SUPERANNUATION.

One aspect of the compulsory superannuation regulations does not seem to have occurred to the objectors. It stood that as finally adjusted the promust have its way.

It is one of the very difficult things elderly people have to face. They get out of date without being aware of it. Tennyson varied the principle involved when he said that "God fulfils Himself in many ways, lest one good custom should corrupt the world." It is quite true that a good custom and even a good custodian may corrupt the world subject to them.

There has been an outcry over the superannuation of respected and effiignorant of the regulations that have been in force for some time. Which tivated a lawless attitude of mind towards the regulations under which they served. It is characteristic of new communities to pass laws and have the people take it for granted that the laws apply to "other" peo-

Superannuation laws are in force in the army. General Otter is not less efficient, less active, less valubeen raised. But General Otter was aware of the regulations and, it is for Conservatives that the party does to be presumed, made his dispositions not feel strong enough in Toronto to accordingly. He does not run around risk such an arrangement of the protension of service

There are cases where regulations seem to operate somewnat harshly, but there are others to be considered to the local party authorities we bewhere the suspension of the reguwe all got into the habit of prepar- to accept the ignominy of accepting a sixty-five we might make a little more effort to get the work done we should of the party when second-grade men then feel to be essential, and prepare have to be provided. The precedent is for the quiet leisure we might hope to have left us. And in any case the communities to which we belonged would not develop the attitude of regarding us as old men of the sea, who could not be shaken off. There was beauty as well as wisdom in the resolve of Sir Johnstone Forbes-Robertson to retire when it would be impossible to say that he was not at his best. Some of our retiring teachers will be better thought of perhaps in the long run than were they to linger a few years more on the sunset hills. It is scarcely fair to talk of superannuation as an arbitrary measure. Death is exceedingly arbitrary, and it is just as well to anticipate it by a little space. There is an eager band of younger men who have new pledge for the race. It is not well to delay them too long. It is not wise to superannuate them in practice by an arbitrary suspension of the rule by which they justly come to their

RENFREW'S TEMPERANCE HOTEL Public opinion in Ontario is in general agreement that the principle of local option in the granting or refusing of licenses is right in theory vocates no doubt object to the requirement of a three-fifths majority, but the more moderate and larger section are inclined to believe that the system will lead to better and more stable results when there is behind to a substantial preponderance of popular ing large profits to stockholders and Enforcement of a restrictive law is always difficult and is almost impossible when opinion is equally or closeonly is the arm of the executive strengthened, but the people them- offers even larger scope for incentive selves are often ready to do more than and initiative.

It is probable, too, that wheher on this account or for some other olitic reason hotels in tocal option districts have been closed down and inconvenience thereby caused to business and other visitors. No very apparent ground exists why temperance hotels should not pay when properly conducted, and The World is pleased to observe that the Town of Renfrew has shown a laudable ambition to make this plain. On April 17 a new botel, built at a cost of $70,000 by one hundred and fifty citizens, was formally opened. Renfrew, as a dry town, has set a good example in proiding good accommodation for visitors and with efficient management the venture has every prospect of success.

President Wilson has given intimation that it is his wish to have the new anti-trust legislation passed during the present session of congress. It was originally presented in four separate bills, but these have now been consolidated into one bill, introduced yesterday in the house of representatives by the chairman of the judiciary commit-The administration believes that the amendments to the Sherman Act braced in a single bill, and it is underposals will have the support of the Democratic party and of the Federation

Threefold damages may be recovered from corporations found guilty of this practice, and evidence adduced in suits Sherman law will be competent grounds The statute of limitations, it is further provided, shall not shield offending companies. Holding companies are also prohibited when the purpose is to thwart competition or take unfair advantage of competing firms. Other provisions forbid interlocking directorates, and provide remedies to persons threatened with injury additional to those competent by the present law.

