Quotations.
"You don't use many quotations from Shakespeare."
"No," replied Senator Sorghum. "Quotations of that sort would command more respect nowadays if Shakespeare were listed on the Stock Exchange."—Washington Star.

SPAIN'S NATIONAL ANTHEM.
"La Marcha Real" Was Composed by Frederick the Great.
Frederick the Great was the composer of the Spanish national anthem. Frederick's ambitions were varied. He performed on the flute. He desired to be thought a poet. He quoted Latin, but his quotations would have made Cicero stare and gasp. During that remarkable friendship which existed between him and Voltaire the author of the "Henriade" exclaimed with derision, "See the dirty linen I have to wash," holding up Frederick's manuscript, which had been sent him to revise. In the field the great warrior carried about his own poems in his pocket and a bottle of poison, so that he should not be taken alive. Menzel's picture depicts the king with his flute, and Bach dedicated to him one of his compositions.

The story of the composition of the Spanish national anthem is full of interest. A little while after the conclusion of the Seven Years' war Frederick at a court reception to the surprise of every one produced a march which he had composed. The Spanish ambassador, both a musician and courtier, asked for a copy to send to his royal master, Charles III. That monarch admired the piece, and it was often heard at the Escurial. After a time it was laid aside and almost forgotten. In 1809, after the deposition of Isabella, Marshal Serrano instituted a competition among composers for a national anthem. Some 500 compositions were sent in, but none of them was so inspiring as Frederick's march, which had been exhumed from the archives. This was chosen and is today known as "La Marcha Real."—London Globe.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

It is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

TIED RUN-DOWN PEOPLE

A North Carolina Man Suggests a Remedy.
Greensboro, N. C.—"For a long time I was so run down and debilitated that I could hardly drag around. My appetite was poor and I could not sleep nights. I had tried different so-called tonics without benefit. I was advised to try your cod liver and iron tonic. Vinol, and I am so glad I did, for it gave me a hearty appetite, I soon commenced to sleep soundly, and I feel strong, well and more active than I have for years. Every run-down or debilitated person should just give Vinol a trial." K. Allsbrook.

What Vinol did for Mr. Allsbrook it will do for every weak, run-down or debilitated person in this vicinity. To show our faith we will furnish the medicine free if it does not do as we claim. Come in and get a bottle on these terms.

Phil May's Only Pupil.
A bank clerk in Sydney has won a scholarship in connection with the Royal Art society of that city. He is said to enjoy the "unique distinction of being Phil May's only pupil." Those of us who remember Phil will find difficulty in conceiving him as a teacher, even of a solitary pupil. He was such a restless and irascible bohemian that his lessons must have been of the most brief and casual character. Before he made his mark in London Phil had spent three years in Sydney as cartoonist and illustrator of the Bulletin, in whose pages some of his best work appeared.—London Chronicle.

The Glass Plumber.
The introduction of the vacuum tube light brought into existence a new trade, that of "glass-plumbing." The glass tubes, in which the light is produced by an electric current flowing through a gaseous conductor, are an inch and three-quarters in diameter and are put up in lengths of about eight and a half feet and hermetically sealed in situ. Sets of glassblowers' instruments have been devised, including cutting tools, blowers and hand torches.—New York Tribune.

Speleology.
Speleology, the science of caves, has developed within the last score of years, chiefly through the work of French explorers. An Austrian project for its advancement is an international museum-of speleology, which is to be established at Adelsburg, near the Adelsburg grotto, the largest European cavern, with five and a half miles of passages. The collection is to include all kinds of objects relating to underground botany, zoology, paleontology and anthropology, as well as to geophysics, ground water, etc.—Boston Transcript.

A Safety Door.
A door for use in theaters and other public edifices, which is intended to lessen the chances of accident in times of panic, has been invented by an English locksmith. From the outside it can only be opened by a key, but a slight pressure from the inside forces the door to swing outward.

Chest Inflammation

Suffered From a Heavy Cold, Pleuritic Pains in Side—Constant Coughing.

"Anyone that goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nerviline cured me." These are the opening words of the solemn declaration of P. Von Hayden, the well-known Holist of Middleton. "My work kept me out late at night, and playing in cold drafty places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a harsh racking cough and severe pains darted through my sides and settled in my shoulders. I used different liniments, but none broke up my cold till I used Nerviline. I rubbed it on my neck, chest and shoulders, morning and night, and all the pain disappeared. Realizing that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Ferrozone and was completely built up and strengthened. Since using Nerviline I have no more colds or pleurisy, and enjoy perfect health."

It's because Nerviline contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain—these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures umberage, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica, and rheumatism. Refuse any substitute your dealer may suggest—insist on Nerviline only. Large bottles, 50c, trial size 25c. Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhzone Co., Kingston, Ont.
