CONSECRATION OF ARCHBISHOP HANNAN.

A BRILLIANT PROCESSION AND IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY.

The consecration of Archbishop Hannan took place on Sunday. Long before the hour for the ceremony—10 o'clock—the streets in front of the Church, as well as the Church itself, were packed with people; the Governor and family and Secretary, the Mayor, the chief public officials, the military authorities and great numbers of private Protestant citizens were present; they had to be in many cases taken through the sanctuary, so great was the crowd in the Church.

THE PROCESSION.

At 10 o'clock the procession of prelates and priests left the house, through the street, in the following order:—Thurifer, sub-deacon, with processional cross between acolytes, assistant master of ceremonies, the Clergy, the Bishop of Portland, with chaplain, the Bishop of Hartford, with chaplain, the Bishop of Montreal, with chaplain, the Bishop of Titopolis, with chaplain, the Bishop of St. John's, with chaplain, the Bishop of Harbor Grace, with chaplain, the Bishop of Chatham, with chaplain, the Bishop of Archaat, with chaplain, the Archbishop of Quebec, with chaplain, the Archbishop of Toronto, with chaplain, master of ceremonies, the Archbishop elect, chaplain for the book of the Gospels, chaplains to the assistant Bishops, Bishop of Charlottetown, Archbishop Elect, Bishop of St. John, crozier-bearer, mitre-bearer, three book-bearers, master of ceremonies, sub-deacon of the mass, with missal deacon of the mass, assistant priest, the Apostolic Delegate, crozier-bearer, mitre-bearer, bugia-bearer, book-bearer.

THE CONSECRATION.

The consecrating prelate was Dr. Conroy, the Apostolic Delegate; he was assisted by Dr. Sweeney, of St. John, and Bishop McIntyre, of Prince Edward Island. The deacon was Canon Powers, the sub-deacon was Father W. J. Michael. The ceremony was very impressive and lasted until half-past one o'clock. The sermon was preached by Father Kenny, S. J., son of Sir Edward Kenny, who came from New York on purpose. It was a most eloquent tribute to Dr. Hannan, and the pathos of his remarks concerning Archbishop Connolly, deceased, drew tears from prelates, priests and people in many cases.

In the afternoon there was pontifical veapery; Archbishop Taschereau presided, and Bishop Healy, of Portland, preached.

In the evening the new Archbishop entertained the prelates and priests at dinner.

PRESENTATION TO ARCHBISHOP HANNAN.

HALIFAX, May 21.

The Priests of this diocese this morning presented an address, with a gold watch and chain, to Archbishop Hannan. They express great satisfaction at his elevation. The Archbishop suitably replied.

Sir Edward Kenny then presented two carriages and a pair of horses on behalf of the Catholics of Halifax, together with the following address:

To his Grace the Most Reverend Michael Hannan, D. D., Archbishop of Halifax &c., &c., &c.:
MAY IT PLEASE YOUR GRACE,—

We, your faithful children and parishioners, respectfully and gladly approach your grace with our sincere congratulations on the occasion of your elevation to the high dignity of Archbishop of the Metropolitan See of Halifax.

We congratulate you most heartily on having had the happiness of being appointed to your exalted position during the illustrious pontificate of our wise, our gracious and Holy Father, Pius the Ninth; and we esteem it a happy and fortunate event that so acceptable and well-beloved an Archbishop should have been given us by so noble a Pontiff; and it must be a source of gratification to the Holy See to know that Your Grace's elevation to the high position of Archbishop has been hailed with manifestations of heartfelt joy and satisfaction by a faithful priesthood and an affectionate Catholic people.