TORONTO PROVINCIAL RIDINGS. It is rather a melancholy reflection citizen the same chance with his vote that other citizens have in other constituencies in Ontario. To do justice Editor World: I have read with great pleasure the articles apearing in The World, written by Winifred Black, in her article, "Is Marriage Going Out of Date?" I would like to ask is love going out of date, the marriage life of today seems to lack of the old true love. "Life and love were golden in days gone by. Hast thou changed or is it 1?" The change comes to some very quickly, as if love was a matter of transfer nearly as easy as a transfer from one car to another. In the West of England I heard of a man about to marry the fourth wife. He had inscribed on the welding ring "If I survive L'll Make it Five." It must have been a matter of transfer with this man to be interested in carving up Toronto to suit themselves. And who then will be able to object?

In the monthly bulletin published by the health department there occurs this important intimation:

Every fly seen between now and springtime should be ruthlessly destroyed. The flies that have survived the winter are the flies that will reproduce millions more this summer if not killed now. Do your share in making Toronto

There ought to be gold, silver and bronze medals and honorable mention for the restaurants which can chaland the grocers and the green goods men. CITIES AND THEIR PUBLIC SER-

With the increasing public interest taken in the proposal to nationalize the railways of the United States has come a marked recrudescence of the campaign against the principle of public ownership and operation of service and utility monopolies. Articles and carefully selected items purporting to discredit the principle and to exhibit its failure in Burope are being disseminated broadcast, judging from the greater frequency of their appearance; in the press of that country and of Canada. Stress is laid on the assumed incentive private ownership and operation affords to able and capable men, and initiative is presumed to come only from the necessity of returnsentiment in each section affected investors. Neither proposition is selfevident and both are answered by the experiences of Great Britain. Judging from the results achieved by the great ly divided. have been administered by city departments for half a century, and the great majority for a period sufficiently long to place their administration beyond the reach of cavil. Had it been ess satisfactory to the citizens than that of the privately operated services, the movement would soon have been checked. That has not happened. On the contrary, it has steadily extended, until today, in the large centres, public services that are not municipally controlled are few and far between. Nor is there a single instance of a city having ever reverted to the older conditions and handed back its services and utilities to private companies. The citizens of Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow and other populous communities would be mightily amused were they seriously invited to place themselves again under the yoke from

DR. SEATH'S DEPLY.

Editor World: Since Mr. Thomas Marshall was elected to the legislature, he has passed over few oportunities of attacking me personally under the guise of zeal for the regeneration of our educational system. This is the first time in over thirty years of official life that I have paid any attention to attacks of this character; but Mr. Thomas Marshall's appointment to the position of educational critic under the leader of the oposition gives his utterances of yesterday in the house an importance which the man himself does not deserve, and which justifies me in exposing his unfitness for the position.

As throwing light on the whole situation, allow me, accordingly, to make public the facts that Mr. Thomas Marshall taught for a few years in the high schools of Dundas and Dunnville, that his record as a teacher was one of the poorest in the experience of the then high school inspectors, and that when he was a teacher at Dunnville I was forced to recommend his dismissal on the ground of incompetency.

As to the Almonte case: The depart-

Judgment: The whole of the evidence brings me to the conclusion that her capacity on May 25, 1912, was on the verge of extinction. Extreme care and caution were imperatively called for in the doing of any testamentary act, in order to satisfy the court of her volition and understanding. The evidence now given falls far short of what is needed to satisfy the onus resting on the plaintiffs. I am unable to say judicially that the testatrix thoroly understood the effect of the will and delicerately intended it to have that effect.

The best salmon rivers are the Martrout may be found in every river and vests. best of these may be mentioned the Mira and Baddeck rivers, River Denys, the Middle and North Rivers, St. Ann's, Grand River and Catalone. In May the sea trout fishing in the Mira is excellent. A driving expedition from the Sydneys over the Bras d'Or, across the New Campbelltown ferry, then over the beautiful slopes of St. Ann's Mountain, through Frances of St. Ann's Mountain, through Eng-lishtown, and on to the North River, followed by a day's fishing in the trout streams ere the return journey is made, affords an interesting spring outing for the jaded man of business. The roads, indeed, are rough, but the beauty of the scenery of lake and sea and mountain, the exhibitantion of the air, and the number of speckled beauties that nibble for an acquaintance. atone for the discomforts of the trip. Every lake in the island abounds in fresh water trout, often of quite large size. Black bass are found in several streams on the southern coast, especi-ally near Fourchu. They are in every way well worthy of the sportsmen's attention, and when captured are excellent for the table.
