ANOTHER JESSE POMEROY.

A most horrible affair occured at Squirrel Island, a favorite summer resort near Agusta, Me., last week, which produced the most in-tense excitement at that charming and peaceful retreat. In many respects the affair has its counterpart only in the atrocities of the fiendish Jesse Pomeroy. It seems that the other day a little six-year-old boy, J. Howard Butterfield, son of Henry R. Butterfield Waterville, who is stopping at the Island, in company with quite a number of other boys company with quite a number of other boys, the most of whom were older than himself, playing in the water.

effect of the splashing made. A stone thrown by the Butteriield boy happened to splash water upon a boy nine years old, who became angered, apparently, and told Butterfield if ody, threatened to kill him if he ned. He then beat him with a stick, much power in their hands. nd kicked him violently in the stomach

The boy heard his mother calling him, but dared not respond for fear of still harsher treatment. The body of the boy was badly bruised, and the marks of the boy was budy plainly visible on the bowels, and it is feured that he will not live. The boy's father was absent at the time, but went immediately to the island, and on Tuesday bore the little sufferer to his home in Waterville. The parents of the boy who committed the brutal deed reside in a Kennebec town, but the ames are suppressed for the present.

POISONING BY PEACH STONES .- A fatal case of poisoning by peach stones, which is noted in the French papers as having recent-ly occured in Paris, should serve as a warn-ing to families in which children are allowed to look after themselves for hours at a time. Probably very few adults themselves know how poisonous peach stones are. The victim of the recent accident in Paris secreted the stones of a number of peaches, and, obtaining a hammer, when left alone broke them oper ndustriously and ate them ; the result be that he was fatally poisoned by hydrocyanic (prussic) acid. Since the peach season is now upon us, it is as well to explain what quantity of poison the peach stone possesses Writers on toxicology state that one ounce of the kernels contain about one grain of pur prussic acid, and this quantity, it is we known, is sufficient to kill any adult person. Even two thirds of a grain has very often proved fatal, and indeed may well be regard-ed as a fatal dose for any child.
