Advice.

Be true wherever joys depend Upon the fight you're in, And smiling take the loser's end If you must cheat to win. Full many a game in life is seen Played out on such a plan, That he who fails to win has been By far the better man. My boy I'd rather never see You reach the mountain peak, Than sweep the crown of victory And know you were a sneak.

Wheat and the War.

articles in The Agricultural War Book of 1916 deals with the subject of "Wheat and the War," it is written by Mr. T. K. Doherty, L. L. B., Commissioner of the International Agricultural Institute. The author traces the course of events, as regards the wheat market in the momentous years of 1913, 1914 and 1915, the first-named, sharing with the last two years some of their importance—although preceding the war—by reason of the decline of prices from those of 1912. In 1914-15 prices per bushel of British wheat jumped from $2.05 to $1.61. In this connection Mr. Doherty asks readers to examine a table giving quotations of prices since the year 1820. In 1812 the figures reached their zenith, Britain having wars with France and the United States on her hands. Wheat was then $3.86 a bushel, or more than three times the standing of today. During the first quarter of the nineteenth century the lowest price was $1.37, this was in 1822. In the second quarter, the lowest figure was reached in 1835, when wheat stood at $1.35. In the third quarter prices ranged from $1.17 in 1851 to $2.27 in 1855, fluctuating after that from $1.22 in 1864 to $1.95 in 1867 and down to $1.37 in 1875. In 1877 the quotation was $1.42. A period of steadiness followed until 1883, when there was a drop to $1.25. The decline continued the even dollar being reached in the following year. Then, for the first time in the period covered in the table, or in 1886, below that figure was reached 94 cents being the quotation. In 1891 the price was $1.13 in 1898 it was $1.12, the lowest point, in 1894 fourteen years elapsed before a dollar was again exceeded. In 1909 the highest quotation stood at $1.13. Mr. Doherty briefly outlines the cause for these fluctuations, and proceeds to deal with the situation arising from the supply and demand in the last three years. He also deals with the output of other crops during those years, referring to the best known authorities in support of his details and deductions. He goes largely into the requirements and production of the world in wheat, giving tables showing the yield in 32 countries of wheat and 22 of oats. In his conclusion, he also suggests that every aspect of the wheat situation appears to indicate the improbability of a return to the low average prices of 1910, 11 and 12, and that following the declaration of peace there will be a greatly increased demand. His final words are: "Economic interests unite, therefore with patriotic duty in stimulating the agriculturalists of Canada to extraordinary productive efforts during the forthcoming season." As an appendix, a description is given of marketing operations in Australia. The article deserves and should attract wide attention. The War Book can be had by addressing the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Fell in a Faint.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayles' Cliff, Que., writes: "Before using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor. I could not sleep with out fainting. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has so built up my system that I can wash and do my housework. Your medicine cured me when doctors had failed."

"Yes," the young medico sighed, "the healing profession is full of difficulties. The other day, for instance, I had a patient who ought to have gone to a warmer climate. Couldn't afford it. I decided to try hypnotism. I painted a large sun on the ceiling, and by suggestion induced him to think it was the sun."

"And how did it work," inquired the listener. "The doctor passed a hand wearily over his brow. 'He a down with unstroke,' he said sadly."

The type of youth who indulges in loud clothes and a hat forced back over his ears dropped into the dental chair. "I'm afraid to give him gas," said the dentist to the assistant. "Why?" "How can I tell when he's unconscious?"

"Pa, what is courage?" "Courage, my boy, is what your father shows when he keeps his shoes on when he combs into the house several hours later than he told your mother he would be."

Why Husbands Leave

Why do so many husbands run away? A statistician connected with the bureau of public welfare has been trying to answer the question. After investigating thousands of cases of desertions he finds that the husband's action can usually be ascribed to one of the following causes: Ill health and peevishness of the wife. Slowness of the wife, either in her own work or in her household duties. The wife's habit of nagging or gossiping. Dislike for children, on the wife's part. This statistician found that the strongest incentive to reconciliation in cases of family discord is almost invariably the child. He also found that very few wives are deserted who are—

Physically well and mentally cheerful. Able to contribute to the family income either by outside labor or by frugality in home management. Affectionate and home loving. Sympathetic and considerate of their husbands. The very interesting and valuable statistics which he collected prove that native American husbands are more prone to desert their wives than are the foreign born. They also show that married life is the happiest when husband and wife are nearly alike in age, nationality, religion, moral standards, temperament, health and physical strength.

