

that is full and thick
reins are fastened.
matter—some peo-
ht turn of the wrist

power over a horse,
h him, and he is at
as a sign which he

In the same man-
to him; and after-
the leg, in the same
e of the stall to the e will never disobey
you will have great
close one leg to him
your legs held near lightest unseen motion
and shew himself to

of the horse's croup
n, by which troopers
eed all their evolu

if you put your leg
and he will go past the
you choose to direct press him with both

going down a hill, and avoid the wheel of a efully to the side of a

twisting his body to
or both alternately,
and press your leg to
hind legs to one side,
because his head is
d spring the way he

perienced horsemen, by man what is taught by
make a horse subser-

ing a broken bone, I
e of such things, for