During many years of your priesthood among us we have witnessed with an ever-increasing gratitude your constant fidelity to the interests of the Church; your devotion to the poor; your great and successful labors in the cause of education; your zeal in founding and guiding our religious and secular institutions; and all around us, in the well-filled schools, in the flourishing convents, in the Association for the Propagation of the Faith, in the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, in the active Catholic Societies, and in the great numbers, who during the last thirty years, having received their earliest and best religious instructions from your lips, have grown up strong in the Catholic Faith, we recognize the work of your hands and the impress of your unceasing zeal and tried ability.

Your intimate acquaintance with the opinion and sentiments of this community, your association in public labors with other representative men, and your co-operation with the lamented and distinguished prelates who have preceded you in promoting cordiality and confidence between all denominations, convince us that the same charitable and harmonious feelings will continue among all classes during Your Grace's administration; and we cannot find adequate language in which to express the warmth of our friendly and filial gratitude to Your Grace for the kindness and consideration with which you have at all times placed your time, your counsel and your help at the service of any among us who were poor and needed assistance, who were in trouble and needed advice, or who were distressed and needed consolation.

Among your parishioners on whose behalf this address is presented to Your Grace you will find the names of those who were the witnesses of your first youthful apostolic labors in the diocese of Halifax; of others who had ascended with you, step by step, the ladder of life; and of a younger generation who have grown up under your eyes and paternal care—all of them with one voice hailing your elevation to the Archbishop's See with approval and joy.

In approaching Your Grace with these expressions of our high regard and with earnest wishes that you may long be spared in health and happiness to enjoy and labor in your exalted position, we beg most respectfully Your Grace's acceptance of a testimonial becoming your rank which may acquire greater value in your eyes as an evidence of our affection and esteem.

On behalf of the Catholics of Halifax,
DANIEL CRONAN, Chairman.
WM. COMPTON, Secretary.
M. B. DALY, Chairman of Committee.

REPLY OF THE ARCHBISHOP.

His Grace in reply thanked the gentlemen and the congregation for their flattering address. He said he was cheered on accepting the high position of Archbishop by the knowledge that his people would be pleased at his accepting and pained at his refusal. He said that he had been for 36 years occupied with ecclesiastical work in the city, and he had done something for his people's benefit. But he had not done so unaided. He had had the great advantage of being aided by two governments and by Protestant members of the School Board in obtaining the reasonable demands of his people. He referred to the happy condition of public feeling between all denominations, which had begun in Bishop Burke's time and continued down through three Archbishops. So far as he was concerned, he would do his best to provide that this happy state of things should remain unaltered in his time. He referred to the three generations among whom he had lived, and to those dear friends who had passed away and who would have been glad to congratulate him, as they had always aided and supported him. He said he was proud to believe that he had a congregation of people who, by their cultivation, their intelligence, their piety and devotion to the Church, were unsurpassed if they were even equalled in Canada or the United States. He was proud, he said, to have been appointed by so noble a Pontiff as Pius IX., but he would leave that great Pope's praises to be spoken by the most Reverend Delegate Apostolic who represented the Pope on the occasion, but who could speak of him. He prayed that every temporal and spiritual blessing might descend on his people.

It is understood that the Rev. Canon Power, of this city will be selected Vicar-General.

THE PAPAL DELEGATE APOSTOLIC.

The following address by the Catholics of Halifax to the Right Rev. Dr. Conroy was presented on Monday morning:—

To the Right Rev. George Conroy, D. D., Bishop of Ardagh, and Delegate Apostolic to the Dominion of Canada.

MY LORD,—
Wherever a Bishop of the Catholic Church may go, or whatever land he may travel, there will always be found loving hands outstretched and willing voices raised to bid him welcome. His character, as one of those who are called "to rule the Church of God," would be at once his claim to the respect and his passport to the hearts of all who pride themselves in being children of the One, Universal Church. His name might be unknown, his race and tongue widely different from theirs, but he is bound to them by closer ties than kinship or country knows; and he is made welcome because he rules, and they serve, in the Church of God.

