Prediction That Each Would Not Survive the Other Has Strange Fulfillment.

The Mystery of the Nerves

Professional men, as well as laymen, have been puzzled over the mystery of the nervous system, but this much is certain; that nerve force is created from pure, rich blood, and with the exception of accidental injuries, diseases of the nerves arise from a thin, watery condition of the blood.

On this principle, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was prepared, for this great food cure actually forms a certain amount of pure, rich blood every day. Not only is this treatment scientifically correct, but the enormous success which it has attained has proven it to be unequalled as a cure for all diseases resulting from thin, watery blood.

When you cannot sleep well, suffer from nervous headaches and indigestion, brain fog, irritability, trembling or twitching of the nerves and feel down-hearted or discouraged turn to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as the most certain means of restoring vitality to the nervous system and of avoiding nervous prostration, paralysis or some dreadful form of insanity.

Turbulent Women in Lobby Demand Suffrage of M.P.'s

On Re-Assembling of Parliament "Suffragettes" Create Violent Scene, Some of Them Crawling Over Barrier Into the House—Stalwart Police Have Their Hands Full.

London, Oct. 23.—The reassembling of parliament to-day drew large crowds to Westminster, despite the fact that the opening of the sessions was devoid of sumptuous ceremony or the appearance of royalty, as this was merely a resumption of the business of the spring sessions. The members showed their usual eagerness to gain advantageous positions in the house, ten members putting in an appearance as the clock struck midnight, in order to secure first choice of seats.

The formal opening of the house of commons occurred this afternoon, and before the house of lords, thus giving the throngs of spectators an opportunity to witness the assembling of both bodies. The public galleries were overflowing with visitors. Mr. Balfour, the ex-premier, who, it was thought, would not be present, unexpectedly appeared, and received a hearty greeting from the opposition ranks.

Joe Still III.
Joseph Chamberlain was absent. He is still nursing his attack of gout and chafing under his inability to participate in public affairs.

Premier Campbell-Bannerman was warmly welcomed by the opposition. Later, the house of lords was the chief centre of interest, the diplomats leaving the house of commons to witness the opening of the sessions and the lord chancellor taking his seat on the traditional woolpack.

King Edward was evidently aware of the proceedings in the parliament would be devoid of any important features, as he left Buckingham Palace in an automobile at noon, to spend the rest of the week at the Newmarket races. The car knocked down a man as the King was leaving town, but no serious consequences resulted from the accident.

Women Cause Scene.
Unusual excitement was caused by the presence of about 100 women suffragettes, many of whom, despite the protests of the police, managed to find their way into the outer lobby of the house of commons, with the intention of hatching the members in support of their movement.

A number of the suffragettes, as they are termed here, mounted vacant chairs and the lobby and began to harangue the few members of parliament present in that part of the house. The police, after being reinforced, made a strategic advance against the invaders, taking the women singly, and gradually ejected them, one by one, from the house. The most militant of the women struggled so desperately that two officers were required to remove them.

Their hysterical shouting and screaming brought crowds of alarmed members of parliament from the house. During the height of the tumult the hand of the statue of the suffragettes determined to attempt to break into the house itself, and charged towards the entrance of the inner lobby.

Force Necessary.
Some of the women tried to climb over the barrier, and others attempted to break through the door. For several minutes the utmost disorder, almost a riot, prevailed, and the police had all they could do to eject the women, who resolutely refused to leave without the use of force.

They clung tenaciously to the stalwart policemen, the railings or other means of support, and offered strenuous resistance to expulsion, while shouts of "We will have votes" and "You cowardly men dare not give us justice" resounded thru the halls.

Finally, the police were forced to carry out several of the women bodily, and all ultimately deposited in Palace Yard, where, for some time, they continued their shrill and vehement protests. So noisily demonstrated that the police arrested several of them and marched them off to the nearest police station.

BIG BOOM IN BUILDING PERMITS TOTAL $1,000,000

Already Greatly Exceed All of Last Year—C.N.R.'s Track Application.

So far the building permits issued this year amount to $1,000,000. This beats the total of the whole of last year by $600,000. During this month permits for nearly 200 dwellings were taken out. Some of the most important buildings to be erected are the Merchants' Bank, at Queen and O'Hara-avenue, $6000; Street Railway, at Queen, Hartson-street, $10,000; Toronto Plate Glass Company, factory, Elliott-street, $16,000; Canadian Northern freight-house, at the foot of the Esplanade, $2000; Sharples Separator Company, factory, Dundas and Vincent-streets, $15,000; Knox Church, Spadina-avenue, $10,000.

