

THRILLING RESCUE AT THE REVERSING FALLS

Brave Act by George D. McCluskey and His Father, W. T. McCluskey, Saves Lives of People in Disabled Craft — Son, However, Has an Ankle Broken While Giving the Assistance.

A thrilling rescue was carried out on the river just above the Reversing Falls on Saturday evening last, which certainly saved the lives of the two occupants of a boat which was helpless and drifting over the falls.

Saturday evening George D. McCluskey, together with his wife, a lady friend of the latter, and his father, W. T. McCluskey, left the St. John Power Boat Club's moorings for a short spin on the river in their boat, the Clayoia.

The Clayoia was swung out of her course, for she was just then entering Marble Cove to her moorings. George D. McCluskey made ready the anchor rope. The Clayoia rounded up and came slowly past the helpless boat.

She then ran to the switch and turned it off, the Clayoia stopped and both boats began to drift toward the falls.

CHEAPER LIVING INDICATED IN WEEK'S SCALE OF PRICES

Sugar Slides Down and Butter About Only Staple to Advance — Green Corn on Market at 10 Cents a Dozen.

Practically every change in the general produce and green goods market during the past week has been for the better. The only change that indicated an increase was creamery butter, which advanced about two cents per pound. This was due to a general scarcity caused by the farmers turning their cream to some other use or to a shifting in markets.

Conditions have been satisfactory to the marketmen. Large quantities of country produce are being shipped to other cities and some of the smaller towns. Green peas have almost entirely vanished from the stores and stalls in the city market.

The fish market practically remains unchanged. Fish of all kinds is extremely scarce. Pickled shad advanced a dollar a hundred during the week. The schooner Fred and Norman arrived in port yesterday with 6,000 boxes of smoked herring, from Grand Manan, but these were virtually sold before they left the wharf.

Pork continues to stiffen, and this week followed its steady advance of the last few months with an increase of fifty cents. Scarcity of hogs is given as the reason. Follows report:
