

AND

LET

t day of

NITURE LE.

ar out ofmy aple &

DDS! ERY! 3! WLS! ETC., · cent. actual of Black nd Table 50 per an can be

7 must

ned to give A GRAND EFIT in the Goods this

Catholic Record. "CHRISTIANUS MIHI NOMEN EST, CATHOLICUS VERO COGNOMEN."-"CHRISTIAN IS MY NAME. BUT CATHOLIC MY SURNAME."-St. Pacian, 4th Century.

LONDON, ONT., FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1882.

CLERICAL. with the solemnity of a nurse telling about a bugaboo, to terrify her

WE have received charge. The Times and other secu-lar papers have, from time to time, a large stock of kindly assigned the Pope to many goods suitable for cleri- spots on this side of the ocean, not even forgetting Governor's Island. The next thing in order will be for cal garments. We give in our tailorattention to this branch some politician, with a view to the securing of the "Catholic vote"— which does not exist—to demand a of the trade. N. WILSON & CO. anything may be expected.

VOL 4.

The Water Lilies.

New York Tablet.

For small petty malignant cruelty,

solitary confinement for the poor

offence of trying to forward a letter to a friend, it is about as small and

of a whole nation, treated as if he were a common malefactor. The French Bastile, about which English

McGee's Weekly.

the Chester Assizes in England,

which forcibly illustrates the eviis arising from the rule of an infamous aristocracy, like that of Great Brit-ain and Ireland. A desperate nightaffray took place between the keepers of a Colonel Legh and a party of salt-miners who were poaching. The poachers had guns, the keepers (so they at first asserted) had only

A CASE was tried the other day at tiles in Ireland.

I muse slove, as the twilight falls Over the gray old castle's walk. Where a skeepy lake through the lazy hours Crisply mirrors the time-worn lowers: And scarce a whisper rustles the sedge, Or a ripple lisps to the water's edge, As far and wide, on the tideless stream, The matted water lilles dream. commend us to an English jailor and his masters. If Parnell, as has been stated, has been subjected to a week's I stood, in the quiet even'-fail, Where, in the ancient banquet hall Over the hearth is a panel placed, By some old Florentine chisel chased, Showing a slender, graceful child. In the flowing robes of a wood-nymph wild. Bending over the wavy flood As she stoops to gather a lily bud. vindictive a piece of business as could be well imagined. Here is a man, a gentleman by birth and edu-cation, the recognized pol·tical leader

In works as quaint as the carving old, An aged dame the story told, How an earl's daughter, long ago, A strange, pale child, with a brow of snow, Had loved, and lost her life for the sake Of the liftles that grew in her father's lake, Holding them ever her favorite flower; Till once, in the bush of a twilight hour, Floating among them out in the stream, Where the passionless blossoms nod and dream. They found her lying, white and dead, "Like a sister lify," the old dame said.

And a sadaess, born of the old-world tale, Haunts me still, while the starlight pale Gleams on the leaves, so green and wet, Where the changeless illies are floating yet And a message I fain would read aright, And a message I fain would read arigh Seems to lurk in each challce white, A secret, guarded fold on fold, As it guards its own deep heart of gold, And only told to the listening ear, Of him who humbly tries to hear.

Oh! mystic blossom floating there, Thing of the water, thing of the air. We claim thee still, as we hold the dead, Anchored to earth by a golden thread.

CATHOLIC PRESS.

Baltimore Mirror.

sticks. One of the keepers' party was desperately wounded, while sev-eral of the poachers were hurt, and one was killed by a shot fired from WHEN the Southern Churchman asserted a little while back that the a revolver. It was afterwards dis-Sacrament of Penance is "destructcovered that this weapon belonged ive of the Gospel of Christ," we to a member of the keepers' party, quoted this passage from the Bible: "He said therefore to them again: which included several amateur watchers. The end of the affair was Peace be to you. As the Father hath sent Me, I also send you.' When He had said this, He breathed hath sent me, I also send you.' hard labor for shooting with intert, on them, and He said to them. 'Re-&c., while three "respectable" young men received a like punishment for coive ye the Holy Ghost: whose sins you shall forgive, they are for-given them; and whose sins you shall retain they are retained." We then asked the Churchman perjury, that is for swearing that they had no firearms when they had. Here is a melancholy catalogue. One man dead, several more or less whether or not Christ had granted severely wounded, and six men shut to His apostles the power to forgive sins. If they had the power, was it And all for what? Why, that a few sins. If they had the power, was it given not to be used? If to be used, how was it to be exercised—were the apostles to forgive everybody indis- ing, an amusement which has very criminately? How could they for-give sin if they did not know that ment to recommend it. sin had been committed, and how The birds of the air, created by could they learn what sins had been the Almighty for the benefit of man, committed if the guilty persons did not confess to them their offences? are claimed as the exclusive property of these noble lords, who also claim These questions the Churchman has to "own" the soil, the free gift of the not answered, and we, therefore, re-Creator, as well as the fish that peat them, respectfully requesting swim in the rivers and streams. our esteemed contemporary to give The peasant must be content to die them its consideration. of starvation rather than kill and THE FAST of Lent is obligatory on eat the wild towl that flies over his all mature Catholics, who are able to head, or the fish that swarm the practice this austerity. Some poor Christians exaggerate the effects of stream at his feet. No, these free gifts of the Creator to his children fasting by them and deprecate the were monopolized by the robber few, state of their health, when seeking a kept for their special pleasure and dispensation, and thus obtain on amusement. It is against the infamfalse pretences a modification of the ous system that tolerates such a conpenance. Some other weak members dition of things that the Irish people of the Church do not trouble them- are struggling to-day, and what selves to go to their confessors tor a seems strange, indeed, some very "good" and "pious" people are horri-fied at the idea of violating these relaxation of the law, but dispense themselves from its observance, and substitute no other good work in the "sacred rights" and this "property" place of the fast. Wheever is in of Lord Graball and Lady Rackevery way able to fast in Lent, yet rent. fails to do so, sins grievously!

Freeman's Journal:

demned the Protestants of old; for example, the Arians, Eutychians and the rest. The Protestants of to-day likewise condemn the dotrines of the Protestants of old, therefore, approve of the condemnation pronounced by the Catholic Church of the Protestants of old. The Catholic Church being right in the condemnation of the Protestants of old, is she not likewise right in reservation which the Holy Father the condemnation of the Protestants may "pre-empt." From persons of to-day? who swallow such tough canards, SISTER SISTER VINCENTIA, Provincial of the Sisters of the Poor of St. Francis, was on Tuesday last elected Superior deneral of the Order throughout the World. Sister Vincentia has been Provincial since 1870 and has always resided at the Provincial House, of Santa Clara, Cincinnati, She is about fifty years of age, and has been in the Community for nearly thirty years, having been one of the first members when the order was founded. Though Sister Vincentia claims Trier, a city of the Rhine Province, Germany, as her birthplace, yet her elevation to the high dignity is an honor that her American Sisters appreciate in their own writers prate so mucn, was a palace most humble way. The Mother of ease compared to the English bas- house is in Germany, and there Sister Vincentia must reside."

London Universe.

A SIGN of the times. The Prince of Wales dined at Willis's Rooms on Satur-Wales dinied at Willis's Rooms on Satur-day evening, and made an interesting speech. On the same evening Mr. Brad-laugh addressed a meeting in his so-called "Hall of Science," about, as usual, him-self and his religious beliefs. On Monday morning one of the leading London pa-pers devoted nearly a quarter of a column of its space and a summary paragraph in pers devoted nearly a quarter of a column of its space and a summary paragraph in its leading page to Mr. Bradlaugh, whilst the Prince of Wales was dismissed with a paragraph of ten lines, and in the sum-mary active existence of his Paragraph. mary column the existence of his Royal Highness was ignored altogether. Such a disrespect of royalty—such a direct and wanton insult to the heir to the throne— in an Irish newspaper would be construed into an act of rebellion. How can this be accounted for 2 accounted for ?

THE letter of Leo XIII. to the archbis-hops and bishops of Italy upon the dread-ful moral condition of the Peninsula is a the moral conductor of the Pennsula is a terrible picture of what the school of Mazzini has done for this unhappy coun-try. But it is not the revolutionist and the infidel who are the only ones to be blamed. There is Protestantism (in all its reactions before the school of the sch its variations before it reaches atheism) allowed to run rampant through Italy with its spurious scriptures and its licentious literature, destroying the faith and pois-oning the morality of that Catholic people.

O'CONNELL's address to the men of Clonnel, written nearly fifty years ago, has significance and interest to-day. In it the leader of that time advised the it the leader of that time advised the Tipperary men to "take down and publish in their parish the names of any, if there be any, traitors to Ireland." "Let there be no violence, no force, no outrage; but (adds the Tribune) post up the names of the traitors to Ireland. Let no mau deai with them—let no woman speak to them— let the oliblers hund them to see "!! If let the children laugh them to scorn." If this be not Boycotting with a vengeance, we know not what is. MANY a joke resulted in earnest. The MANY a Joke resulted in earnest. The directors of the Bank of Ireland are said to have received official notice that their beautiful building—once the Parliament-House of Ireland—will soon again be re-cuired for largicating purpose of Me House of freiand—will soon again be re-quired for legislative purposes, as Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule speech is about to be followed up in the most practical manner. We do not think that the direcmanner. We do not think that the direc-tors need just at present remove their furniture, but we do think that without some form of Irish Home Rule Ireland will never be satisfied and England will never feel at complete rest.

ket promised them, more agricultural pro-duce being shipped last year than ever before. Hon. Mr. McLelan rejoined briefly, followed by Mr. Rinfret, in Frency. Mr. followed by Mr. Rinfret, in Frency, Mr. Plumb moved the adjourned at 11:40. During the routine proceedings on Mon-day the 6th, in the House of Commons, Mr. Macdonell, of Lawark, introduced a Bill relating to promisory notes, and Dr. Fortin, a Bill to provide for conducting elections in An 'icosti and the Magdalen Islands in Win-ter by means of the submarine telegraph. Amongst the orders and addresses asking for information were one by Mr. Chariton ter by means of the submarine telegraph. Amongst the orders and addresses asking for information were one by Mr. Charlton asking for copies of instructions from the Surveyor-General to the Government tim-ber agent at Winnipeg. one by Mr. Mac-kenize for exports of coal from Nova Scotia since 1877, and cne by Mr. Wallace, of York, for papers relating to the railway crossing at the corner of Queen and Duf-ferin streets, Toronto. The House rose at six o'alock.

After routine Tuesday, the 7th, which After routine Tuesday, the 7th, which was of an unimportant character, Mr. Plumb resumed the Budget debate, and delivered a speech of four hours' length. He was followed by Mr. Mackenzie, who spoke with far less than his wonted energy, but was well received by both sides. He regretted, while he admitted his defeat in '878, but contended that the course he had then taken was the proper one in the had then taken was the proper one in the had then taken was the proper one in the interest of the country. He claimed that the chief credit of the acquisition of the North-West was due to the Liberal party, and that a large share of it belonged to the late Hon. George Brown. Turn-ing to the tariff he argued that 17² per cent. 'afforded sufficient protection to all industries suitable to the country, and an nounced his intention to ask for a com-Industries suitable to the country, and an nounced his intention to ask for a com-mittee on cotton manufactures, with a view to ascertaining in what condition they are at present. He expressed his pleasure at the prosperity of the country, and attri-buted it to the increase of our exports of agricultural produce and lumber. After dealing at some length with the expen-diture on the consolidated fund and cavital diture on the consolidated fund and capital diture on the consolidated fund and capital account under his own and the present regime, he closed with an intimation that he would take another opportunity of making some remarks which he did not feel able to make on that occasion. On Wednesday the 8th, Mr. Landry, at the request of Sir Hector Langevin, with-drew his motion for leave to introduce a bill to reneal the Supreme Court Act bill to repeal the Supreme Court Act. After various questions had been put to the Ministry, and replied to, Mr. Wallace, of Norfolk, moved a resolution in favor of having a Dominion franchise for elecof naving a Dominion tranchise for elec-tions to the House of Commons, irrespec-tive of all Provincial systems of franchise, and spoke at some length in support of his motion, upon which Sir Leonard Tilley, moved the adjournment of the debate, when it was agreed to. Mr. Tellier then moved for certain returns concerning the port of St. Hyacinthe, and spoke briefly in French to show that the collecter of Customs there did not receive an adequate salary. Mr. McIsaac's motion for returns concerning harbor works in Nova Scotia gave rise to an animated dis-Nova Scotta gave rise to an animate dis-cussion, in which that gentleman, Sir H. Langevin, Mr. MacDonell, of Inverness, and Sir C. Tupper took part. Mr. Ives' bill for amendment to the Dominion elec-ter of Social Science (Social Science) tion act, requiring a deposit of $200 from candidates for the Commons, subject to forfeiture under certain circumstances, was advanced a stage. Mr. Orton's bill relating to Pawnbrokers was discharged, insolent triumph of a faction, and the only liberty allowod is that attacking God and Christian morality.

BRANTFORD LETTER.

FAREWELL TO REV. FATHER BARDOU. When the word came to Brantford that the Rev. Father Bardou was appointed to a new mission it caused a general feeling of regret among all classes of the com-munity, and everybody seemed anxious to give expression to the feeling in some form. Accordingly on Wednesday even-ing of last week, after the usual services in church a number of gentlemen of the congraduate forward to the radius in congregation went forward to the railing and gave tangible shape to the feeling of sorrow experienced. On behalf of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, a con-ference of which Father Bardou had been instrumental in starting ten years ago, Mr. James McGregor read an address thanking him for the kindness he had always shown the society and expressing the obligation the members were under to him. The address called forth an affecting response, and many words of encouragement and advice. Mr. Boyer, a student of the Blind Institute, then a student of the Bind Institute, then presented the priset with a handsome arm chair on behalf of the Catholic students of the Institute, as a small token of their deep esteem and gratitude. Father Bardou assured the donors of how highly he appreciated their gift and their kind feelings, and said he had always con-sidered the blind students a special charge, owing to their being away from parental direction and guidence, and that he would always have a happy remembrance of his association with them. Alderman D. Hawkins then stepped forward and read the following address, which was signed by about twenty gentlemen, on behalf of the comparison congregation: REV. P. M. BARDOU. M. A. REV. AND DEAR FATHER,—Having learned that the sacred ties of friend-hip and love which have mutually bound us together in the links of affection are ere long to be sundered, we now gather to-gether this night on the eve of your departure from our midst to express to you our deep seated sorrow and sincere regret at the mournful intelligence.

at the mourful intelligence. The space of fourteen years has but el-apsed since first you came amongst us, and during all those years by your fervent zeal and devoted love for "Religion's sacred course," your untiring energy for the promotion of the welfare and happiness of the whole flock entrusted to your care ; you have endeared yourself to your con-gregation and sunk your affections so deep within their hearts that your image shall long remain impressed there, which neither time nor change shall ever efface. The year that hailed your advent to Brantford saw but the beginning of the Brantford saw but the beginning of the goed work and onward march of improve-ment to the church of God, which you have since that time so well and nobly ad-vanced. In those days we could boast of but half a church and a school house that had seen many generations pass away. On your arrival, however, the exterior on your arrival, however, the exterior part of the edifice, begun by our former beloved pastor, Rev. Father Caravon, was entirely completed, and it shall ever stand to remind us of him who caused its erection. It is in the cause of education however that we have been compelled to admire your sterling qualities in teaching us that the school room is the feeder of the church and that secular and religious training should always go hand in hand to illum inate the gloomy and untrodden pathway of life. The fine school house which you caused The fine school house which you caused to be erected shall also remain as a land-mark of your fidelity to Catholic educa-tion in our city and shall stay to testify how dearly you loved that cause, as your last words showed, "guard well and long the school I loven so tenderly." The Presbytery and Sister's Convent have also hear added to the church under your also been added to the church under your guidance and direction. In fine, the estate of the church in Brantford is a credit to you, and shall ever shed not only lustre on your name, but shall stand as a mon-

everything in this respect to the fact that the people always responded nobly and generously to every call he had made in the cause of religion and Catholic educa-tion. For himself he had done no more than his duty. He was grieved at leav-ing the people he had labored amongst so long, but it was the will of God, and he accepted with obedience and resignation. He entreated all to keep always God's grace sacred in their hearts, to love the Lord and his blessed Mother; be resigned in trials; patient in afflictions; obedient to ecclesiastical superiors; and show great charity one towards another. Above all he said, watch over the children, who were the hope of the congregation, and eneverything in this respect to the fact that he said, watch over the children, who were the hope of the congregation, and en-deavor to give them a sound Catholic education. In conclusion, he said he was education. In conclusion, he said he was leaving them with sorrow, for they were all like children to him, that he would always remember them and his spirit should ever be with them; and he prayed that God would give them all his richest blessing. During the delivery of Father Bardou's reply many were moved to tears, and at its conclusion all knelt and received his blessing. blessing. The purse, which contained nearly $300, was presented by Mr. James Sinon, and Mr. A. Savage performed the duries of chairman.

The ladies of the Sodality met in the school house after the meeting of the cor-gregation, when Miss Maggie Ryan read an address on behalf of that society and Miss Jane McDermott, the Prefect, presented Father Bardou with a silver shell purse containing 865. He was considerably affected at this new token of kindness, and in thanking the members took occa-sion to exhort them to continue their de-votion to the Mother of God. A few of the leading, Protestant citizens, among them the Mayor, Hon. A. S. Hardy. The ladies of the Sodality met in the

A few of the leading, Protestant citizens, among them the Mayor, Hon. A. S. Hardy, Wm. Patterson, M. P., Henry Yates, John H. Stratford, Robert Henry, Dr. Heowood, Dr. Digby, Walter C. Hately, H. McK. Wilson, A. Robertson, S. Read, W. L. Creighton, Geo. H. Wilkes, Lord T. Whiteleed, Jas. Pollock, J. S. Hamilton, C. S. Jones, Fred. T. Wilkes, C. H. Wat-erous, S. Read, W. Roberts and J. C. Pal-mer, on hearing of Father Bardou's inten-ded removal, waited upon him and pre-sented him with a flattering address and a purse of $125-a mark of esteem which sented mm with a flattering address and a purse of $125—a mark of esteem which the reverend gentleman must highly ap-preciate. He was also the recipient of presents from the school children and one n and one or two other sources, and on Friday last a large number of people assembled at the station, when he was leaving, to say goodbye.

VISIT FROM THE BISHOP.

VISIT FROM THE BISHOP. On Sunday His Lordship Bishop Crin-non paid us a visit and spoke at High Mass and vespers. His sermon in the evening on the Real presence of Christ in the Blessed Eucharist was clear and forcible, and was listened to attentively by a very Blessed Eucharist was clear and forcible, and was listened to attentively by a very large congregation. His Lordship re-mained a few days in the city. Rev. Father Doherty is acting as parish priest. DEATH. Mr. Michael Shannahan buried his worked shill be wash a little gid of Mr. Michael Spannahan youngest child last week, a little girl of five years. NAYR.

St. Patrick's Church and Grave.

The shrine of St. Patrick, enriched by many precious offerings, was destroyed in the general profanation under Henry VIII. "I had a very pleasant ride to Downpat-rick," says Rev. Dr. Vetromile, "where I went to see the church built by St. Patrick, for which I paid a shilling to the woman who kept the key. The church is Gothic, and has been nearly rebuilt by the Episco-palians. I asked the woman—a Protestant —if St Patrick was a Protestant. She answered, 'No-a Catholic.' 'How then is it,' said I, 'that the church is in the hands of Protestants?' They took it from the Catholics,' she rephed. 'Then,' I said, 'it should be given back to the Catholies,' If they fight for it they will get it,' she answered. The inside of the church is plain. I saw the place where the altar must have stood, the 'publit,' grave, which is close to the church in the cemetery, now used by Protestants. There is noth-ing to distinguish the grave of Ireland.'' Apostle. It is only a mound without headstone or inscription, not so much as a cross; yet everybody knows it, and the

VE MONEY !-

ͲͲΫʹ PURCHASES

USINESS, ONCE.

APEST

LACE

YOUR ets.

Sets,

e,

oods, &c.,

Hall, ST., LONDON. Catholic Columbian.

ON THE 7th of April the Church SECRETARY FRELINGHUYSEN could will this year commemorate the death of Jesus Christ. It is eminscarcely be considered an Irishman, ently fitting that on that day Chrisbut he has been guilty of a bull that should figure in history. In extend-ing the congratulations of the Amertians should lay aside worldly avocations and give their time to mournican people to the Queen upon her ing and joy-mourning for sin and escape from bodily harm, when fired at the other day, he said: "The teelthe passion of our Blessed Saviour, joy for the blessings which His sufing of indignation and thankfulness ferings have obtained for them. Away from your fields, out from your shops, and mills, and offices, O Christian people, assemble in your Christian people, assemble in your churches and gather together in dignant at her Majesty's safety, but your home circles, and meditate on we believe the American people the mystery of the love of God for rather felt more indignant at the attempt upon a ruler's life. you. Let business be forgotten for once-close the stores on Good Fri-"WHY can not men begin to glorify God with a yardstick, a pair of shears, a hand saw, a pen in their hands, and not wait for golden harps. --Mt. Carmel, Ill., Republican." Nothing new in that sentiment. THE New York Times has the earliest information of an intention on Eighteen hundred years ago St. Paul the part of the Holy Father to leave taught that "whether you eat or drink or whatsoever else you do, do Rome for Quebec. The entire arrangement is in charge of a mysteriit all for the honor and glory of ous "lay Jesuit" who occupies an important official position in Canada! God. while our farmers were still obliged to look to foreign markets instead of the home mar-

The Times makes this announcement THE Catholic Church of old con-

PARLIAMENTARY SUMMARY.

The Budget debate was resumed in the House of Commons by Mr. Boultbee, who defended Sir Charles Tupper from the charge defended Sir Charles Tupper from the charge of suppressing and perverting Sir Henry Tyler's speech, made some reference to Sir Richard Cartwright, and gave a running comment on Hon. Mr. Angina's speech, the Hansard report of which he had before him. Mr. Ross, Middlesex, rejoined and after de-voting a few words to Mr. Boultbee, dealt with a constituent in such that the second s voting a lew words to Mr. Boultbee, dealt with the questions at issue. He dwelt at length on the effect of the N. P., especially in regard to the coal duty. He showed that all the world was pressperous, and it would be extraordinary indeed if Canada did not share in the general revival of business. He contrasted the expenditure as it is and as it was under the late Gevernment, claiming an increase of $4,000,000 notwithstanding the contention of Sir Leonard Tilley, Sin Charles Tupper, and others on the Conser-vative side that the expenditure was not sufficiently controlled by the Liberal Govsufficiently controlled by the Liberal Gov-ernment when in power. He maintained Sir L. Tilley's doctrine of averages, showed now rapidly controllable expenditure had increased in the past three years, that the numbers of civil servants had increased from 469 in 1878 to 537 at present. He held that the failures of 1878 were not chiefly among manufacturers but among im-porters and traders, and that those interests had suffred most then. Importers and had suffered most then. Importers and traders against whom the tariff was operative, were now prospering in spite of the burdens, showing it was not the tariff that produced the improvement in business. He called attention to the marked decline of our shipping industries as the undoubted result of the fiscal policy of the Government, but his bill relating to interest on mortgages met with better fortune and got a econd reading. In the House of Commons on Thursday the 9th, in answer to Mr. Merner, Sir John Macdonald stated that there are still some portions of the Mennonite reserves in Manitoba unoccupied, that the Mennonites have applied for an extension of time in which to occupy them, and that their application is now under the consideration of the Government. In answer to Mr. Fitzsimmons, he stated that some of the Thousand Islands were placed some of the Thousand Islands were placed under lease to private parties last year. A large part of the afternoon was taken up with a discussion of Mr. Kirkpatrick's Bill to regulate the sale of railway tickets, the motion being for the second reading, which was carried. At the request of Sir John Macdonald Mr. Blake allowed his protion respective real mixing regulations motion respecting coal mining regulations in the North-Weat to stand until after the reports on geological surveys were brought down. A number of motions for returns were passed with little discussion, and before the House adjourned Mr. Blake called attention to the state of sessional business. Sir John Macdonald replied, and promised to expedite matters as much as possible.