Tired-out Kidneys.

Kidney troubles are so frightfully common because the kidneys are so easily upset by overwork or excesses of eating and drinking. Cure is effected not by whipping them on to renewed effort, but by awakening the action of liver and bowels by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This rouses the kidneys and makes them well. Backache and urinary disorders then disappear.

Facts About British Trenches.

made in the British trenches since last winter. Most of them have boarded floors, others have brick floors. They have a system of trench pumps to get rid of the water, and pipes which run a mile and a half back from the front of the trench supply drinking water to the men. The dug-outs are comparatively comfortable. The men have rough beds to lie on, and many contain tables. Many of them also have small braziers with fires.

One of the most valued presents which men receive are boxes of night lights, which they are allowed to burn in their dug-outs. This year the men have been served out with long indiarubber boots. When a battalion of men is coming to the trenches, it finds in the supporting lines these boots waiting. They remove their own boots and get a pair of the new ones, and put on the rubber boots. When coming away after a turn in the trenches they leave these boots at the same station and receive their own boots and socks, which have been dried for them.

This is kind of stuff you hear on the front porch: "Why, George, how dare you! Now you can go right home, and don't you ever, ever speak to me again. George goes as far as the steps. 'Let me come back, please. I'll be good, honest I will.' 'If you're going to be good, there isn't any reason for coming back.' 'O, you little angel!' 'George, dar I can't breathe.' Michigan Guroyle.

"Jimmy, we're going to play the Terriers, a nine-inning game tomorrow." "Vip I'll be dere." "An' tell yer mother ter git all the stuff she needs in the house in the morning. We can't have you called home in de death lining to run to the grocery store."

"What is your idea of harmony in politics?" "Same as most other people in my line of activity," answered the robust alderman. "Harmony consists in having your own way and persuading the other people to be resigned to fate."

As a pleasant-faced woman passed the corner, Jones touched his hat to her, and remarked feelingly to his companion. "Ah, my boy, I owe a great deal to that woman." "Your mother?" was the query. "No, my landlady."

Stinging Neuralgia.

NEURALGIA DUE TO NERVE STAVING FOR LACK OF GOOD BLOOD. An eminent medical writer has said that "neuralgia is the cry of starved nerves for better blood." The one great symptom of this trouble is pain, fierce, stabbing pain, that almost drives the sufferer frantic. The one cure is poor blood; the only cure is to enrich the blood. Heat applied to the inflamed nerves will give relief, but does not cure. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills furnish the blood all the needed elements, and the blood conveys them to the nerves. The only way of getting food or medicine to the nerves is through the blood, and the only way to enrich the blood is through a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In this way neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve disorders are promptly cured, and the whole system benefited and strengthened. Mrs. M. Gleason, R. R. No. 1, Uxbridge, Ont., who was a great sufferer from neuralgia, says: "I suffered intensely from neuralgia for four years. My blood was thin and I was completely run down. I suffered terribly all the time. At different times I consulted three doctors, but their treatment did me no more than give me temporary relief. Then I tried different medicines, but the result was the same—they seemed to do nothing for me but give me morphia tablets to ease the pain, and by this time I had about resigned myself to a life of pain. Then one of Dr. Williams' salesmen came to our house and I read of similar cases cured through the use of Pink Pills. I got three boxes and before they were all gone the pain began to decrease, and I began to have a better appetite. By the time I had taken six boxes I was again a well woman, and my neighbors could hardly realize that such a change could be made in so short a time. Later I was bothered with eczema and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me. I have found these Pills worth their weight in gold and I cheerfully recommend them to all who are ailing."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

In the course of a lesson on the subject of domestic economy and hygiene a mistress got a singularly smart and apt answer from a child. "Speaking of milk and its importance as a food, the lady asked: 'What is the best place where to keep the milk perfectly nice and fresh during, say, on a hot summer day?' And one girl—evidently thinking it was an easy one—promptly answered: 'In the cow.'
