BOARD OF EDUCATION

Minutes of adjourned meeting held in the Town Clerk's Office, Friday, July 14th, 1916, at 8.30 p.m.

Present—The acting chairman, Mr. Richards, and Messrs. Brown, McIntosh, McCallum, Warren, Caswell, Findlay.

Tenders for metallic ceiling for four upper rooms of Central school were opened and read, also tender from Cavers & Son for beaver board for same purpose, and tenders for preparing ceilings for metal.

Letter read from Principal Wetthey asking for an increase in salary, also letter from Deputy Minister of Education in reference to increased accommodation for high school. These were left over until next regular meeting.

The tenders for ceilings received considered discussion, none being as complete as desired.

The Finance Committee being now ready to present their estimate for amounts required for the school year beginning Sept. 1st next, it was moved by C. McIntosh, seconded by J. M. Brown, that the Board of Education apply to the Municipal Council of the Town of Carleton Place for the sum of twelve thousand nine hundred and ninety-two 80-100 dollars ($12,992.80). Four thousand two hundred and four 34-100 dollars ($4,204.34) is required for the High School and eight thousand seven hundred and eighty-eight 46-100 dollars ($8,788.40) for the Public School, for the ensuing twelve months next following the date of the application. These sums are made up as follows—

NEWS FROM CAPT. HOOPER

Improving in Health but Still a Prisoner of War.

Mrs. Hooper had a letter last week from her husband, Capt. W. H. Hooper, who is still a prisoner of war in Germany, and by her permission we are permitted to give the readers of THE HERALD the following excerpts:—

June 7th, 1916.
I got parcels containing cereals, just what I've wanted. All arrived o.k. Remember me to Mort. Brown. I'm glad Horace and McLaren are still o.k. Send them good luck for me.

Oh say, a Lieut. O'Grady, from Edmonton, who up to three months ago was in hospital with Clyde Scott, tells me there is no doubt in the world but Clyde will be sent to Switzerland. I'm so glad, for O'Grady says that with special attention and in time he will suffer only from a stiff knee. He says the brothers in the hospital all think the world of Clyde, and that they cannot do too much for him. O'Grady is here to appear before the Swiss Commission. I tell him he is a lucky beggar.

Three months ago I'm sure I could have passed easily, but now I am so well finished that it's out of the question. Only the muscles of my left leg still cause me anxiety. I am indeed lucky, for had one of the wounds gone an inch deeper into the stomach it would have been fatal.
I had a good walk on Saturday, along up the Rhine this time, and not too long with a good chance to sit down and rest. I'm in a new room now. Artillery Leech and I from the old room and six others are here; it is crowded, but the view from the windows makes up for any discomforts. It looks right up the Rhine and up the junction of it and the Main, also on the station at Mainz. I'm afraid I'll do little French this week, most of my time will be spent looking out of the window. I got copy of McClure's and Cosmopolitan; also canned goods.

P.S.—7 p.m., just changed from room 36 to 30, view is not so good, but we have more room.

Brothers Meet on Train.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Robertson returned on Friday last from a month's enjoyable trip through the Canadian west. A visit was made to Winnipeg; then at Penoka, Banff, and Edmonton. W. S. is dated on the beauties of Banff. He crossed the divide through the Crow's Nest Pass, and was going to Fernie, B.C., to see his brother Jim, but was prevented owing to a landslide and washout on the line. On his return east the brothers met on the train and neither knew of the other's presence on the train until the meeting. It was a sad mission east for Jim, who with his children were accompanying home the body of his wife to Renfrew for interment. Mrs. Robertson had been ill for some time. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Robertson returned via the lake route from Port Arthur.—Perth Examiner.

THE TWELFTH AT ALMONTE

Wednesday was a typical Twelfth, as for weather, exceeding that the local thunderstorm did not make its appearance. The thermometer must have registered about 100 in the shade, but that did not prevent hundreds of people from the neighboring towns and countryside from turning out to celebrate the Orange fete day. The alarm drum was heard early in the morning and the members of Almonte Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 378, met in solemn and secret convocations at seven o'clock, as is the custom of all lodges to do on July 13th.

The factories of the town were all closed for the day and the streets, with the numerous streamers, and gathering crowd from town and country soon took on a holiday appearance.

Special trains from the south, and the regular trains from both north and south brought in additional contingents, others coming in by teams and autos. As the visiting lodges arrived, they were marshalled and escorted to the agricultural grounds. Dinner was served by the Almonte Orange ladies in the agricultural hall.

The procession was formed in the grounds, and promptly at 2 o'clock moved out, with County Marshal S. J. Lowe, as director of ceremonies.

The following lodges were in the procession, the ladies riding in automobiles, which had been commandeered for the occasion. They were headed by St. Andrew's Pipe Band of Ottawa; Ladies' Lodges from Carleton Place, Almonte and Billings Bridge; Orange Young Britons, Carleton Place; Orange Lodges from Hazeldean, Franktown, Drummond Centre, Carleton Place, Smiths Falls, Innisville, Almonte, Hopetown and Lanark. The line of route followed was along the principal streets, starting out on Church street, and returning by Water street.

Returning to the grounds, addresses were delivered by members of the order and others, County Master Ebbs of Drummond presiding.

Mayor Pittard, in extending a welcome to the visiting lodges and other visitors present, said that there were legitimate reasons why the attendance was not as large as might have been expected. He pointed out that the weather conditions have been such that the farmers had been delayed with their work and now that good weather had set in, they were busy saving their hay, and could not well spare the time away from the farm. The excessive heat had also something to do with keeping many away, and then so many of the young men of the surrounding districts had answered the call of their King and Country that the ranks of the Orangemen had been depleted. Of the 350,000 Canadians now wearing the King's uniform, over 20,000 were members of the Orange order.

Rev. J. C. McLeod, Worshipful Master of Lanark, was the principal speaker. In rising he said that he considered it an honor to be asked to speak in the interests of the Order. Some might think that a celebration of this kind at such a time was out of place, but the Orange Order had nothing to do with sectarianism. It exists for the purpose of propagating and maintaining the principles of Liberty, Righteousness, Order and Equality. It seeks to give a square deal to all, regardless of class distinction. He referred to the effect that the call to arms has had upon Canadian life. "We are," said he, "forgetting the small and petty things in the light of the bigger things for which our men are serving and dying on the battlefields of Europe. The awful loss in life, which we have sustained, has given us a new outlook and a new character, as citizens of a great Empire, and has struck the death blow to ancient sectarianism. The character of men and institutions that is being developed and will serve in the coming day, is such that shall see things in their right relationship and in their true perspective, and sinking the unimportant, will emphasize the things that are of real worth." In dealing with the bilingual question, he pointed out that it had been said that Ontario did not understand Quebec, but he would say that Quebec did not understand Ontario. We of Ontario were not opposed to children speaking the French language. If it were possible he would be glad if every child in Canada could speak that language. But we are opposed to any power that would seek to impose its
