

On an exchange-rate-adjusted basis, Canadian producers were competitive in every year from 1978 onwards except 1982. In 1984, Canadian costs were 24 per cent below U.S. levels.