Mayor Favors C. N. R.
Mayor Coatsworth yesterday expressed himself as being favorable to the application of the Canadian Northern Railway for a track along the Esplanade to the Union Station.

"It seems to me," said his worship, "that we will never overcome the objection to crossing the Esplanade until we have devised a better scheme than building bridges. I do not think the erection of the Yonge-street bridge will settle the question by any means. If we had a viaduct at the foot freight and passenger traffic could be removed from the Esplanade crossings, and only the shipping and local freight would interfere with the access to the waterfront."

"Instead of reducing the traffic at the Esplanade crossings the tendency is to increase it. The city is now going to establish its asphalt plant at the foot of Front-street, in connection with the Iron Works are increasing their plant at the foot of Frederick-street, where the old city yards were located."

"The Canadian Northern could apply for an order from the railway commission for the tracks, and the commission has to grant that right, subject to conditions that would reimburse the city for any damage in the way of rental for use of the right-of-way."

C. P. R. Objects.
The C.P.R. has asked for an injunction to prevent the Toronto Railway Company from erecting a bridge along Lake-street and up Yonge-street.

The C.P.R. bases its action on an old agreement made in 1888, known as the "windmill land agreement," which is said to contain express provisions against the laying of car tracks on Lake-street. The company also relies on the crown patent of its lands.

It is said, too, that the city's legal department has a trump card, in the shape of an order-in-council, passed at Ottawa some years ago, giving the city the right to use Lake-street for any purpose. This the railway seems to have forgotten.

City Treasurer Coady wants the board of control to provide an automobile for Paymaster Burton.

HEBREW IN U.S. CABINET HON. O. S. STRAUS CHOSEN

Changes in Roosevelt Circle of Advisers Announced at White House.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The following statement regarding the prospective changes in President Roosevelt's cabinet was made public at the White House to-night:

On the retirement of Secretary Shaw and Attorney-General Moody from the cabinet, the following changes will be made:

Secretary of the treasury—Hon. Geo. B. Cortelyou.
Postmaster-general—Hon. G. Von L. Meyer.
Attorney-general—Hon. J. Bonaparte.
Secretary of the navy—Hon. Victor D. Metcalf.

The general understanding for some time has been that Attorney-General Moody would resign on Jan. 1, and that Secretary Shaw would follow him on March 4. On the first of the year, therefore, Mr. Bonaparte, who is now secretary of the navy, will succeed Mr. Moody as attorney-general, and in turn he will be succeeded by Mr. Metcalf, the secretary of commerce and labor, the latter's place being filled by Mr. Strauss. Mr. Cortelyou, now postmaster-general, will take Secretary Shaw's place on March 4, at which time Mr. Meyer is to become postmaster-general.

Not Surprising.
The fact that Mr. Meyer was to have a place in the cabinet has been known for some time, but the name of Mr. Strauss has been mentioned only incidentally. If at all in connection with the circle of president's advisers. The transfers of Messrs. Cortelyou to the treasury, Bonaparte to the navy, and Metcalf to the attorney-general, have generally been accepted as among the probabilities for some time, although it has been known that both Mr. Bonaparte and Mr. Metcalf were for a time loth to leave their present positions, because they had become so fully identified with the work of their respective departments.

Mr. Meyer is ambassador to Russia, to which place he was appointed on March 8, 1895, having been promoted to that office following his services as the ambassador to Italy from 1900 to 1906. He is a native of Massachusetts, and has been well-known as a business man.

The appointment of Mr. Strauss caused considerable surprise, as it will be the first case where a citizen of the Hebrew faith has been made a member of the president's cabinet. He was born Dec. 3, 1850, and is well known as a merchant, diplomat and author. He represented the United States as a minister to Turkey on two different occasions, and was appointed by President Roosevelt to fill the vacancy caused by the death of ex-President Harrison as a member of the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague.

Experiments in lighting the streets with natural and manufactured gas and with the newest electric lamps are now in progress, and it is expected that a saving of at least $2000 a year in the lighting bill will be effected.
