The proposed shingle trust has been dropped, as one of the largest Shingle Mills in British Columbia refused to go into the combine.

The Nelson Tribune says: "Last year the receipts from the sale of miners' licences in Nelson, Ainsworth, Slocan, Trail Creek and Goat River mining divisions aggregated over $9,000; this year, it is safe to say they will be $25,000, for where there was a newcomer in 1892 there will be five in 1893." This is a promising outlook.

We notice that in the Dominion supplementary estimates are the following items which interest British Columbia: $21,000 for the Victoria drill hall, $6,200 for the William Head quarantine station, $35,000 for the quarantine wharf, $15,000 for the Behring Sea arbitration, $2,500 for the Methodist Indian Industrial school at Chilliwack and $3,000 for the smallpox epidemic in 1892. There are yet some other important items. What about the Victoria post office and custom house improvements and a number of other works?
