was awarded the Bigsby gold medal by the London Geological Society for his services to the science of geology, and he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society. In 1893 he was elected president of the Royal Society in Canada, in 1894 he was elected a corresponding member of the Zoological Society of London; in 1895 a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. In 1896 he was appointed by the council of the British Association, president of the Geological section for the Toronto meeting of the association, and in 1897 he was awarded the Geerly gold medal of the Royal Geographical Society for a work as a whole. He was a bachelor.

KNOWN IN ST. JOHN.

W. C. Trussell, who has been arrested in Boston for larceny, and held in $2,500 bonds, was the American who some years ago spent the summer in Digby and made a lavish spread. The hotels were not suited to him, and he hired a furnished cottage, staying a month for the same. An Italian flag pole, from which to fly the stars and stripes, was erected on the grounds of the cottage, and band concerts and fireworks were a regular Tuesday and Thursday programme during his stay there. He also came into prominence a year or so later during a visit to St. John by his lavish use of money. During a banquet given to the City Council band at the Dufferin, by the American residents of the city, he refused to respond to the toast of the president of the United States unless drunk in champagne, which he ordered in such generous quantities that it had an exhilarating effect on a goodly number of St. Johnites.—Digby Courier.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

ROTHERAY "IRREGULARITY." To the Editor of the Sun: Sir—The impression in the rural districts anent the Rothesey "irregularity" that the revisers names were fraudulently attached to the bogus list, must be erroneous, if, as asserted, there has been no forgery in connection with it. Can it be that the non-resident list with some 80 odd voters' names, was unaccountably made roomy enough above the revisors' signatures to have 400 fraudulent names added afterward. It is uncertain what crime Dr. Pugsley would designate the latter act.

The idea is very prevalent that it is a wrong amounting to a crime for revisors to place their finished list in partisan and irresponsible hands. The attorney general states that "not a shadow of suspicion rests upon either of the three Rothesey revisors," and we accept his public statement. W. Kingston, K. C.

A MONTREAL MYSTERY.

MONTREAL, March 5.—The jury investigating the death of Mrs. Maynard came to the conclusion, after hearing the medical evidence, that the woman had met her death through a nervous shock or fear through bites caused by dogs while she was in an intoxicated condition. Two of the jurors dissented from the finding and recommended further inquiry by detectives. The verdict is a most unsatisfactory one in the eyes of the public. Maynard, her husband, who was under detention, has been released.

Str. Tagale cleared from Philadelphia yesterday for St. John. She is to load hay for South Africa.

HOPEWELL HILL.

HOPEWELL HILL, Feb. 27.—Whitman Mitton, son of Wm. Toth of this place, was married last evening to Miss Maggie O'Boyle, daughter of James O'Boyle of Chemical road. Rev. F. D. Davidson of Riverside performed the ceremony.

E. & R. Mitton, who are lumbering on an extensive scale this winter, have already got 700,000 feet of logs hauled to the Sawmill Creek, and during the month of March are expecting to cut and haul over a million, which will make their output almost two million feet. The firm will run one day and night. The Messrs. Mitton are young men, but they are genuine hustlers and understand their business. The firm gives employment to a large number of men.

Dr. J. T. Lewis of Hillsboro was called to the Hill yesterday to see Wm. R. Peck, who continues quite ill. C. A. Peck, K. C., returned today from St. John. The S. & H. line is still brockaded and mails are coming by team.

WHITE'S COVE, QUEENS CO.

WHITE'S COVE, Queens Co., Feb. 27.—A disease known as staggers has attacked several horses in this locality. This disease is said to be caused by eating a weed that grows on the intervals, known as pine top. A pie social will be held at the hall this evening. The proceeds will go towards the debating club. McLaughlin Brothers who took the contract last fall to build the new bridge at Waterborough, had to suspend operations about a month ago on account of storms and deep snow. They will resume work the first of March, and intend to complete the bridge in the early part of April. John Durost, who has spent the past year in Maine, has returned home to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Durost. Clarence White, who has spent the winter in the lumber woods of Maine, arrived home this week.

DR. McLEAN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Dr. McLean, formerly of Norton, who is now practicing in this city, had a narrow escape from serious injury, if not death, Sunday at noon. He was walking along Union street from Brussels street church when about twelve feet of heavy ice fell from the roof of the building in which Dunlop's grocery is situated. Miraculously the doctor escaped being struck, the falling ice seeming to part in mid-air and fall on either side of him, the crystal debris covered the sidewalk, and its total weight must have aggregated two hundred pounds. Ahead of the doctor and behind him were large parties of men, women and children coming from church. After the 27th downtown the crowds of look and giggle from more quickly, and nothing but a constant drumming will keep the houses free from the dangerous stuff.

MONCTON.

MONCTON, March 4.—An adjourned meeting of citizens tonight approved of the following candidates to run as the citizens' ticket, independent of domination politics: H. Atkinson for mayor, F. W. Given and J. T. Ryan for aldermen-at-large, Jas. Flanagan and Dr. Bourque for Ward One, A. H. Jones and A. C. Chapman for Ward Two, Jas. Doyle and J. P. Weir for Ward Three.

The meeting was representative and approved of the principle to run civic affairs apart from party politics. It is hardly likely that the ticket named will be elected by acclamation, as one candidate in opposition in Ward Three is already announced, and prospective candidates have been mentioned in other wards.

Jude LeBlanc, I. C. R. carpenter, about 27 years of age, was badly and probably fatally injured while repairing a car in the I. C. R. yards this afternoon. LeBlanc was engaged with an assistant in making repairs under the car, when it was struck by a shunted car. LeBlanc was knocked down and dragged a short distance by the moving car, and was severely crushed. Several ribs were stove in, and his internal injuries it is feared will prove fatal. He also received a bad gash on the back at the head. LeBlanc's companion was fortunate enough to escape injury.

At Quebec, the other day, a number of wrecks were sold. E. Lantulum of St. John purchased the wreck of the str. Dracon, 1,400 tons net, which lies at Fame Point, for $7, and Mr. Lantulum became the owner of the diving apparatus there for $365.

IN TENNESSEE

People Know Something About Coffee. A little woman in Rita, Tenn., ran up from 110 pounds to 155 pounds in a few months by leaving off coffee and taking up Postum Food Coffee. She had been sick for a long time, subject to headaches and a general nervous condition, with stomach trouble, caused by coffee drinking, and when she left it off and took Postum Food Coffee she made the change that cured her and fattened her quickly. She says: "I can now do as much work in a day as I want to, have no more headaches, and feel like a new person. People comment on how well I look and want to know what I am doing. I always say, 'I'm drinking Postum Food Coffee.'"

My husband has been cured of rheumatism by leaving off coffee and using Postum, and his mother, who was always troubled after drinking coffee, has abandoned it altogether and now uses Postum three times a day. She sleeps sound and says she never expects to taste coffee any more." Mrs. L. M. Edmondson Rita, Tenn.
