

Robert Borden, shown with Winston Churchill in 1917, was the first prime minister also to serve as secretary of state for external affairs.