

REASON NO 24 WHY YOU SHOULD USE Red Rose Tea

Because it is full weight.

You get a full pound of tea inside the package. The lead wrapping is not included in the weight.

It is weighed by automatic electric machines—machines that never make mistakes (clerks sometimes do), and the tea is poured into the packages after being weighed.

Put a pound package of Red Rose Tea on a scale and it will weigh 19 to 20 ounces, according to the thickness of the lead wrapper; or the tea, poured out, will weigh 16 ounces.

Everything about Red Rose Tea is always full measure—weight, quality, purity, and cleanliness—and your satisfaction will be full and complete when you use it.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

Some Curious and Varied Beliefs to His Identity.

According to Platorius, the man in the moon is the patriarch Isaac, carrying the bundle of sticks which were to be lighted to sacrifice his own body on the mountain top. Dante believes him to be Cain, carrying a bundle of thorns, the meanness offering his lands afforded, as a present to God. In Iceland the people claim that they can see the face of Adam in the moon and that of Eve in the sun. Among the Frieburgers there is a superstition which says that the marks and spots on the moon's face are the outlines of the traitor Judas Iscariot, holding his hand over his face while sneezing just prior to hanging himself. This last belief accords with the old Frankish legend which says that there was no spot on Luna's bright face until after the time of the crucifixion of Christ. Still another story tells us that in the time of the creation God threw an offending angel against the face of the moon, while another is to the effect that the moon witnessed the creation of Adam and Eve and took an impress of their features on his surface, intending to people his own land with similar beings. When he essayed to imitate God's works, he made nothing but a slimy serpent, which since that day has continued to fold and unfold its mighty coils in full view of the descendants of the God created beings.

TRUE STORY OF MASSACRES

Those at Baku Planned by Blood-Guilty Originators of the Terrible Butchery at Kishineff.

London, April 3.—The true story of the Baku massacres as told in the Caucasian newspapers is a tragedy with which the atrocity of Kishineff alone of recent years may be compared. Armenians at Baku taking the place of the Jews at Kishineff.

"For four days," in the words of the Bakinskia Ivestia, "a savage bacchanalia raged in which the passions of homicide, outrage, arson and plunder were let loose."

2,000 People Killed. The paper goes on to say that during those days no less than 2,000 people lost their lives as victims of the cold-blooded machinations of the St. Petersburg authorities. The latter attributed the outbreak to the sudden development of an internecine feud between the Mussulman and Armenian inhabitants, but those acquainted with the relations of the Christians and Mussulmans there know this to be false. The truth is boldly asserted by the Bakinskia Ivestia, which, it must be remembered, like all Russian papers, is published under the supervision of the censor.

The Ivestia says that it has not the slightest doubt that the massacre was organized by the same blood-guilty persons who planned the butchery at Kishineff. Then it proceeds and tells the blood-curdling tale in detail.

A word to the wise is resented.

HOME SLAVERY.

Some Wives and Mothers Become Too Self Sacrificing.

Self sacrifice is natural to some women. Often its power masters them altogether until their lives become one ceaseless devotion to endless labor and acceptance of unpleasant things that the pleasant part of living may be kept sacred for the rest of the family.

The purely useless side of this entire self effacement must sometimes strike the beholder, who realizes that it gives as little real benefit to the family as to the individual. Putting aside the moral effect on the younger members of a family brought up to regard their mother as a machine operated for the family convenience, the woman who consecrates herself to the well being of her family does not really accomplish all she desires.

If she renounces all recreation and higher life for herself and gives up all communion of mind and spirit with her husband and children, it is doubtful if she has chosen the best way of spending her health and energies.

If overfatigue numbs her mental brilliance or saps her buoyancy, the atmosphere of home is more greatly injured than the added cleaning and stitching and cooking can repair. If she is too worn out to give sympathy to the children's joys and sorrows, what do the lavish larder and fine furniture avail?

And if, as does happen, overtaken nature gives way and others must step in the breach to take up her work, and to take care of the work as well, what has she gained that she does not finally lose in her breakdown?

A life laid down in a worthy cause is not lost, but gained, but to teach children and husband selfishness and to ruin one's own helpfulness to them by useless drudgery is not a worthy cause.—Chicago Record Herald.

LARGE HATS.

How to Fasten Them on When Driving in the Wind.

I have heard it said there is money awaiting the woman who will patent a device for keeping on a large hat while driving in the wind. My neighbor offers the following original idea: Stretch a fine black silk cord across the front of the hat and on top of the brim, as shown in the illustration (A A A), fastening it on each edge with a veil pin. Pass it along the sides of your face and tie it together over your hair at the back. Try it if you want to prove that the hat cannot blow upward in front—K. in Good Housekeeping.

Don't Grow Old.

Many women become middle aged from the simple reason that they allow middle aged habits to steal upon them and relapse into a state of physical indolence just at a time when they should fight against this tendency to give up exercise, says Woman's Life. "The best preventives against growing middle aged," says a charming woman of forty-five, whose unwrinkled face and slim figure give her the appearance of being at least fifteen years younger than her real age, "are cheerfulness, a strict determination not to worry over trifles and a sense of humor that saves one from depression. A cold tub every morning, a walk every day in rain or sunshine, face massage with cold cream at night, ten minutes' physical exercise immediately on rising, friction of the hair to stimulate its growth, will keep any woman free from wrinkles and will preserve the contour of her figure."

Two Kitchen Comforts.

I find my two best kitchen friends are a high stool and a camp chair, cost $1. The high stool saves strength and rests the feet when employed in the ceaseless round of washing dishes. So many women stand to peel potatoes or apples, while I find it a great pleasure to sit in my camp chair by my blue flame when frying fritters or doing the many things which need almost constant attention. Oftentimes I can have paper, magazine or book in hand, but with the nose and ears so close the cooking can be attended to even if the eyes and mind are otherwise engaged.—Brown Book.

Baked Potatoes.

Baked potatoes are supposed to be very easily digested, and so they are when they are baked properly. A hot oven is necessary, for a strong degree of heat is required to turn the starch of the potato to dextrin. Cooked in a slow oven a baked potato is no more digestible than boiled. Potatoes in the shell are very good, besides being wholesome. Bake large potatoes, and when quite done cut off a piece from one end and scoop out the inside. Mash with salt, pepper, butter, a little hot milk and the white of an egg to three potatoes, the egg beaten stiff. Refill the shells and return to the oven for a few minutes.

Curing the Gapes.

I keep wheat soaking in a small bottle of turpentine. If a chick wheezes, snuffles and rattles as though it had a cold, this is the forerunner of gapes, says an Illinois breeder in American Agriculturist. When gapes are unusually violent and fatal a chick may begin gasping without showing these. In such case the chick is nearly always a goner. Carbolic acid will help him if anything will. Pour a little refined carbolic acid in a spoon, hold it over a lamp, and dense white fumes will soon arise. Hold the chick's head in these, drawing him away for a second or two to let him catch his breath. Don't let him get his bill in the acid. If you look at the acid in the spoon before you pour it back in the bottle you can often see the tiny red worms that the fumes made the chick cough up. Five cents' worth of acid will doctor dozens of chicks. If the chick is only coughing, two or three grains of the wheat or a tiny piece of asafetida may cure him. If he is still wheezing the next day repeat the dose. I never failed to kill a chick that I gave both carbolic acid and turpentine in one day.