The New Bishop of Seez.

The consecration of Mgr. Tregaro to the see of Seez took place in the basilica the see of Seez took place in the basilica of St. Anne at Vannes. The consecrating prelate was Mgr. Belcel, Bishop of Vannes. Mgr. Belcel Coq, Bishop of Nantes, and Mgr. Hugonin, Bishop of Bayeux, were present. The new bishop is determined to avoid all party politics. In his reply to clergy, after his consecration, Mgr Tre-garo declared that his life belonged to Jesus Christ, to his flock, and to France. He added that he had made this triple offering when he was lying prostrate in He added that he had made this triple offering when he was lying prostrate in the sanctnary during the Litanies of the Saints, and that he asked for the prayers of his priests and his people to enable him to carry out this programme of simple faith to the end. It is of such men as this that the survival Ramphicans of today faith to the end. It is of such men as this thot the spurious Republicans of to-day speak as "functionaries who are opposed to the progress of the Republic." When the Republic of France is constitutional and impartial, it will receive the support of all good Catholics. But it is too much to expect reverence from those who are reviled and persecuted daily and hourly by those who pretend to love liberty. The present regime in Catholic France is the ument of your zeal. But all those deeds and good works will remain when you are gone from our midst.

remain when you are gone from our midst, and to night "Here are the people and priest, Like the scene in the East. When St. Paul left the faithful he loved, When bidding adien To his children, like you, Their fondest emotions were stirred." Still, since it is the will of God that you he removed from us, we will always not as are children in parting with you we are grieved as are children in parting from a fond father, and we pray that we shall all meet again, if not on this earth, then where Christ shall receive us, saying "well done." Brantford, March Sth, 1882.

In reply Father Bardou said he accepted

The credit given him in the the testimonial as another mark of their kindness and good feeling. From the close and intimate relations existing be-fection for you.

of affection.

Aposte. It is only a mound without headstone or inscription, not so much as a cross; yet everybody knows it, and the path leading to it from the road is kept smooth by the frequent visits of the Irish, where there to reary and there is a cavity smooth by the frequent visits of the frish, who go there to pray; and there is a cavity over the grave made by the Irish taking away, in their devotion, the earth for a memento. I could not but think what a be removed from us, we will always car-nestly pray that you may receive every blessing that God has in store for those who have done his will. "Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven." Long and late, however, will be cherished the min-gled feelings of sadness and regret accom-panying this farewell. Night after night, when we shall assemble within the lonely walls of St. Basil, and shall miss you from your accustomed place, we shall feel as if one source of consolation is lost to us. All we can now advance to testify how justly an't highly we have appreciated your be removed from us, we will always ear justly and highly we have appreciated your noble services among us is to ask your ac-ceptance of this purse as a mark of our af-els in Europe. Now, in parting with you we are grieved

God forbid, says Bishop Toebbe, that the law of fasting, which is holy, should be made to any of you the occasion of sin, as it is to those who, being under the law do not obey it. For them the most holy season of the year is becoming the most season of the year is becoming the most sinful; by resisting the ordinance of God they purchase to themselves damna-tion, and the days of salvation are made for them days of destruction. It is but a sorry sort of Catholic that loves a bit of bread or meat more than his soul and his Maker and he where God is his belle tween himself and the congregation in the past fourteen years he could under-stand and appreciate their manifestation reviled and persecuted daily and hourly by those who pretend to love liberty. The present regime in Catholic France is the memento. I could not but think what a magnificent monument they would build up on the grave of their Apostle, were they but allowed to d_{250} . Still, though St. Patrick's grave has no sign to mark it after the lapse of nearly fifteen centuries, many of them passed in bitter persecution, in a part of Ireland inhabited by Orangemen, every one in Downatrick, and thou men, every one in Downpatrick, and thou-sands elsewhere, can point out the spot. sands elsewhere, can point out the spot. It is shown from generation to generations by tradition, and herein Protestants have before their eyes a certain proof of the truth and reliability of tradition."—Trav-