If, then, my Lord, under any circumstances your coming amongst us would be a matter of rejoicing, our gladness is increased almost beyond our power of expression, when we remember the special character, the singular dignity, which your Lordship bears; and that you stand amongst us to-day as the ambassador of our beloved sovereign Pontiff, Pius IX. Like his Divine Master, Pius IX., has been forced to walk the path of suffering, but his enemies must remember that no chain has ever been welded which could bind the heart or soul, and they stand amazed to see that the Prisoner of the Vatican, who now, for nearly seven years, has not crossed the threshold of his own home, yet receives from men of every nation, tribe and race the deepest loyalty, the most faithful love. His ambassadors are not sent forth with all the pride and pomp which belong to this world; but they go forth bearing the peaceful olive branch, their only aim to unite, if need be, in closer bonds of union and love those who are already one in the unity of Christian Faith. To them may be applied the words of Holy Writ: "How beautiful upon the hills are the feet of those who bring tidings of good things, of those who bring tidings of peace"—for they are the messengers of Him who is the Prince of Peace.

And it is an additional joy to us, my Lord, an added motive to make our welcome the best we can give, that the first official action of your Lordship's mission should take place in our City of Halifax, on so auspicious an occasion. There are other sees in the Dominion older than ours, some even over which is shed the glory of centuries; but while to them Pius IX. has been guide, counsellor and friend, to us he has also been the tender Father, who has given to us, by the establishment of our hierarchy, the fullness of spiritual life. It seems, then, most fitting that he who called into existence the Metropolitan See of Halifax, should, in the person of his ambassador, renew into spiritual life by the consecration of our beloved Archbishop. And it will be remembered through long years, with pride and joy by us all, that the first Delegate from the Apostolic Throne to these lands across the seas has, with grace and kindness, done us so great an honor.

We, therefore, my Lord, the clergy, and laity of the city of Halifax, unite with one voice to thank you for your graceful kindness in acceding to the request of our Archbishop, and, for your own sake, for the sake of your office, most of all for the sake of him, our Holy Father, whose ambassador you are and whose person you represent, we beg, with the most earnest and deepest feelings of our hearts, to bid you a thousand welcomes to our shore. We trust, my Lord, we confidently hope, that our greeting of to-day is but the first among many; that your progress through the Dominion will be marked by every manifestation of loyalty and affection, and that the beauties of our Indian summer may be but the type of that gladness which your presence will infuse into every heart.

And when, my Lord, the days of your stay amongst us draw to a close and other duties call you hence, when you kneel once again at the feet of the Holy Father to render the account of your mission, may we beg that you will carry to him the assurance of our deepest love, our unflinching fidelity in all things to the See of Peter, and our heartfelt sympathy with him in his sufferings and his sorrows. We could have wished in these glorious days of his Episcopal Jubilee that it had been given to us to join those faithful ones whose love and devotion, are carrying them from every land to pay their homage in person to Pius IX.; but, though such a happiness has not been ours, yet our hearts go out with theirs across the sea, and our thoughts go up with theirs to the Throne of God in earnest prayer, that if it be His Holy Will, the Sovereign Pontiff may yet live to see the storm-clouds pass away and peace once more be given to the Church.

And we would ask too, my Lord, a blessing for ourselves. Our people have kept the Faith through many days of loneliness and trial; in the solitude of the forest, by the open sea, or inland lake, they have been true and steadfast, nourishing with jealous care those seeds of truth which they had brought with them from older lands. And now that the winter seems past and gone, and brighter days, like the first dawn of spring, are coming upon us, we would ask that a Father's blessing may descend upon us that we may hand down, stainless and pure, that faith, that love of Holy Church, that loyalty to Peter's See, which we ourselves have received and which we desire to guard as our dearest treasure.

Again, thanking you, my Lord, for your kindness, and bidding you with all our hearts welcome to the land of your mission,
We have the honor to be, my Lord,
Your obedient servants,
(Signed on behalf of the Clergy and Laity.)
