Old Man Probs. kept his promise of fine and warmer, and early in the morning the members of the various trades unions were astir, all with hadges and some in the attire of their callings. It was a magnificent September day, just such a day as Canada and her institutions and people might be seen at their best; it was Labor Day, now a recognized public holiday by Parliament's saying; and then it was Citizens' Day at the Exhibition. And so it was that the people were out in their might and their holiday attire with babies and baskets and bundles in arms—to say nothing of the mass of strangers who had an opportunity of seeing Teronto and her people at their best.

The committee in charge of the the strangers who had an opportunity of seeing Teronto and her people at their best.

The committee in charge of the day's proceedings had made excellent ents for the procession. The streets running east from Yonge, be-tween Wellesley and Gerrard, inclusive, were reserved for the various bodies. Most of the unions were in place at 9.30, while Chief Marshal John place at 9.30, while Chief Marshal John Armstrong and his aides, J. H. Sanderson, Pat. Farley, W. G. Reid, Geo. Mitchell, George T. Beales and James Meldrum, were busy making final arrangements for the move-off, which was fixed for 10 o'clock, but did not take place till half an hour later. At 10.30 the procession started south from Wellesley-street in this order, the various bodies falling into line:

Division No. 1—Platoon of Mounted Police, band of Musical Protective Association, No. 1.

Cigar Makers' International Union,

No. 27.

Journeymen Tailors' Union, No. 132.

The procession moved along Yonge, Shuter, Jarvis, King, Yonge, Queen, Spadina, King and Bay-streets to the City Park, the floats and vehicles dropping out at Wellington-street.

Dispersing at City Park, the processionists took boats to the Island.

"We bind to live and we are bound together," was the appropriate motto on the bookbinders' banner, which waved over a huge specimen of their art. As usual the firemen made the finest turnout, equipped as they were with their red shirts and hats and a splendid profusion of flags, bunting and flowers.

dience that was miserably small, so much so that it was evident members of the Trades Council preferred visiting the Exhibition. George W. Dower was the chairman and on the platform were: Hon. A. S. Hardy, E. B. Osler, M.P.; John Ross Robertson, M.P.; O. A. Howland, M.L.A.; Thomas Crawford, M.L.A.; Dr. Ryerson, M.L.A.; Ald. McMurrich, Rev. S. D. Chown, Rev. C. H. Shortt, and such prominent labor men, besides the chairman, as Alex. Bruce, John Armstrong, John Huddlestone, Charles March, George T. Beales.

Rev. Mr. Chown advocated the unity of the causes of work and religion. How was followed by J. Ross Robertson, who delivered a most glowing raddress from notes, which was chiefly reminiscent of the days of 40 years ago when he was a boy. With a wonderfully eloquent peroration, regarding. Toronto's tail-topped towers, and glittipped spires, which won Hon. Mr. Hardy sadmiration, he finished amidst applause.

After a few words from Mr. Osler, Hon. Mr. Hardy delivered a pleasing speech, addressing his auditors as "Fellow citizens." He spoke of the work that the Legislature has already done for the labor cause, and hinter effecting better wages, more constant employment, more even distribution of labor and better hours.

Rev. Charles H. Shortt said that labor was not disorganized, as some thought, but the troubles of labor and daptial would never be settled until LABOR'S GAMES.

The Winners in the Sports at Hanlan's Foint Yesterday Afternoon.

At Hanlan's Point a program of sports was carried out under the management of George Sangster, chairman; D. Madden, secretary, and S. Moore, treasurer; W. G. Reid, official starter; A. H. Tweedie, P. Farley and A. A. Werry, judges, Fifteen events were run off. The decision in the grand drawing competition, open to wives of union men only, being left till Wednesday. The winners in the Hanlan's Point games were:

100 yards, union men only—George Crammond 1, S. Owens 2, W. J. Walsh 3.

Black silk peak caps distinguished the Metal Polishers. the Metal Polishers.

The Brotherhood of Varnishers and Polishers drew much admiration.

The Globe was well represented and a handsome banner headed the crowd.

"Organization, Education and Legislation?" was the motto of the Iron Moulders' Union.

The Bryant Press people had a devil on horseback; and he was a devil of a devil.

Gay with badges and flowers were, the members of the International Bricklayers' Union.

The International Association of Ma-chinists were handsome blue badges with gold lettering. with gold lettering.

The firemen had the water tower most handsomely decorated with flass ferns and roses.

"Defence, Not Deflance," was the motto on the banner carried by the Painters and Decorators.

Black trousers, black silk shirts and black fedoras made the 'Longshoremen eminently conspicuous.

The only two great men in town yesterday were Li Hung Chang and Chief Marshal John Armstrong.

Hunter, Rose & Co.'s banner was carried by a printers' devil most gorgeously and faithfully made up.

The bands numbered two score, the Musical Protective Association figuring in three places in the par_de. Most unique were the Carpenters' banners and emblems, made out of shavings. They were much admired.

Warwick Bros. & Rutter and the Methodist Book Room were well represented in the typographical section.

tion.

"Old 91," Toronto Typographical Union, made a highly creditable show, although not all the chapel banners were to be seen.

Coming down Yonge-street one of the teams drawing a fire brigade ladder wagon became unruly and the wagon dropped out.

The procession of Toronto's fire apparatus, engines, reels, water tower, hose wagons and all deeply impressed visitors.

Specches by Hon. Mr. Hardy and others—
The Sports.

The labor program for the afternoon was divided, it being arranged that the public speaking and the children's races should take place at Island Park and the chief games at Hanlan's Point.

At Island Park the speaking took place from a platform before an audience that was miserably small, so much so that it was evident

The Civic Employes' Benevolent Union made a good showing, headed by one of the city's watering carts gaily decorated and drawn by four line grey horses with outriders.

There were 140 firemen in the parade under the command of Chief Graham, 20 men from such outlying stations as Cowan. Dundas, Bolton, Rose and Ossington being stationed at inner halls in case of an alarm.

Lieut.-Col. Mason, 10th Royal Grenadiers; Major Delamere, Queen's Own Riffes, and Major Henderson. 48th Highlanders, judges as to the best display of any body, viewed the parade at several points.
