FURTHER MEASURES PEACH SHORTAGE TO IMPROVE TRADE

Britain's Policy of "Hustle" to Deliveries Probably Not One-Tenth of Those of Last Year.

SITUATION IS CHEERING MELON PRICES FIRMER

Melons were slightly firmer in tone on

Peaches are very scarce this year, and as a general rule are inferior in quality. White & Co. again had a small shipment of choice fruit in 5-quart leno baskets from Fisher of Queenston Heights. These are the best peaches, being shipped in this year, but to show the difference in quantity between this year and last; they only received 110 baskets from Fisher, while at the same time last year they were receiving 1000 to 1500 haskets from him, and some firms are not receiving any from their heaviest shippers of last year. Saturday, they sold at 50c to 75c for the 11-quart lenos.

Lemons have again declined and are now selling at $5 to $5.50 per box, a decline of a dollar to a dollar, and a half per box in the last two weeks.

It can, therefore, scarcely be surprising that financial London is merely marking time. The German approach to Parls is viewed calmly by the city, where the conviction is now positive that the continental campaigns must be regarded, not singly, but as a whole.

What the situation is, as regards financial activity, may be judged from the fact that this week's exchanges at the London bankers' clearing house are down no less than £200,000,000, as compared with a year ago. Nevertheless, genuine financial and commercial business is quietly increasing, and in the soundest quarters, the general tendency to ultra-conservatism is approved.

Policy of "Hustle."

There are, however, some indications that high authorities are inclined to the policy of "hustle" and you need not be surprised if announcement presently comes of a further very important scheme, likely to accelerate very greatly discounting in this market, and to facilitate the working of the foreign exchanges.

I can also discern indications of faccilitate the working of the foreign exchanges.

I can also discern indications of factors likely to break the deadlock in American exchanges, but of this I am unable to speak more specifically at this moment. The extension for another month of our moratorium on financial indebtedness meets general approval, but any further extension will probably be subjected to important modifications.

Meantime, the government's action in making all "post-moratorium" bills a second instead of first charge on assets of accepting houses, and its further decision to release endorsers and drawers of such bills from liability, chiefly concern foreign bill business.

Want U. S. Gold.

Much disappointment has been felt here this week at your market's continued reluctance to release gold against your maturing foreign debts. But the feeling is less strong than it was because of the disapproval which we understand your market feels at the projection buying the costly German ships. That would have seemed to us inconsistent with non-release of gold for existing obligations.

General profit taking was in order also on wheat bought the last couple of days, especially as no further chance to ever up trades would be open until Tuesday owing to the Labor Day holiday intervening.

In corn as is wheat there was a tendency toward a moderate reaction from the recent strong advance. Sellers, however, were timit, being reluctant to face a possible renewal of investment buying, altho country efferings were said to be on the increase.

Oats ruled easy on account of a falling off in the export demand and because of longs desiring to take profits.

Provision trade was of small volume. Covering by shorts offset to some extent a shrinkage in the value of hogs.
